KING SAYS HANNA BACKED WOOD FUND; HANNA DENIES IT

Hanna Says He Gave Only $6,000, Contradicting Story of an Offer to Raise $500,000.

NO FRICK DINNER PLEDGE

FIND PLAN TO PUSH McADOO

Covington Tells of Palmer Givers Linked with Alien Property Disposition.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Further enlightenment on the high cost of President making was given today to the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures.

The campaigns of General Leonard Wood, A. Mitchell Palmer, William G. McAdoo, Senator Warren G. Harding and Nicholas Murray Butler were inquired into. The principal developments of the day were:

John T. King of Connecticut, who was the first manager of General Wood's campaign, said that he dropped the work because of the adoption of a policy of a central committee, a wide campaign of publicity and expensive headquarters, to which he was opposed. He also said that early in the fight Dan R. Hanna of Cleveland agreed to raise $500,000 for the campaign, but he never knew whether it was done. He denied that at a dinner given at the home of the late Henry C. Frick, in New York, a group of rich men agreed to underwrite the Wood campaign to the extent of $1,000,000 or more.

T. S. Darst, Wood manager in West Virginia, said that he obtained $6,500 in contributions.

Puts Harding Fund at $113,109.

Harry M. Daugherty, Senator Harding's campaign manager, gave the total of the Harding fund as $113,109.50. He did not make any definite charges about big expenses for General Wood in Ohio, as he had been expected to do.

The committee learned that arrangements were made here last night to place Mr. McAdoo before the San Francisco convention as a candidate for the nomination for the Presidency. It was denied that there was any organization or fund in behalf of Mr. McAdoo.

The fund for Nicholas Murray Butler of New York, it was developed, was $40,550, of which $34,730 had been expended for publicity.

Judge J. Harry Covington, Treasurer of the Palmer fund, testified that a number of the contributors to that fund had been connected in some way with the Alien Property Custodian's office.

The fund for Governor Coolidge was $68,375, which was spent principally in distributing a book of his speeches.

Another development of the hearing was the statement by Senator Kenyon, Chairman of the committee, that Horace C. Stebbins, Treasurer of the Wood organization at its Eastern headquarters in New York, could not be found to be served with a subpoena from the committee. Senator Kenyon said that every effort had been made to find Mr. Stebbins in New York but without result.

A. A. Sprague, Western Treasurer of the Wood campaign, with headquarters in Chicago, is too ill to attend, although he hopes to be here Saturday, Senator Kenyon said.

Frank H. Hitchcock and William Cooper Procter, General Wood's managers, referred the committee to Messrs. Stebbins and Sprague for many facts which the two managers said only the treasurers could furnish from their records.

Declares Hanna Made Big Offer.

Mr. King, who is the Republican national committeeman from Connecticut, told the committee that he severed his connection with the Wood forces in January, and had not followed the development of the General's campaign since. The severance of relations grew out of a disagreement over policy, Mr. King said.

"I advised against a Central Committee, a widespread campaign of publicity and expensive headquarters," said Mr. King, adding that, when the policy against which he advised was adopted, he got out.

He said that Dan R. Hanna, a millionaire of Cleveland, first interested him in General Wood as a Presidential possibility, in the Spring of 1919.

"Mr. Hanna said that General Wood and I ought to get together," said Mr. King. "I met General Wood at the Harvard Club in New York, a little later, and we discussed the possibility of making a campaign.

"I advised General Wood not to make any campaign then. I told him to put his boom in cold storage for a while. I felt that to launch it then would be premature."

Mr. King told of a number of talks with Mr. Hanna, and William Loeb, Jr., formerly secretary to the late Colonel Roosevelt, who also was interested in General Wood as a Presidential possibility. The upshot of the various conferences was that Mr. King agreed to take hold of the Wood campaign.

It was estimated, he said, that an eighteen months' campaign would cost $500,000, and Mr. Hanna agreed to "go out and raise that amount."

"Did he raise it?" Senator Kenyon asked.

"Not to my knowledge," was the Senate Cuts Off 42 Committees Bars Those Which Do Not Meet

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The Senate voted today to abolish forty-two standing committees and reduce the membership of all others, effective in the next Congress. This reform has been urged for years, and the new committee plan was adopted virtually without discussion.

The Senate thus pares down chairmanships and employe patronage heretofore enjoyed by Senators to that extent.

Senator Knox, Republican, of Pennsylvania, said that the plan would "cut out all of the committees which rarely if ever meet." Senator Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic leader, joined in urging the adoption of the plan.

GARRISON SPURNS B.R.T. STRIKE THREAT

RECEIVER IS UNMOVED

Tells Hylan He Is Confusing Situation—Will Meet Only Employes of Company.

A committee purporting to represent the power house and sub-station employes of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system, of which J. W. O'Donnell, International Representative of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers of America, was spokesman, called upon Mayor Hylan yesterday and told him that a strike, tying up the entire B. R. T. system, would be called in the afternoon at 4 o'clock because they had been unable to gain a hearing from Lindley M. Garrison, Receiver, or William S. Menden, General Manager of the B. R. T. The Mayor induced the men to postpone the strike call for twenty-four hours, agreeing to write to Receiver Garrison, urging his co-operation with the committee to the end that a strike may be averted, which he did.

Following the receipt of Mayor Hylan's letter, Receiver Garrison made public his reply to the Mayor, in which he asserted that the records of the company showed that only one of the committeemen was an employe; that he had already entered into an agreement with the power station employes, and that the Mayor was only confusing an already difficult situation by appearing to sympathize with the demands of the committee.

The only employe on the committee, according to Mr. Garrison, was Edwin L. Smith, an officer of the American Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes' Union, Local 879. Following the conference with the Mayor Mr. Smith said that his association was in no way identified with the present strike movement of the power station employes, whose demands were not primarily for higher wages, but for shorter hours and better working conditions.

Mr. O'Donnell said that about 160 power house and sub-station employes would be affected by the strike, and that their number was sufficient to bring the system to a standstill by shutting off the power. According to General Manager Menden there are approximately 850 or 400 men employed in the power houses and sub-stations. It was said that if all should walk out it would be difficult for the B. R. T., with the limited supply of power it could get from outside sources, to operate on anything like a normal basis.

Declare Against a Strike.

On the other hand, the officers of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes met last night at the Corn Exchange Building and expressed the belief that there would be no walkout of the power house employes. It was decided at this meeting to stand by the agreement, this organization has with officials of the transit company.

Raymond D'Huy, Secretary of Shop Employes Local, No. 879, said that none of the men who have threatened to strike are members of the union, and that the union men would take no part in a strike if one were called.

The committee on behalf of the power-house and sub-station employes called upon the Mayor soon after 1 o'clock and explained that they desired a conference either with Mr. Garrison or Mr. Menden. Mr. O'Donnell told the Mayor that he had been summoned to New York and that he had attempted to see first Mr. Garrison, who, he was informed, was in Pennsylvania trying a case. Subsequently he saw Mr. Menden, who told the international representative that he would be glad to deal with the men individually but not as members of the union. It was then decided to appeal to the Mayor to try to bring about a conference between the men and the B. R. T. officials. In his letter to Receiver Garrison the Mayor,

REJECT MANDATE IN COMMITTEE VOTE ON ARMENIA, 11-4

HITCHCOCK OPPOSES FORM

FULL VOTE TO COME SOON

Colby to Appear Before House Committee in Consideration of Mandate.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today voted to reject President Wilson's recommendation that Congress vest him with authority to accept a mandate for Armenia in behalf of the United States. By a vote of 11 to 4 the committee adopted a resolution which Senator Lodge later reported to the Senate, respectfully declining the proposal.

The action of the committee was not unexpected and its conclusion was reached without any particular contest.

The only opposition to the course adopted was voiced by Senator Hitchcock, who did not, however, counsel acceding to the Presidential recommendation. Mr. Hitchcock is as much opposed to the acceptance of an Armenian mandate as are some other Democrats, but he did not wish the committee to adopt the resolution which was voted, as he thought that it constituted too summary a treatment of the President's proposal.

Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, a Republican, introduced the resolution, and when it was voted upon the roll call stood:

For the resolution—Democrat: Shields; Republicans, Lodge, McCumber, Borah, Brandegee, Fall, Knox, Harding, Johnson, New, Moses.

Following the committee's action, Senator Lodge made a report to the Senate, in which he said:

"The Committee on Foreign Relations, having had under consideration the message of the President of the United States of May 24, 1920, report the following resolution, with the request it be adopted:

"'Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring) that the Congress hereby respectfully declines to grant to the Executive the power to accept a mandate over Armenia as requested in the message of the President dated May 24, 1920.'"

Senator Hitchcock inquired of Mr. Lodge when he intended to ask the Senate to consider and act upon the resolution. Mr. Lodge replied that he would wait until all pending appropriation measures have been disposed of, which, it is expected, will be within a few days.

It is predicted that the Senate will adopt the resolution by practically a party vote, or at least some resolution notifying the President that it is deemed inadvisable at this time to comply with his recommendation.

Secretary Colby is to appear tomorrow before the House Foreign Affairs Committee to inform it concerning the Armenian question.

LONDON, Friday, May 28.—The Daily Chronicle, in an editorial on the Senate Committee's action concerning the Armenian mandate, says:

"Thus in one item after another the scheme of participation in the world's affairs which the President had built up falls to the ground. Under political influences which are in the ascendant at Washington, America withdraws into herself and renders nugatory the efforts she made in war.

"It was not an exorbitant demand that America, whose citizens have been conspicuous in philanthropic work in Turkey for many years, should help to set Armenia on her legs."

WOOLEN MILLS STRIKE VOTED

Passaic Owners Reject Demand for 44-Hour Week and Wage Increase.

PASSAIC, May 27.—Their demands for a 50 per cent. increase in wages and a forty-four-hour week having been refused, 600 members of the Amalgamated Textile Workers of Passaic voted tonight to strike next Tuesday.

It was announced the strike would affect 18,000 workers in the woolen mills of Passaic and vicinity.

Johnson Says He Will Not Bolt the Party; 'Family Quarrel' Will Be Ended at Chicago

CONCORD, N. C., May 27.—Senator Johnson of California declared in a political address here today that he would not bolt the Republican Party at Chicago if he should not be chosen as the Presidential nominee.

"I am now engaged in a family quarrel, wholly a family quarrel," Senator Johnson said, "and when the selection is made at Chicago in two weeks the quarrel will be ended."

Major Gen. Leonard Wood, another candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, will come to North Carolina tomorrow and will deliver speeches at Greensboro, Winston-Salem and Asheville.

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 27.—Senator Johnson made a plea here tonight that the people be "Just Americans again." He said that he had come to North Carolina "fighting organized politics and organized wealth."

Discussing present day problems the Senator declared that the first thing he would do if he possessed the power, would be to repeal wartime laws.

"I would eliminate autocracy, which we had agreed on during the war," he added. "I would be in this country Just American again."

To bring down the high cost of living, Senator Johnson advocated a search from the producer to the consumer "to ascertain where this speculation in the necessities of life is going on and punish him who profits illegitimately on these things."

Canada Wants $1,871,000,000 Reparation from Germany

OTTAWA, May 27.—Canada's reparation claim against Germany amounts to $1,871,000,000, according to an announcement made here today. It has been forwarded to England for presentation at the conference of representatives of all parts of the British Empire in London and subsequently the conference at Spa, Belgium.

The claim is for losses sustained by the Dominion and its citizens and includes: Cost of war and demobilization, $1,715,000,000; separation allowances, $85,000,000; Halifax losses, $30,000,000; army of occupation, $8,000,000, and illegal warfare, $31,000,000.

Under separation allowances fall sums paid to dependents of those who served in the military and naval forces; Halifax losses cover damage to the city by the munitions explosion in Halifax harbor on the steamer Mont Blanc in 1917; army of occupation costs include those of maintaining Dominion troops in Germany after the armistice, and illegal warfare damages represent losses of Canadian merchant and fishing vessels during Germany's submarine warfare.

CHICAGO PLATFORM TO SHUN PROHIBITION

SENATORS TALK OF PLANKS

Women Demand Convention Give Them Share in Direction of the Party.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Neither beer and light wines nor prohibition will be mentioned in the Republican National Convention, if the present plans of the party leaders are carried out, it was learned today.

Directors of the party's policies have decided that the question has been settled, and neither a "wet" nor a "dry" plank nor the endorsement of any modification of the present "bone dry" rule will be incorporated in the platform, according to Samuel A. Perkins, National Committeeman from Washington.

The prohibition question and its possible effect on the forthcoming Presidential campaign has been under consideration by party leaders for several months, it is known. The subject was discussed at National Committee meetings here as far back as last January.

One member of the National Committee who is here said today that the committeemen believed the "wets" to be in the minority and that the country as a whole wanted prohibition.

Women Ask for Recognition.

Women leaders here are conferring with committeemen in an effort to draft a plan for the participation of the newly enfranchised voters in the direction of the Republican Party. The plan will be presented to the convention, it is understood, with the recommendation of Chairman Hays and the National Committee that it be adopted.

Some of the women are asking for a "fifty-fifty" voice in party affairs, and, at the other extreme, some are said to be content with the present arrangement whereby an advisory committee of one representative from each State, with no voting power, sits with the National Committee.

Captain Victor Heintz, Regional Director, with headquarters here, has been selected by Chairman Hays to sound out the sentiment of the women and ask them to draft a proposal agreeable to the suffragists.

A request that a plank indorsing independence for the Philippines be incorporated in the platform will be made to the Platform and Policies Committee by a special commission of Filipinos, José P. Melencio announced today. Melencio, Jaime C. de Veyre, Resident Philippine Commissioner at Washington, and Felipe Buencamino, representing Manuel Quezon, President of the Philippines, are members of the commission.

Glad Johnson Won't Bolt.

National Committeemen gathering here for the opening of the hearing on contests on Monday received with interest today reports of Senator Hiram W. Johnson's speech at Concord, N. C., in which he denied he would "bolt" the convention if not nominated. The attitude of the Senator in the event of defeat in the convention has been the source of speculation for many weeks along "Presidential row" and his announcement was received with visible relief.

"I am glad to hear that," said A. T. Hert of Kentucky, Chairman of the Convention Committee on Arrangements. "I have thought all along that would be Mr. Johnson's position."

L. W. Henley, Secretary of the Convention Committee, placed an order for a new gavel today, and the historic mallet used in 1912 and 1916 will be discarded. "It has gone through two defeats," Mr. Henley commented, "and because of the associations connected with it I think we had better lay it aside and buy a less dangerous weapon."

High Priced Rooms Vacant.

There will be plenty of rooms in Chicago at reasonable prices to care for the 40,000 convention visitors, according to the Information Bureau of the Association of Commerce. First-class hotels in the Loop have 18,000 rooms available, and outlying hotels 21,000. Scores of apartments whose owners have listed

LABOR BARS WIRES FROM REPUBLICAN CONVENTION HALL

THREATEN BIG WALKOUT

Union Leader Declares Work on Hall Will Cease if Instruments Are Installed.

PLAN TO USE MESSENGERS

Fear Is Voiced That the Democrats Will Have the Same Trouble at San Francisco.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Labor has served an edict upon the Republican National Convention that the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies shall not have wires in the Coliseum because of disputes between the labor interests and the telegraph companies. Apparently the labor interests are to have their way.

In former years the telegraph companies have made extensive arrangements to handle press copy and other messages direct from the convention hall in order that it may be placed before the public as quickly as possible, but this time, by labor's order, there must be delay.

The showdown came when notice was served upon the Superintendent of the Coliseum by Simon O'Donnell, President of the Building Trades Council, that every union man would walk out of the building and the work of getting it ready for the convention would be stopped if the telegraph companies were permitted to put in their instruments.

It was a serious situation for the National Committee, for to permit the telegraph companies to make their installation would mean war with labor, which was not the wish of the political leaders. As the telegraph companies refuse to make concessions to the labor interests on other matters at issue, the wires probably will be kept out of the Coliseum.

It is now planned to have the telegraph wires, which are to carry 1,500,000 words a day or more of news to the public, placed in a branch office of the Western Union across an alley from the Coliseum. This will necessitate sending copy by messengers and may make for some confusion, but the companies will make elaborate plans to handle the news.

The fear is expressed here that the same conditions may be faced at the Democratic National Convention at San Francisco.

Charles P. Hall, Superintendent of the Coliseum, said:

"I told the Western Union that if it should bring in any non-union men every man employed on the work in the Coliseum would quit. I did not order the Western Union to stay out. What I did was simply to tell it that I had been notified by Simon O'Donnell, President of the Building Trades Council, several days ago, that all of my 182 men would quit if non-union telegraph employes started to string wires in the building."

The action of the labor unions is an aftermath of the unsuccessful strike declared against the telegraph companies last Summer by the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America. This strike, which the union officials declared was going to paralyze the business of the country, was a comparatively trivial affair and gradually died out. President Konenkamp of the Telegraphers' Union and his fellow officials, however, have not forgotten their failure to bring the telegraph companies to terms, and, taking advantage of the Republican Convention, have brought pressure to bear upon labor leaders in Chicago to bar the companies from the Coliseum.

The building will be ready for the convention by the latter part of next week, according to L. Henley, Secretary of the Convention Committee. Mr. Henley has placed an order for a new gavel. The gavel of 1912 and 1916 will be discarded.

"It has gone through two defeats," said Mr. Henley.

Doubt Postal Will Be Barred.

George W. E. Atkins, Vice President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, said last night that he did not care to comment upon the report that the wires of the Western Union would be barred from the Coliseum at Chicago without further details. He said that the company would undoubtedly make arrangements for its service.

William J. Deegan, Secretary of the Postal Telegraph Company, said he had not understood that the Postal was involved in the dispute and believed the report to be false so far as the Postal was concerned.

Will H. Hays, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, declined to discuss the matter. Mr. Hays said he had known that some difficulty was likely to develop between the telegraph companies and the labor unions, but he did not wish to comment upon it until he learned more of the details.

WILSON VETOES THE PEACE RESOLUTION AS YIELDING RIGHTS, STAINING OUR HONOR; HOUSE WILL ATTEMPT TODAY TO REPASS IT

Text of President Wilson's Message to Congress Vetoing Resolution to Declare Peace with Germany

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—Following is the text of President Wilson's message vetoing the peace resolution:

To the House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my signature, House Joint Resolution 327, intended to repeal the Joint Resolution of April 6, 1917, declaring a state of war to exist between the United States and Germany, and the Joint Resolution of Dec. 7, 1917, declaring a state of war to exist between the United States and the Austro-Hungarian Government, and to declare a state of peace. I have not felt at liberty to sign this resolution because I cannot bring myself to become party to an action which would place ineffaceable stain upon the gallantry and honor of the United States.

The resolution seeks to establish peace with the German Empire without exacting from the German Government any action by way of setting right the infinite wrongs which it did to the peoples whom it attacked and whom we professed it our purpose to assist when we entered the war. Have we sacrificed the lives of more than 100,000 Americans and ruined the lives of thousands of others and brought upon thousands of American families an unhappiness that can never end for purposes which we do not now care to state or take further steps to attain?

The attainment of these purposes is provided for in the Treaty of Versailles by terms deemed adequate by the leading statesmen and experts of all the great peoples who were associated in the war against Germany. Do we now not care to join in the effort to secure them?

We entered the war most reluctantly. Our people were profoundly disinclined to take part in a European war, and at last did so, only because they became convinced that it could not in truth be regarded as only a European war, but must be regarded as a war in which civilization itself was involved and human rights of every kind as against a belligerent Government. Moreover, when we entered the war we set forth very definitely the purposes for which we entered, partly because we did not wish to be considered as merely taking part in a European contest. This Joint Resolution which I return does not seek to accomplish any of these objects, but in effect makes a complete surrender of the rights of the United States so far as the German Government is concerned.

A treaty of peace was signed at Versailles on the twenty-eighth of June last which did seek to accomplish the objects which we had declared to be in our minds, because all the great Governments and peoples which united against Germany had adopted our declarations of purpose as their own and had in solemn form embodied them in communications to the German Government preliminary to the armistice of Nov. 11, 1918. But the treaty as signed at Versailles has been rejected by the Senate of the United States, though it has been ratified by Germany. By that rejection and by its methods we had in effect declared that we wish to draw apart and pursue objects and interests of our own, unhampered by any connections of interest or of purpose with other Governments and peoples.

Notwithstanding the fact that upon our entrance into the war we professed to be seeking to assist in the maintenance of common interests, nothing is said in this resolution about the freedom of navigation upon the seas, or the reduction of armaments, or the vindication of the rights of Belgium, or the rectification of wrongs done to France, or the release of the Christian populations of the Ottoman Empire from the intolerable subjugation which they have had for so many generations to endure, or the establishment of an independent Polish State, or the continued maintenance of any kind of understanding among the great powers of the world which would be calculated to prevent in the future such outrages as Germany attempted and in part consummated.

We have now, in effect, declared that we do not care to take any further risks or to assume any further responsibilities with regard to the freedom of nations or the sacredness of international obligations or the safety of independent peoples. Such a peace with Germany—a peace in which none of the essential interests which we had at heart when we entered the war is safeguarded—is, or ought to be, inconceivable, as inconsistent with the dignity of the United States, with the rights and liberties of her citizens, and with the very fundamental conditions of civilization.

I hope that in these statements I have sufficiently set forth the reasons why I have felt it incumbent upon me to withhold my signature.

WOODROW WILSON.

The White House, May 27, 1920.

MINERS ACCEPT PRESIDENT'S OFFER

Agree to Arbitration, Saying "Class Legislation" Makes Strike Impossible.

TO SUGGEST COMMISSIONER

Will Also Ask Wilson to Take Over Four Mines to Determine the Cost of Production.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 27.—Declaring that "class legislation" had made it "almost humanly impossible to wage a successful strike," anthracite mine workers in their tri-district convention here late today accepted the plan of President Wilson to settle their wage dispute by an arbitration commission.

Pending the award of the Presidential commission the hard coal miners will remain at work "under the retroactive understanding agreed to between operators and miners and reiterated by the President, which will protect the mine workers in wage increases as from April 1."

The contract submitted by Secretary Wilson, containing the maximum offer of the operators, was unanimously rejected, despite the fact that it had the approval of the international officers of the United Mine Workers. This agreement would have provided a 17.55 per cent. increase over present wages and granted recognition of the mine workers' union.

The Miners' Scale Committee instructed James Gorman, Secretary of the Anthracite Board of Conciliation, to notify Secretary of Labor Wilson of the convention's action, and to arrange for a meeting of the sub-committees of miners and operators at Washington next Monday or Tuesday.

Thomas Kennedy, President of District 7, announced that the name of Neil J. Ferry of McAdoo, Pa., International Board Member from District 7, would be suggested to the President as the representative of the mine workers on the Coal Commission. The President

Transportation Committee Announces Its Stand in Struggle to End Trucking Paralysis.

A declaration of principles, which union labor leaders see as advocacy of the "open shop" for the city's transportation agencies, was adopted yesterday by the Citizens' Transportation Committee, which is directing the fight of the commercial interests for the restoration of uninterrupted transportation.

The committee's declaration follows:

"The welfare of the community being dependent on impartial and uninterrupted transportation service, all classes of people and merchandise should be served by transportation and trucking facilities without discrimination, and there should be no interruption to such service through industrial warfare except as a last resort, when all efforts of adjustment have failed and there is no impartial tribunal available to the parties presenting a grievance.

"Employes on piers, docks, railroads, steamships, lighters, tugs and trucks should perform their usual service, regardless of whether the connecting points which they serve or the facilities or vehicles through which the merchandise is received or delivered are manned by union or non-union men.

"Impartial service should be extended to all merchandise, regardless of whether it has been worked upon or handled by union or non-union men."

To Stand by Declaration.

Alfred E. Marling, Chairman of the committee, said that the declaration had been decided upon as of fundamental importance in dealing with the transportation situation.

"We have reached a definite conclusion as to certain principles which we believe should govern," he declared. "The public is entitled to free passage

WILSON POINTS TO WAR AIMS

Asserts Knox Plan Would Sacrifice Things for Which We Fought.

HOUSE DEMOCRATS CHEER IT

Republicans Are Silent During Reading, Except at Reference to Freedom of the Seas.

UNLIKELY TO DEFEAT VETO

But the Majority Purposes to Hold President Responsible for War Conditions.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—In a short message to the House today President Wilson vetoed the Knox resolution which would declare war with Germany at an end. When read in the House, it was received with prolonged cheering by the Democrats, led by ex-Speaker Clark. Republican members remained silent for the most part, but expressed disapproval of the reference made to the failure of the peace resolution to protect the freedom of the seas.

No action was taken on the veto today, but Representative Stephen G. Porter, Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, informed the House that he would call up the message tomorrow, when an attempt would be made to override the veto. As the resolution was passed originally in the House with twenty-four fewer votes than are required to override a veto, the Republican leaders are not hopeful of favorable action. They hold that having made every effort to put the country upon a peace basis the responsibility for a continuance of a state of technical war will be placed on the President.

The President's message pointed out that the moral obligations which the United States assumed when it entered the war were left unsettled by the failure of the Senate to ratify the Peace Treaty. Acceptance of the peace resolution, the President asserted, would "place ineffacable stains on the gallantry and honor of the United States."

Says It Would Not Right Wrongs.

None of the things for which the United States fought, the President said, would be "safeguarded by the Knox resolution and Germany would not be compelled to take action by way of setting right the infinite wrongs which it did to the peoples whom it attacked and whom we professed to assist when we entered the war."

The message further says that the United States entered the war reluctantly, but that when it did so it entered with a specific purpose and only because it "became convinced that it could not in truth be regarded as only a European war, but must be regarded as a war in which civilization itself was involved and human rights of every kind as against a belligerent government." The efforts of this country to create a condition which would make wars in the future difficult were obtained in the Treaty of Versailles, while the resolution, the President said, did not attempt to accomplish any of them, but "in effect, makes a complete surrender of the rights of the United States so far as the German Government is concerned."

The resolution, the message emphasized, failed to provide any machinery to bring about a reduction of armaments, enforce the freedom of the seas or rectify the wrongs done to France or to settle any of the other questions that grew out of the war.

After pointing out the difference between the treaty and the resolution, the President concludes by saying that the action of the Senate in rejecting the treaty places us in a position of drawing apart from Europe to "pursue objects and interests of our own, unhampered by any connections of interest or of purpose with other Governments and peoples."

The Knox resolution, the message says, would put us in the position of saying that this country did not wish to assume any further "responsibilities with regard to the freedom of nations or the sacredness of international obligation or the safety of independent peoples."

Asserts It Violates Our Dignity.

"Such a peace with Germany, a peace in which none of the essential interests which we had at heart when we entered the war is safeguarded," concludes the message, "is inconsistent with the dignity of the United States, with the rights and liberties of her citizens and with the very fundamental conditions of civilization. [The full text of the President's message is printed in an adjoining column.]

After the message was delivered, Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio read an alleged interview with the President printed in the London Times in which Mr. Wilson was quoted as not concerned with his demands for freedom of the seas. This decision, Mr. Longworth said, was reached after the President had conferred with other statesmen in Paris.

"The query is, did the same man who gave the interview write the message?" asked Mr. Longworth.

Republicans generally declined to comment upon the veto. Democrats said that it maintained the President's position that peace should be obtained only through the treaty and the League of Nations.

Representative Fess, Chairman of the Republican National Congressional Committee, issued a statement in which he criticised the President for insisting on the treaty with the League of Nations after the Senate had acted upon it twice.

"The President prefers a state of war unless he can secure peace upon the adoption of his league," said the statement. "Thus far he has had sufficient control over enough Senators to continue the war on that basis. There is but one thing left for us to do, pass this resolution over his veto and end the war without delay. The President has exercised his Constitutional right to veto the resolution, a matter of his own will, but it must not deter the members of this House from performing their duty as they see it. The passage of this resolution over his veto puts an end, so far as the people's Representatives can go, to this anomalous condition. This is the demand of the people. That demand can only be thwarted by one-third of Congress supporting the one man, who thus far has succeeded in perpetuating this intolerable situation with all of its attendant evil consequences."

Mondell Remarks Omissions.

Representative F. W. Mondell, the Republican House leader, said:

"The President's veto message is perhaps more remarkable for what it omits than for what it contains. The President, contrary to general expectations, makes no attempt to question the right of Congress to pass such a resolution. Therefore, he naturally admits the right of Congress. He does complain that it does not contain certain references which he cites. Neither does it contain anything about the Golden Rule or the Ten Commandments. The President's criticism that Congress makes no reference to the freedom of the seas is curious in view of the fact that the President himself entirely surrendered his demand for freedom of the seas. The President fails to give any logical reason for vetoing the resolution. He makes the lame excuse that if the treaty had been approved by the Senate the resolution would not have been necessary."

Representative A. T. Treadway, Republican of Massachusetts, said:

"The message is the weakest and poorest I ever heard."

Representative G. S. Graham, Republican of Pennsylvania, said:

Representative Champ Clark:

Representative James R. Mann said:

"He simply maintains his position that nothing ought to be done toward securing peace without the League of Nations. Upon that issue he is going to the country. If the country prefers peace with the League of Nations in the way the President has fixed it up, they will say so; if they prefer peace with a modified League of Nations they will say so; if they prefer no League of Nations, I expect they will say so."

Representative Byrnes of Tennessee said: "The message set forth the objections of the President very clearly and forcibly."

Senate Comment on Party Lines.

Senators' views on the veto message conformed closely to their partisan viewpoints. Inasmuch as the veto had been expected, its effect was discounted. There was little comment upon it.

"I do not care to discuss the veto, as it seems to present no new proposition," said Senator Borah, "but I do think that in view of the veto it is absolutely obligatory upon Congress to proceed at once and before adjournment to repeal what is known as war legislation.

"We should take off the statute books the arbitrary measures which were passed for war purposes and which should be permitted to remain no longer. This should be done before Congress adjourns."

Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, said:

"The reasons stated by the President for withholding his assent to the Knox so-called peace resolution are incontrovertible and will meet with the high approval of the great majority of the American people. We entered the war upon the side of the Allies and together we won a glorious victory and dictated the terms of peace to the vanquished foe.

"It would be an act of perfidy and dishonor for the United States to desert her allies or to pursue a course calling for a separate peace. The honor and dignity of this great nation forbid that the United States shall play the part of a coward.

"The Knox resolution was not a peace resolution. It would not establish peace. It deprived our nation of the great advantages which the peace treaty gave it and places us in a position of isolation. It would compel the United States, upon bended knee, to beg from Germany the terms of peace which Germany might concede."

ATTACKS MRS. DUNLAP WILL

Surrogate Foley signed an order yesterday holding up the probate of the will of Mrs. Amelia N. Dunlap, widow of Robert Dunlap, hat manufacturer, pending a hunt for evidence to determine whether or not there is ground for a contest on the allegations that she was not of sound mind and was unduly influenced. John Robert Lawson Johnston, grandson, who lived with Mrs. Dunlap, is the prospective contestant. He received only $500 and the interest of his mother in a trust fund set aside in his grandfather's will.

The will makes a similar bequest to Robert Dunlap Lawson, also a grandson, while Lavender A. Dunlap, a grandchild, gets $5,000. The residuary estate is divided between William Allen Dunlap, son, and Minnie Dunlap Baker, daughter.

Mrs. Dunlap was 76 years old when she died. The prospective contestant says he has been advised that the will was executed "by fraud and undue influence practiced by the principal legatees in the instrument." The estate is estimated at more than $500,000.

CALLS AMERICA FIRM FOR WORLD JUSTICE

WHEELER WRITES ON LEAGUE

New Yorker's Letter to Conference Predicts That the Covenant Will Yet Be Ratified Here.

PORTSMOUTH, England, May 27.—The League of Nations was the subject of discussion at the opening session here today of the twenty-ninth conference of the International Law Association. The Earl of Reading, Lord Chief Justice, and former British Ambassador to the United States, presided. There were numerous foreign delegates present, but two Germans, who were expected to come, had not yet reached Portsmouth.

An interesting paper was presented in the name of Everett P. Wheeler, the New York lawyer, in which Mr. Wheeler expressed the belief that the United States would yet ratify the League.

The American Ambassador, John W. Davis, will preside at tomorrow's session, when the laws of war at sea will be discussed.

Lord Reading, speaking at the luncheon of the Association, said that the League of Nations, which he trusted would in the future represent international law, was the hope of humanity. To skeptics and scoffers, who said that the League would not accomplish much, he would say that, if the League was not to succeed—if it could not give a ray of hope in ending war—there was no alternative.

Lord Reading, in his Presidential address, expressed the belief that international laws would never recover from the blow struck during the war, unless the League of Nations became an effective organization. It was a melancholy reflection that, while international jurists and men of high ideals were striving to prevent war, nations by every means in their power tried to outdo each other in the strength of their death-dealing forces. But out of that struggle had come a great epoch-making document—the covenant of the League of Nations.

"I do not say that it is a perfect instrument," he added, "it is nevertheless, a great document, though the hands that were set to it at the time, are not the hands of those who ratified it.

Reading Trusts America for Future.

"What America will do in the future, it is not for us to judge or prophesy. She will decide for herself, according to her own views, and according to the views of her own people.

"But of this I am convinced—whether she signs or does not sign, she will remain the supporter of justice and truth in the future, as she has done in the past, and those tribunals or nations associated in the League will be able to rely on her when they give their views founded upon reason and based upon justice."

These remarks were received with cheers.

Lord Reading emphasized the importance of the commission sitting to devise a plan for the permanent court of international justice. Whether the League would succeed in its ultimate aim or not, he was not one of these who despaired that war could not be abolished by any means, but he believed that some time must elapse before it could be achieved.

The League would prevent some wars, beyond all question, he held, and disputes between nations that could be settled, would be settled. There were some matters the League could not dispose of, but even there, the moral value of the League's opinion would have its effect in the world.

Wheeler Predicts Acceptance of League.

Mr. Wheeler's paper on "The League of Nations and the Constitution of the United States," was read at the evening session by U. H. Parratt. The writer held that the United States would not finially refuse to join the League.

In his view America found herself in the position of the man whose judgment had been convinced of the truth and justice of a certain proposition, but who shrank from the logical consequences when he first perceived what they were.

This hesitation was "not unnatural in a democracy," and the writer trusted that the European friends of America would be patient, and he believed that the covenant of the League would yet be ratified by the United States.

PALMER WOULD DROP EXCESS PROFITS TAX

Favors Higher Tax on Incomes from Investments Instead, Answering Questionnaire.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Flat opposition to Government ownership of railroads, endorsement of Federal control of manufacture and distribution of "necessary commodities," and elimination of excess profits taxes in favor of higher taxes on incomes from investments, characterised the reply of Attorney General Palmer, made public today, to the recent questionnaire submitted to Presidential candidates and others by the National Board of Farm Organizations.

Dealing specifically with the question of the five great meat packers, Mr. Palmer said the recent Federal Court decree, entered after long negotiations with the packers and the Government, was the longest step yet taken toward their control. He explained the effect of the decree at length and added:

"I do not want to appear brutal in using the term, but this decree makes butchers of these five great packers, and nothing else. They are no longer * * * a serious menace to the food table of America by control of substitutes for meat * * *."

The right of free speech, Mr. Palmer said, must be "carefully guarded and preserved."

"I would have men preach as radical doctrine as they will," he continued, "so long as they strike to make that doctrine effective by peaceful methods. But the right of free speech is not the right of unbridled speech without responsibility. There must be a line beyond which men cannot go without being held responsible for injury to their fellows or the Government, and that line must be drawn at the point where there is a promise, threat or implication of the use of force or physical violence to accomplish the reform which is advocated in public speech."

Stating his views as to "direct dealing between producer and consumer," Mr. Palmer said:

"I believe that the time has come when, in the interests of the producer on the farm and the consumer in the centres of population, there should be Government regulation of the exchanges dealing in foodstuffs and in securities of corporations whose business has to do with commodities which are known as necessaries. The profits of speculation on these exchanges add to the price of foodstuffs where directly traded in, and in the case of shares of stock, are ultimately borne by the commodities."

As to railroads, Mr. Palmer said:

"Private ownership and management under strict Government supervision with facilities for the prompt adjustment of all disputes arising out of demands of employes, shippers or the public will give the best transportation service to the country."

LEGION INVITES UNION MEN.

County Committee Denies Opposition to Organized Labor.

Resolutions denying that the American Legion is opposed to organized labor have been adopted by the New York County Committee. The resolutions say:

"Whereas a certain few members of the American Legion have, by their actions, given the unwarranted impression that the Legion members as a body are opposed to organized labor, be it

"Resolved that this Committee deplores the action of these men, and be it

"Resolved that this Committee declares itself in favor of the principle of labor unionism, and be it further

"Resolved that this Committee cordially invites all labor union men to join its ranks."

CHICAGO PLATFORM TO SHUN PROHIBITION

them at fancy figures are going begging. One owner of a nine-room house asked $12,000 for six days. There were no takers. The average price of 250 apartments listed was $450 for the week, but not more than a dozen have been rented.

Rooms are available in hotels and homes at an average price of $5 per day.

WASHINGTON, May 27 — Platform declarations were considered today by the leaders with a view to expediting the work of the Resolutions Committee. Those in conference included Senator Lodge, who is to be temporary chairman of the convention; Senator Watson of Indiana, who is being urged for the chairmanship of the Resolutions Committee; Senator Kellogg of Minnesota and Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin. Ogden Mills of New York, Chairman of the sub-committee of the Committee on Platforms and Policies, also was present.

The conferees said they did not contemplate an attempt at an agreement on any final or even tentative planks. The principal object was said to be the construction of a digest of the recommendations of the platform and policies' committee.

It was reported, nowever, among Republican Senators, that progress was being made toward an agreement on a plank dealing with the Treaty of Versailles, the peace resolution and allied questions based on the Indiana Republican State plank.

The name of Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois as a probable choice for the permanent convention chairmanship was discussed. Senators who have objected to former Senator Beveridge of Indiana for this place were said to be favorable to Senator McCormick, who also had the indorsement of a number of Progressive Republicans.

CAMPAIGN MANAGERS SERENE.

Lowden and Wood Men Insist Their Candidate Will Win.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 27.—That sentiment for the nomination of Governor Lowden for President was growing and that the Governor's position had been strengthened by the statement about his campaign expenses was made tonight by A. T. Hert, Committeeman from Kentucky, who is Chairman of the Arrangements Committee of the convention.

"I am convinced that sentiment is crystallizing for the nomination of Governor Lowden," said Mr. Hert. "I believe that the voters down my way are of that mind, although I am only speaking for myself.

"I do not think that a 'dark horse' can be named. I think that one of the candidates now prominently before the country will be the choice of the convention."

Other developments today was the indication given by the managers of General Leonard Wood that they believed he will be the nominee.

Senator Johnson and his followers, some Wood supporters hold, have by their methods done more to harm Senator Johnson than any other candidate. They assert that Senator Johnson is eliminated from any hope of obtaining the nomination.

Among those who are booming "dark horse" candidates the story was going the rounds tonight that a movement had been formed to name Senator Beveridge of Indiana.

With these developments things began to liven up and while the situation was still in confusion and the "dark horse" rumors were prominent everywhere, there were whispers that some light might be thrown on the scene after a few of the more prominent leaders come in the next few days.

KING SAYS HANNA BACKED WOOD FUND

reply. "I never got it. When I took charge there was no money."

Mr. King said that he raised $91,000, and spent all of it, some in separate States, but most of it in personal work, building up a Wood organization. Of the $91,000, he said, $30,000 was contributed, and $50,000 was a loan which he negotiated on his personal note. About $11,000 represented advances he made, for which he was reimbursed when Colonel Procter came in. Colonel Procter, Mr. King said, also took up the $50,000 note.

Among the contributions, Mr. King said, were two cashiers' checks sent to him by Major Henry F. Hooker of Chicago, a friend and supporter of General Wood. One was for $15,000 and the other for $10,000.

"Who contributed that money?" inquired Senator Kenyon.

Denies Underwriting at Frick Dinner.

The Chairman asked Mr. King about the report which received considerable currency that at a dinner at the New York home of the late Henry C. Frick, a group of very rich men agreed to underwrite the Wood campaign to the extent of $1,000,000 or more.

"I know nothing about such a dinner," said Mr. King. "I dined at Mr. Frick's home one evening in the Spring a year ago. I think it was in May. I went there with General Wood. There were twenty-five or thirty or maybe forty persons there. It was a dinner given by Mr. Frick to his friends to meet General Wood."

"Were politics or campaign contributions discussed at that dinner?" asked Mr. Kenyon.

"Not at all."

"Who were there?" asked Senator Reed.

"It was quite a while ago and I am unable to remember those who were there, but I know George Perkins was one."

After further questioning, to which Mr. King replied that he neither saw nor heard any indication that the dinner had the slightest political significance, Senator Pomerene asked:

"Then, so far as you are concerned, the story about the dinner being for the purpose of gathering a group of men to underwrite General Wood's campaign is pure fiction?"

"It is," was the answer. "There is not a scintilla of truth in it. I may add that I happen to know that Mr. Frick was opposed to General Wood for President. He did not regard him as available because he had had no Congressional experience."

Dan R. Hanna was not at the Frick dinner, Mr. King said, nor were Ambrose Monell, E. H. Smathers, Harry F. Sinclair, H. M. Billesby, W. M. Thompson or any of the others named in the story which purported to give a history of the underwritnig of the Wood movement.

Coming back to the $500,000 which Mr. Hanna had promised to raise, Mr. King said that he never learned that Mr. Hanna did not do so. The contribution sent by Major Hooker was in response to an intimation from Mr. King that funds would be needed, though Mr. Hooker made no agreement to raise any specific amount. Out of the $91,000 which he raised, Mr. King said, he sent $5,000 each into Oregon, Nebraska and Florida, $3,000 into Georgia and $1,100 into Massachusetts to Wood supporters there for the purpose of building up Wood organization.s

Arrange to Pressat McAdoo.

In taking up the McAdoo campaign the committee learned thatp reparations were made here last night, at a conference of friends of Mr. McAdoo, to place his name before the San Francisco Convention. The Rev. Dr. Burris Jenkins, who in addition to being a clergyman is editor of the Kansas City Post and a politician, told the committee that he received a letter from Jouett Shouse, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and former Congressman from Kansas, asking him too face Mr. McAdoo's name in nomination.

At Mr. Shouse's suggestion, Dr. Jenkins came to Washington for a conference. It was attended by Mr. Shouse, Fred Wilson, Director of Publicity during Liberty Loan campaigns, when Mr. McAdoo was Secretary of the Treasury; Daniel C. Roper, former head of the Internal Revenue Department, and Robert W. Woolley, member of the Interstate Commerce Commission. In addition to Mr. Jenkins. He said that his expenses were not paid by Mr. McAdoo's friends, Mr. Shouse explaining that he wanted Mr. Jenkins to be able to say in his nominating speech that neither money nor organization had been used in Mr. McAdoo's behalf.

Hasn't Mr. McAdoo an organization behind his candidacy?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"I know of none."

"And no money?"

"So far as I know there is no McAdoo campaign fund."

"Are the Federal office holders or former office holders working in his behalf?"

"None that I know of; there may be some who are interested in him."

$40,550 Fund for Dr. Butler.

The committee heard about the campaign publicity conducted in behalf of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler from his manager, Judge John R. Davies of the Municipal Court of New York.

The total contributions were $40,550, Judge Davies said, of which $34,730 has been expended. The expenditures have been limited to sending informative publicity all over the country to acquaint Republican voters with Dr. Butler's work and capabilities. He named five contributors who gave $5,000 each, as follows: W. C. Demarest, J. N. Dunn, B. B. Lawrence, C. F. Alstrom and W. C. Butler, of Everett, Wash., a brother of Dr. Butler.

The committee was interested in Judge Davies's views about campaign expenditures. He said that he was opposed to the use of extremely large sums because of the effect on the minds of the public.

"If Dr. Butler had accepted $500,000 from one contributor he would not have felt under an obligation to that contributor, but the public would think he was under some obligation," said Judge Davies, illustrating what he meant. "The public and not the candidate should be considered in questions of this kind."

Judge Davies probably will be asked to assist the committee in formulating legislation on the subject of Presidential campaign expenditures.

Darst Keeps Crowd Laughing.

The committee thoroughly enjoyed the testimony of T. S. Darst of West Virginia, manager for General Wood. Mr. Darst, who is the State Auditor of West Virginia, is a veteran of twenty-four years of political strife. His picturesque language in discussing practical politics entertained the committee and kept a large audience in an uproar of laughter most of the time he was on the stand. Mr. Darst defended the use of plenty of money in publishing abroad the virtues of a candidate.

"We want the people to vote intelligently, don't we?" he asked. "Well, how can they unless they know about the man? I say it's money well spent, even if it costs $100,000 a State."

He detailed expenditures in West Virginia for General Wood, stating that he got $8,500 in contributions and spent $4,435. This sum was much too small to make a "regular" campaign, Mr. Darst said, "and we consider this a small amount to spend on a Sheriff's campaign in one of our smaller counties." He added that under present conditions, "with the high cost of living and everything," $50,000 or more would be a "humble sum" to spend in West Virginia.

Mr. Darst said the people there had been "educated up" to expect money to be spent in campaigns. He told the committe that even though Senator Sutherland obtained the popular indorsement at the primary he would get the votes of the West Virginia delegates only because they felt morally bound to give them to him.

"Of course, Senator Sutherland has no chance," explained Mr. Darst naively, "and so——" His conclusion was lost in the ensuing laughter, but it was obvious.

Daugherty Tells of Harding Cost.

When Mr. Darst had concluded, Harry M. Daugherty, who manages Senator Harding's campaign, laid a statement of expenditures and contributions before the investigators. The contributions have been $113,109.50, and $107,709.80 has been spent, Mr. Daugherty said.

The chief individual contributor, he said, was Carmi Thompson, former member of Congress and former Secretary of State of Ohio, who gave at various times a total of $15,000. Citizens of Marion, Ohio, Senator Harding's town, raised in all about one-third of the total contributed, sending it in $5,000 checks from time to time. Myron T. Herrick, former United States Ambassador to France, and his son, Parmelee Herrick, gave $1,000; L. C. Hanna, Jr., of Cleveland, gave a like sum. Mrs. Anna Norton Battelle of Columbus contributed $4,000, and Mr. Daugherty himself put $9,500 into the fund.

In Ohio the total expense of the Harding campaign was but $18,000 or $20,000, Mr. Daugherty said, though he allotted $40,000 to State headquarters. He said that much of that went to pay general publicity bills.

Mr. Daugherty, contrary to expectations, did not furnish any light on the expenditures made in Ohio by General Wood's managers. He simply said that they used billboard and newspaper advertising extensively, and he assumed that their campaign was costly.

Committee members devoted much time to the examination of Judge J. H. Covington, treasurer of Attorney General Palmer's campaign, concerning the contributors to that fund. The Republican members of the committee wanted to know who, among the contributors, had been connected with the office of the Alien Property Custodian while Mr. Palmer held that position.

They first questioned Judge Covington as to his connection with the Custodian's office.

"I was never connected with the office," said Judge Covington. "I was named as counsel for a number of German chemical companies which were taken over. I never got a dollar in fees from the Government; my very modest fees were paid out of the corporate funds of the concerns, just as they would have paid their counsel under their own management."

He said that one of the companies was the Bayer company, in which matter his fee was $15,000.

He then read from the list of contributors the names of those who had been directly or indirectly connected officially with Mr. Palmer's activities while he was Alien Property Custodian. Frank L. Crocker of New York, who gave $2,500 to the Palmer fund, was shown to have been attorney or director in many cases handled by the custodian. Mr. Covington was unable to state what fees Mr. Crocker got. Among other contributors named by Mr. Covington in this connection was Fred Lynch of New York and Minnesota, member of the Democratic National Committee from Minnesota. Mr. Lynch contributed $250. He was made President of the Bayer Company when it was taken over by the Government, and also got an official position in a shipping company which Mr. Palmer seized, Judge Covington stated. William G. Fitzgerald, a lawyer of Detroit, who gave $250, was formerly on the staff of the Alien Property Custodian's office. Walter Denegre, a wealthy Louisianian, who gave $800, was in charge of Philippine matters for the custodian. Francis P. Garvan, who gave $1,000, has for a long time been associated with Mr. Palmer and is now Assistant Attorney General and Alien Property Custodian. Robert Scott, now private secretary to Mr. Palmer, gave $1,000.

Joseph Guffey, a Pittsburgh oil man, the largest single contributor to the Palmer fund, who gave $10,000, was one of the dollar-a-year men in the custodian's office.

Covington Counsel for Sugar Concern.

Judge Covington was asked whether he was counsel for any sugar concerns recently in conference with the Attorney General.

"I am counsel for the Revere Sugar Refining Company," he replied, "and I attended one conference at the Attorney General's office. It was just a talkfest."

He said that the Government "picked up" some of the Revere Company officials, referring to arrests made yesterday on charges of profiteering in sugar.

Judge Covington was asked to tell of the McAdoo campaign, as he had observed it.

"In Maryland," he said, "I have observed that there is a general impression that there is a strong organization for Mr. McAdoo."

"What is that impression based on?" Senator Kenyon asked.

"Well, I thought I would like to go to the San Francisco Convention as a delegate, but I ran up against a combination I couldn't make a dent in. I found that apparently the delegates were to be for Mr. McAdoo, though unInstructed. I was for Palmer, hence I was not considered available, and the result was that I am not going to the convention. That's the best evidence of McAdoo strength I have."

Didn't Know of Thompson Money.

Eugene R. Pike, a Lowden delegate from Chicago, was questioned by the committee regarding reported large expenditures in the primary contest in Illinois between Wood and Lowden forces. He said that he knew nothing concerning dofn-State conditions, but that he did not think the Wood managers spent much money in the State.

"What did you spend?" asked Senator Reed.

"About $5,000 or $6,000," replied Mr. Pike.

"Did you see evidences of large expenditures in the fight in Chicago?"

"Well, the Thompson forces used more literature than usual, but that was about all."

The committee sought evidence to corroborate a reprt that reached members that a large sum had been sent to Thompson forces for use in the contest, but Pike said that he did not know that.

James B. Reynolds, former Secretary of the Republican National Committee, submitted an accounting for Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts, who has withdrawn from the race, but who is being talked of as a dark horse. A fund of $68,375 was raised, Mr. Reynolds said, and most of it was spent, principally to distribute a book containing some of Governor Coolidge's speeches. Among the contributors were: F. W. Stearns, $12,500; Andrew Adie, $10,000; William F. Whiting, $10,000; W. Murray Crane, $5,000; Max Mitchell, $6,000; E. B. Dane, $5,000, and Frank W. Renick, $2,500.

HANNA DENIES $500,000 STORY.

Says $6,000 Is the Total of His Contributions for Wood Fight.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 27.—D. R. Hanna tonight issued the following statement concerning the testimony of John T. King of Connecticut, today before the Senate Investigating Committee at Washington:

"Mr. King's statement of my agreeing to raise $500,000 for General Wood's campaign is a gross misrepresentation. Further, I never attended any meeting with William Loeb and Charles T. King in reference to organizing a Roosevelt memorial club. Nor did I ever have any conversation with J. T. King or Mr. Loeb.

"I have always been greatly interested in the Roosevelt memorial plans but never at any time have I discussed the situation with either Mr. Loeb or Mr. King. It happens that I do not know Mr. Loeb. I only met him casually during President McKinley's Administration and have not seen him since.

"It is true that I did at a later date and at General Wood's suggestion ask Mr. King if he would undertake the management of General Wood's preconvention campaign. I also through a mutual friend arranged with Mr. King to meet the General in New York.

"This was accomplished and Mr. King established his headquarters and commenced the formation of an organization. Since then I have not had any active connection with General Wood's campaign or Mr. King's work.

"I have contributed $6,000 towards the expenses of General Wood's campaign in the Cleveland Congressional district. That is the total of my contribution to the entire Wood campaign."

WOOD ASKS IF PRIMARY IS WORTH THE COST

Says It Will Soon Require $1,500,000 to Send One Letter to Each Voter.

BOSTON, May 27.—General Leonard Wood, who was here today, said that it was a question whether the direct contact with the people afforded by primaries was worth the expense involved. He would make no statement concerning the Senate investigation of preconvention political finances.

"The situation," he said, "is being handled very efficiently by Colonel William Cooper Procter. There is no question that the Presidential primary is expensive. The question is, is it better than the old system, where no one ever knew just how much money was spent, where it was circulated through underground channels? Is it better than a system of State conventions or a system of bosses?

"Getting down to brass tacks, if a candidate circularizes the voters it is very easy to sit down with pencil and paper and figure out the cost. It costs about 5 cents per letter to issue a well-written letter on good stationery, to provide the envelope and stamp to send it out.

"There are in this country some 17,000,000 male voters. When the women have the right to vote the total will reach about 30,000,000. It can easily be seen that to issue one letter, without photographs or any other matter, would thus cost about $1,500,000, all of which would be legitimate.

"In my own case, organizations were established in every State with the exception of California. I did not have the benefit of assistance from organizations that were already established."

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 27.—The Leonard Wood Campaign Committee takes pride in the fact, that by spending money in this way (setting forth to the voters General Wood's qualifications for the Presidency) it has carried out the spirit of the primary laws in fully informing the public about its candidate."

This was declared officially tonight from the Wood headquarters by H. S. Hooker, member of the National Campaign Committee. No other Presidential headquarters had any official utterance to make concerning the Washington investigation.

Mr. Hooker issued a statement reading:

"The Senate Committee at Washington is making inquiry as to the amount of campaign expenses of the various candidates for the nomination for the Presidency. The enemies of General Wood propose to make capital out of the fact that his campaign committee has spent substantial sums of money during the past months, but do not point out that the spending of this money is compulsory if the primary laws as they now exist are to be intelligently assisted.

"The object of the primary laws is to allow the individual voter to take a direct part in the nomination of candidates. The individual voter cannot intelligently take this part if he is not informed. He cannot be informed unless he is fully presented with the character, record, and accomplishments of the various candidates.

"This requires money. Taking all things into consideration, it costs about five cents to send out a letter by first class mail. It costs a great deal more to send out a book or pamphlet.

"The Leonard Wood Campaign Committee takes pride in the fact that by spending money in this way it has carried out the spirit of the primary laws in fully informing the public about its candidate, firm in the belief that the people were entitled to know the detailed history of the man they were asked to vote for, and would approve the expenditure of any sums that might be necessary to accomplish that purpose.

"Furthermore, the appeal has been made by the committee to the whole American people and not to any one section of it, and the cost has been large accordingly, but the American people have already made it clear by the votes that they have cast that they approve of being kept informed. The attempt to preach a false sermon in this matter is a dangerous thing and is bound to react with disastrous consequences to those who attempt it."

PUT ROADS' VALUE FAR ABOVE CAPITAL

Valuation Experts Estimate Excess in Billions, Following Federal Report.

READ AT RATE HEARING

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Important railway valuation testimony was offered to the Interstate Commerce Commission in the railroad rate hearing today when figures were presented on behalf of the carriers seeking higher freight rates to show that the commission's preliminary reports on the cost of reproducing the railroads of the country are more than sustaining the aggregate property investment accounts of these companies.

It was the first time since the Government, seven years ago, began its exhaustive investigation into the actual value of the roads that a comprehensive statement was made as to what these reports would finally show when made public. Nearly $30,000,000 has so far been spent in this valuation work for the Government.

The statement was presented to the commission by Thomas W. Hulme of Philadelphia, Vice Chairman of the Valuation Committee for the carriers, and was that the Government engineering reports for fifty railroad systems, with a mileage of 51,853, will show that the cost of reproduction at 1914 prices, including the value of land, would be $3,208,782,543, as compared with a property investment account of only $2,158,275,156 carried in the books of the companies. Railroad executives attending the hearings maintain that the data presented conclusively answers all the "watered stock" charges of recent years, including the Plumb Plan allegations.

Excess of Billions.

Mr. Hulme stated that when the inventories were completed for all the roads of the country it would undoubtedly show a reproduction cost on the 1914 prices in excess of the carriers' own investment statements, and that on the basis of present prices the total would be billions more." He said that costs now were more than 100 per cent. higher than those prevailing in 1914. Railroad valuation experts believe the aggregate worth of all the roads will prove more than $2,400,000,000 in excess of their capitalization and more than $6,000,000,000 in excess of the present aggregate market value of their stocks and bonds. The forecast presented today dealt with roads in various parts of the country and covered nearly one-sixth of the total investment. The aggregate railroad investment, as claimed by the carriers at the opening of the hearings, is $20,616,000,000. The reports show the cost of reproduction of each railroad on the basis of 1914 costs for labor and materials, when prices were about half what they are today. Mr. Hulme summarized them as follows:

	Cost, Newand Land.	Investm't on Car'e's' B'ks.
14 Southern roads.	366,288,643	355,647,336
19 Western roads.	1,637,084,671	1,807,820,506
50 roads	$3,208,782,543	$3,158,275,156

The Eastern roads in this group show a reproduction cost of $190,600,000 in excess of their own property improvement figure. The Southern roads show an excess of $30,000,000, while the Western roads show a property account $175,800,000 less than the reproduction cost figure. Mr. Hulme stated that the Western roads in the compilation were not representative, as they did not include any of the older and stronger properties. When these were included, he said, the Western figures would undoubtedly make the same favorable showing of excess value as the Eastern roads. It was also pointed out by him that in the East no figures were yet available for such great properties as the Pennsylvania and New York Central.

Stronger Roads Not Included.

"When you take into consideration," he said, "that a number of roads first investigated by the commission were either at that time or shortly thereafter in the hands of a receiver, and that, with but few exceptions, there are not included in these valuations any of the larger and stronger companies, and that the totals for the preliminary reports are in excess of the road and equipment accounts, whereas the results for the so-called tentative valuations which represented the earliest work of the Commission were less than the road and equipment accounts, it seems to me that the conclusion would naturally and properly be drawn that for the country as a whole the engineering inventories and land reports when finally determined will result in a figure in excess of the road and equipment accounts."

The ten largest roads in the list of fifty covered in Mr. Hulme's statement show the following comparison between the carriers' investment accounts and the Government reports of the cost of reproduction as of 1914:

	Property. Investment.	Reproduc-tion Cost and Land.
Rock Island.....	341,401,305	388,601,206
N. Y., N. H. & H.....	193,905,944	319,590,022
Boston & Maine.....	195,908,526	276,528,128
Big Four.....	144,375,812	159,289,845
O. W. R. R. & N Co.	156,642,550	143,347,128
M., St. P. & S. S. M.	116,053,633	114,709,171
Oregon Short Line..	113,094,103	109,085,219
Chi. & East. Ill....	78,000,280	77,751,855

The attention of the commission was directed to the fact that the New York, New Haven & Hartford inventory showed a reproduction cost of $124,000,000 in excess of the company's own statement of investment, despite the fact that this had been a much "muck-raked" property; the Boston & Maine, an excess of $80,000,000; the Rock Island an excess of $47,000,000; the Great Northern, an excess of $34,000,000, and the Big Four, an excess of $15,000,000.

In a few roads, Mr. Hulme's testimony showed, the reproduction cost fell considerably short of equalling the property investment figure on the books of the carriers, but these deficits were more than made up by the roads showing the higher inventory figures. These preliminary reports, Mr. Hulme asserted, should be regarded as minimum figures, as in a number of cases the carriers believed that final figures would be considerably larger.

Land Values at Original Cost.

On this point he said:

"Wherever there is a difference of opinion between the local engineering forces of the Government and the representatives of the carrier, the Government engineers put in the figures that they deem to be the minimum, so that the supervising officers of the Bureau of Valuation in Washington may have the opportunity in the first instance to consider the claims of the carriers as to what additional amount should be allowed. In such large inventories involving such great amounts it is but natural that there should be some errors and numerous differences of opinion which, when considered, result in material increases in the total of the inventories as first tendered to the carriers. Aside from questions of fact which, as individual to a carrier, there are great differences now existing between all the representatives of the railroads and the representatives of the Bureau of Valuation as to costs of grading, track-laying and surfacing, general expenditures, and interest during construction."

For the fifty roads reported by the commission, with an aggregate inventory of $3,208,000,000, the land value is given at $347,741,031. Mr. Hulme stated that in the case of a number of roads the figure for land value was not the present value, but the original cost.

Pleads for Western Roads.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Opening the case of Western railroads, requesting a 34 per cent. increase in freight rates, S. M. Felton, President of the Chicago and Great Western Railroad, told the Interstate Commerce Commission today that additional returns were needed by the carriers to keep pace with business and serve the public welfare.

Ability to handle the expected capacity production of American industries, Mr. Felton said, only was possible if through the investment of new capital the railroads were enabled to increase their mileage and improve their facilities.

Final testimony for the railroads of the Eastern and Southern territories was presented today, and it is expected that the carriers will end their direct statements tomorrow, after which the hearings are to adjourn for a week to enable shippers to prepare for cross-examination.

After account and traffic experts have completed the case for the Western roads, Columbus Haile, Vice President of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad, plans to petition the commission to grant carriers of the Southwest an increase in rates of 33.33 per cent. and adjustments distinct from the official Western classification of which they are a part.

10,000 FUR WORKERS OBEY STRIKE ORDER

Issue Is Not One of Wages but of Equalized Employment, Union Leader Says.

The fur workers in this city responded yesterday to the call of their union, and last night Morris Kaufman, manager of the Joint Board of the Furriers' Union, estimated that 10,000 workers had gone on strike. This estimate of the number of workers out was confirmed by H. Werner, representing the Fur Manufacturers' Association.

Late in the day the strikers were cheered by a report that a number of employers had already opened negotiations for a settlement of their differences.

The fight, Mr. Kaufman explained, does not involve a wage scale adjustment, but the workers want a plan put in practice that will give employment to as many workers as possible and so solve the unemployment problem. These demands were drawn up yesterday and sent to the employers:

1. All workers laid off since May 7 be reinstated.
2. Equal division to be practiced during this period of depression until Dec. 31 of this year when necessary. No discharge.
3. No shop shall operate more than forty hours a week during this period in order to regulate conditions in general. The workers shall be paid on a ratio of forty-four hours per week.
4. No reduction in wages during the lifetime of this agreement.
5. Inside shops shall be given work in preference to outside contractors and out-of-town shops.

The strikers will hold four meetings this afternoon, at which, it was said, speakers prominent in the labor movement will be heard. These meetings will be in Beethoven Hall, Manhattan Lyceum, Stuyvesant Casino and Webster Hall. The union has established an information bureau in Stuyvesant Casino, 142 Second Avenue, and its Law Committee has opened an office at 133 Second Avenue.

TIE UP PHILADELPHIA PORT.

Three Thousand Longshoremen Strike for Rise to $1 an Hour.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—All deep-sea freight, incoming and outgoing, is tied up at the port here as a result of the strike of the longshoremen today. More than 3,000 members of the Marine Transport Workers voted to walk out last night, following the refusal of employers to grant an increase of 20 cents an hour.

JOHNSON CARRIES OREGON.

Has 2,179 Lead, But His Manager Is Beaten for Delegate.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 27.—Senator Johnson received the Oregon Presidential preference vote by a plurality of 2,179 over General Wood, according to tabulation today by the Portland telegram of complete but partly unofficial returns from all counties.

The same tabulation showed Sanfield MacDonald, Johnson's campaign manager, and a candidate for delegate at large to the National Convention had been defeated by 1,400 votes.

Hospital Drive Is Extended.

The $2,000,000 endowment campaign of the New York Post-Graduate School and Hospital will be carried on through the Summer, Dr. Frederic E. Sondern, President of the institution, announced yesterday in reporting the week's gain of $12,375, which has raised the total to $1,277,176.57. Among the gifts were $10,000 from Mrs. E. H. Harriman, $1,000 from Mrs. J. Henry Watson, and $500 from the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company. Street railway men are to take up a collection for the hospital on June 2, 3, 4.

No Passports Needed to Visit Canada

OTTAWA, Canada, May 27.—American tourists visiting this Dominion do not require passports as a condition of entry to Canada from the United States or as a condition of leaving Canada for the United States, according to a statement of the Canadian Department of Immigration and Colonization issued today. Canada welcomes bona fide tourists and will extend every possible courtesy to such travelers in entering and leaving the Dominion, the department said.

To Join Japanese Embassy Here.

OTTAWA, May 27.—Shicetsura Furuya, Japanese Consul General to Canada, today received word from his Government that he has been appointed counselor to the Japanese Ambassador at Washington. He will assume his new post at the end of June. He will be succeeded here by Seisabure Shimizu, who will come from a similar post at Sydney, Australia.

"Books for Everybody" Drive Opens.

Professor William Lyon Phelps, head of the English Department in Yale University, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the American Library Association at Gonfarone's Restaurant last evening. The affair marked the opening of the association's drive for New York City's $260,000 share of the "Books for Everybody" campaign, now being carried on through the country.

MINERS ACCEPT PRESIDENT'S OFFER

had notified the convention that he would consider appointing any man the miners recommended.

Want Practical Investigation.

In order that a practical investigation can be conducted to find the exact cost of producing anthracite coal, the convention also authorized a request to President Wilson asking him "to take such action as will permit the United States Government to legally take possession of four anthracite coal mines and one coal washery." This investigation was declared necessary in order "to protect the consumer against excessive charges" for anthracite coal and to determine if it is practical to establish a uniform scale in anthracite mines, as well as to pay the miners on a legal ton basis in the same manner as the operators sell their coal to the public.

The miners recommended that the executive boards of the three anthracite districts "be allowed to select a part of the management; at each operation that would be necessary to carry out this plan" if adopted in order that it would be an honest experiment.

"Not even the Government knows what it costs the operator to mine a ton of coal," said Mr. Ferry, in introducing the recommendation to the convention. "The figures range all the way from $1.25 to $7.80 a ton, and I am sure that if this sort of an investigation is made the anthracite operators will be shown up as the greatest profiteers in America today."

URGES RAIL BOARD TO HEED WAGE PLEA

Leader Says Workers Quit, While Transportation Act Offers Double Solution.

IGNORES CARRIERS' FUNDS

Workers' Family Budgets Put In Evidence—New Law Called Ample to Reimburse Roads.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Railroad employes of the United States must receive prompt wage increases, regardless of cost to the carriers, or the entire railway industry will face disruption, W. N. Doak, Vice President of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, declared today before the Railway Labor Board, which is conducting hearings as to the demands of the employes.

Mr. Doak, in asserting that present wages were inadequate, cited several instances of trainmen whose living expenses, he said, were greater than the wages they were receiving. He submitted a sworn statement from Robert Hunter, a brakeman of Whitefish, Mont., to the effect that the man's living budget showed a deficit of $17.39 for the first two weeks in March of this year, during which fortnight Hunter's salary was given as $53.05 and his expenses $111.04. Figures showing that brakemen in some other places received less pay than Hunter also were presented. Only individual cases were mentioned by Mr. Doak.

Mr. Doak said his figures were introduced with the intention of refuting testimony, previously offered by the roads, to the effect that the return to the old system of paying men according to the classification of yards would be advisable. He declared that the cost of living in many small towns was greater than in some of the larger cities.

He pointed out that statistics gathered a year ago showed that the cost of living in Bridgeport, Conn., was higher than in Boston, Washington, New York or Chicago. This, he said, proved the fallacy of paying wages according to the classification of yards.

"There is just as much work in switching a car in one town as in another," he said.

"It is becoming harder to keep men in railroad work every day," he continued. "Unless this board makes a speedy and just award in this case, thousands of men will go into other work.

"We have had recently a demonstration of protest in which hundreds of thousands of men have left the service to engage in other industry, and a spirit of restlessness, the like of which has never been seen in any industry, now prevails in transportation.

"That has been brought about largely by long delays and waitings. The men presented their demands for increases a year ago. Since then the cost of living has increased from 15 to 20 per cent., but there has been no wage increase. The 'buck' has been passed from one board to another."

Mr. Doak in his testimony vigorously attacked some of the statements previously made by representatives of the railroads, particularly in regard to Sunday work. The employes do not want time and a half for Sunday work plus time and a half for Sunday overtime, but a simple wage of time and a half for all Sunday work, he said.

"The railroad industry," he concluded, "is now in the most critical condition ever faced by any industry and it is up to this board to find a speedy remedy. Increased wages must be granted regardless of cost to the carriers, because the Transportation act, under which this board was organized, provides that the roads shall receive a fair return on their capital. If they can't pay higher wages under present rates, they will be given higher rates."

Representatives of the engineers and firemen, conductors, telegraphers, switchmen and signalmen also presented testimony in rebuttal to the brief offered by the roads. In each case the testimony was short and was designed to correct alleged "inaccuracies" in the roads' testimony.

Rebuttals by other groups of employes will be continued for several days, after which the roads will have an opportunity to reply.

D. G. REID SUES EX-WIFE.

Seeks Personal Effects from Woman Who Divorced Him.

Daniel G. Reid, capitalist, filed an answer in the Supreme Court yesterday to the suit of Mrs. Margaret C. Reid, who divorced him, to recover possession of personal effects and furnishings in the Reid home, 907 Fifth Avenue, and in an apartment in Paris. He denies that Mrs. Reid owns the articles sued for.

Mr. Reid states that his attorney, Morgan J. O'Brien, and Edmund L. Mooney, representing Mrs. Reid, have had many conferences in an effort to reach an agreement as to the ownership of the property in question and that they have failed to agree. Mr. O'Brien suggested that they choose a referee to decide the question, but Mr. Mooney refused to consent, Mr. Reid declares.

HISS AT SOCIALISM DEBATE.

Carnegie Hall Is Crowded at Stedman-Carmody Meeting.

Criticism of Russia, references to the unseating of the five Socialist Assemblymen and other subjects that usually stir up Socialistic gatherings brought forth considerable hissing in Carnegie Hall last night during the debate between Seymour Stedman of Chicago, Socialist candidate for Vice President, and Thomas Carmody, former Attorney General of New York, on the question whether the adoption of Socialism is imperative to preserve the best there is in civilization.

Every seat in the hall was taken when the debate began at 8 o'clock and while Mr. Carmody received all the hisses, he was also the recipient of many cheers. Mr. Stedman received nothing but cheers. Judge Jacob Panken presided and had to caution the audience several times to refrain from showing their disapproval of Mr. Carmody's remarks. Mr. Stedman sought to prove that the ideal social, political and economic condition of the future would be brought about through Socialism, while Mr. Carmody declared that Socialism was a failure and that the Constitution of the United States was a pretty good set of principles to live under.

GEORGE W. PERKINS ILL.

Resting in Catskills—May Not Go to Republican Convention.

George W. Perkins is suffering a nervous breakdown and it is doubtful if he will be able to attend the Republican National Convention at Chicago. Mr. Perkins has not been in good health for a year. He is resting in the Catskills.

An associate of Mr. Perkins said his physicians had found nothing organically wrong with him and that his breakdown, believed to be temporary, was due to hard work.

Mr. Perkins has been active in politics since he became the principal backer of the late Theodore Roosevelt in 1912. He became a member of the Advisory Committee of the Republican National Committee in 1916, after the nomination of Charles E. Hughes for the Presidency.

Mr. Perkins has refrained from expressing a preference for any candidate in the present campaign. He has taken the position that "what" is in the platform is more important than "who" is to be nominated.

Adopts Rise in Passport Fees.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The House today adopted the conference report on the Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation bill, which is estimated to add about $7,000,000 annually to Government revenue through increase in the cost of passport and visé fees. The increase in each case is from $2 to $10. The completed bill now goes to the President.

J. E. ROMIG ARRESTED FOR AIDING BERGDOLL

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—James E. Romig, close friend and business agent of the Bergdoll family, was arrested this evening for his actions in aiding Grover Cleveland Bergdoll in evading military service during the war.

Romig, unattended by counsel, presented himself at the office of H. B. Pierce, Superintendent of the Philadelphia division of the Department of Justice. Then, to prevent his being held in prison for one night, Federal agents whisked their prisoner to the home of Howard M. Long, United States Commissioner. There, in a hearing behind closed doors, Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, mother of the slacker and deserter, entered $5,000 bond for the appearance of Romig at a hearing at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning before H. R. Manley, the United States Commissioner who issued the warrant upon which the arrest was made.

The arrest was accomplished after Federal agents had driven in an automobile to Roslyn, where Romig makes his home. Arriving there, the agents learned that Romig was in the office of D. Clarence Gibboney, counsel for the Bergdolls. Joseph F. McDevitt, a Department of Justice agent, arranged a meeting with the accused man over the telephone. At this meeting the warrant was read to him and he was placed under arrest by a United States Marshal.

"I expected that all the time," was Romig's comment at the conclusion of the reading of the warrant. "I am sorry it was not done long ago and the suspense over with."

Romig will be tried in Baltimore, not in Philadelphia. That is because the crime of which he is accused was committed in Maryland. The warrant is based upon an indictment found in Baltimore.

BOSTON, May 27.—A report that Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, under sentence for draft evasion, who escaped from army officers at Philadelphia recently, had been seen in the North Station dressed in women's clothes, resulted in a squad of policemen being rushed to the station today. They did not find Bergdoll, but a railroad police officer told them a woman answering the description of the fugitive had been about the station, and he thought she might have boarded a Montreal train. Steps were taken to have the train searched at some point en route to Montreal.

A later report that the suspect had been seen leaving the station left some doubt in the minds of the police as to whether she had boarded the Montreal train. Special Officer Mullen said that the "woman" he noticed was accompanied by a man. They first went to a public telephone booth, but did not use the telephone, so far as he was able to see. They then left the station. He noticed the woman particularly because of her large feet and ankles, he said.

INITIATION IS FATAL TO CHEMICAL STUDENT

Young Salvadorean Dies from Ether Burns Received at Louisiana Ceremony.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 27.—Alfonso Quinonez, a special student from San Salvador, in the Sugar School of the Louisiana State University, died tonight of injuries received when he was burned with ether, according to members, at initiation ceremonies of the Alpha Chi Sigma fraternity several nights ago.

According to a signed statement given out tonight by J. D. Bond for the fraternity, an honorary chemical society, the accident occurred Monday night when Quinones was presented for initiation. According to the statement part of this ceremony consists of rubbing a portion of skin with ether. During this act the fumes became ignited and the can containing the ether was upset, the contents falling on Quinonez, who was enveloped in flames. He was taken immediately to a sanitarium, where his injuries were first thought to have been slight.

Drought Cuts Australian Wheat Crop.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The wheat crop of New South Wales has been so disastrously affected by drought that the yield probably will not be sufficient to meet domestic consumption in Australia, said a report today from the American consulate at Sydney. The crop was estimated at only 4,296,000 bushels, the smallest yield in twenty years.

UNIONS THREATEN TO TIE UP THIS PORT

of goods whether the man who drives a truck is a union man or a non-union man. We recognize the right of every man to work, and it is his right to join a union if he wants to or not to join one. Those rights are fundamental to the rights of Americans.

"Our feeling is that these principles are so important for the interests of the public, not only now but also for the future, that we intend to stand by them."

Hugh Frayne, organizer for the American Federation of Labor, said: "Instead of curing the evils, which the merchants expected to do by their plan, they are only aggravating the situation. As a matter of fact, no non-union men are working in the industries referred to. Is it the purpose of the merchants to non-unionize the present workmen, or to bring in non-union men?"

T. V. O'Connor, President of the International Longshoremen's Association, declared that any move for an "open shop" would result in a complete tieup of the port. "We do not believe that there is any widespread demand for the open shop," he said. "As far as the unions are concerned, we shall certainly not subscribe to any such plan."

Fail to Reach Agreement.

The committee's declaration was adopted following a conference yesterday with Mr. O'Connor in an attempt to settle the strike on the four coastwise companies' piers. The conference failed to bring about any agreement, and it was said that the steamship companies had not retreated from their position that the strikers must return to work before any promises of arbitration were made, and that the strikers were still insistent upon an arbitration agreement.

Both sides expressed themselves as "hopeful" of a favorable issue. Mr. O'Connor said that he would call a meeting of the longshoremen tomorrow or Sunday to present to them the proposals made by the steamship owners.

H. H. Raymond, a member of the Transportation Committee, and representative of the Clyde and Mallory steamship interests, acted as spokesman for the shipping committees at the conference. E. R. Richardson, President of the Ocean Steamship Line, refused to attend the meeting, saying there was nothing to arbitrate and that discussion on the union's proposals was futile. "We are satisfied with the way things are going now," Mr. Richardson said.

The rice supply of the city is cut off by the longshore strike, according to a statement yesterday by the Merchants' Association. The statement said that a wholesale dealer had reported that there is not a pound of spot rice obtainable in New York today. The Southern Pacific line, which is tied up by the strike, has thirteen steamers with a combined cargo of 1,000,000 pounds awaiting unloading here. Shipments on other lines that arrived here sixty days ago are still awaiting the attention of the stevedores.

The Southern Pacific Steamship Company has established a "telephone permit" system to avoid delay to trucks delivering freight for shipment. Prospective shippers are asked to telephone Watkins 4000 and ask for the permit clerk and state the name of the shipper, number of packages to be delivered, general character of the merchandise, approximate weight and time when delivery can be made. The permit clerk will give the shipper a number to designate the exact time when the freight can be received. The terms of the permit number can be determined by reference to a key furnished by the company.

Freight will also be accepted without permit, but the telephone system has been devised to eliminate truck detention on the piers.

Mabie

PICCADILLY was once the source of all correctness in men's clothes. Today only the cloth travels across the sea—and American skill converts it into a Mabie tailored-to-order suit than which there is nothing more correct.

Its value is as obvious as that of a certified check.

DISASTER IS FEARED IN RAILROAD CRISIS

A. H. Smith Tells Coal Operators Nation Faces Terrible Winter Unless Cars Are Obtained.

INDUSTRY NOW IN DISTRESS

Entire System "Stymied," Says Head of N. Y. Central—Plea for Increased Fares Indorsed.

ATLANTIC CITY, May 27.—The whole transportation system of the United States is "stymied," industries are in great distress, and the entire country will undergo a terrible crisis next Winter unless a way is found to get freight cars and rail equipment, according to A. H. Smith, President of the New York Central Railroad.

Mr. Smith addressed the National Coal Association in annual convention here today. The 1,000 bituminous operators in attendance then adopted resolutions indorsing an increase in freight rates.

Mr. Smith told the convention that $700,000,000 was needed immediately by the railroads to meet the equipment crisis.

"We have a tremendous problem ahead of us in furnishing the transportation needed by the country's industries," he said. "Unless we can get the money to do it, the critical situation will only become worse. The people do not realize how acute this situation is. Industries are in deep distress. The coal industry is in distress, the steel mills are in distress.

"The country is in more trouble than I think it ever has been in, even in time of war, because of the need of this vital necessity—transportation.

"I know we are going to have a great deal of trouble in the Winter. We need co-operation everywhere if this country is to find the way out. The whole transportation system of the country is 'stymied,' but I am optimist enough to believe we will be able to work out of the difficulty. To do it we must raise the money we need. We have simply got to do it."

The convention adopted a resolution deploring "the existing shortage of coal production," and declares that "the present condition is due solely to the lack of empty railroad cars in which to load coal at the mines and to the delays in transporting coal to destination."

In supporting the proposed rate increase the convention said:

"The coal industry desires assurance from the Interstate Commerce Commission that this indorsement of an immediate increase in all freight rates will not prejudice rights of any parties interested to obtain redress hereafter, first, if the differentials are inequitable as between different mines or different producing districts, and, second, if rates themselves are excessive, unreasonable or discriminatory."

The convention elected these officers: President, Daniel B. Wentz, Philadelphia; Vice Presidents, A. M. Ogle, Terre Haute, Ind.; Erskine Ramsay, Birmingham, Ala.; J. G. Bradley, Dundon, W. Va., and J. D. A. Morrow, Washington, D. C.; Secretary, W. B. Reed, Washington, D. C.; Treasurer, J. J. Tierney, Philadelphia.

J. W. THORNE ASKS DIVORCE.

Husband, in Colorado, in Counter Action Accuses Wife Here.

A counter action for divorce was filed in the Supreme Court yesterday by Joel Wolfe Thorne, son of the late Samuel Thorne, banker, in answer to the separation suit of his wife, Mary Casey Thorne. Mr. Thorne, who has been in Colorado operating a radium mine for several years, accuses his wife of misconduct with Raymond B. Wilson.

Randolph Gerard, attorney for Mrs. Thorne, yesterday said:

"Mr. Wilson is a detective employed by the plaintiff through me to prevent any scheme that might be made to 'frame' the plaintiff, from being successful. He is our employe. Mr. Thorne, who is 2,000 miles away has based his suit on misinformation."

Joel Wolfe Thorne, Jr., the son of the couple for whom the mother has been searching and who, she alleges, was kidnapped from her, is said to be with his father.

Mr. Thorne also filed an answer to his wife's separation suit charging abandonment and cruel treatment. He says it was impossible for him to live with her because of her excessive use of liquor. He alleges that in the Winter of 1917 when he was attending service at the Presbyterian Church at Madison Avenue and 121st Street his wife suddenly appeared and said she was "going to raise the devil." She was induced to leave, he said.

AUTHORIZES COLLECTION OF $1,000,000,000 TAXES

House Passes Treasury Bill to Settle Back Claims—Measure Affects Bond Exemptions.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Authority for the Treasury to make final settlement under which back taxes estimated at $1,000,000,000 will be paid to the Government is provided in a bill passed today by the House and sent to the Senate.

The measure amends the 1918 tax law. The Treasury's authority for making the final settlement of back tax claims or assessments also would extend to the future, the bill proposing that Treasury decisions, accepted by the taxpayer, shall not be reopened, modified or set aside by any official or court, except on a showing of fraud materially affecting the tax levy.

The legislation was asked by Treasury officials to enable them to promptly end finally dispose of pending tax cases.

Besides affecting the tax settlement, the bill would create additional Liberty Bonds exemptions. Bonds to the value of $125,000 held by one individual would be exempt from the income surtax, excess profits and war profits levies for two years after the proclamation of peace. The same exemptions on $50,000 would be granted for three years after that proclamation.

Numerous minor amendments to the 1918 revenue law also are proposed in the bill. Under one amendment net income realized from services rendered over a period of years, or from the sale of property held for a period of years, would be computed against the separate years instead of being considered a part of the income for the one year in which it was collected. The effect of this would be to reduce income surtax levies.

AUTO POLICE TO DON MUFTI.

New Plan to Curb Speeding to be Tried in Brooklyn Today.

Motor cycle policemen of the Traffic Division in Brooklyn will begin a campaign today to curb speeding automobilists and reckless chauffeurs and will wear civilian clothing and use other means to conceal their official status. The new rule was adopted by Police Commissioner Enright at the suggestion of Mayor Hylan, it was said, and if it brings the success expected for it in the Brooklyn district it will be extended to both Manhattan and the Bronx.

Recently Mayor Hylan suggested an ordinance to regulate speed with a view of curbing especially careless drivers of trucks. With the opening of the resorts at the beaches, to which thousands of cars pass back and forth from the city day and night, it was decided the present was the best time to begin measures of safety, pending legal ordinances by the Aldermen.

MARIA TUCCI IS CONVICTED.

Jury Returns Verdict of Manslaughter in First Degree.

Maria Tucci, 20 years old, who had been on trial in General Sessions since Monday on the charge of murdering her sister, Mrs. Angelina Conti, was convicted last night of manslaughter in the first degree. The case had been considered by the jury for nearly twelve hours when it finally reached the verdict at 11 o'clock. Miss Tucci was remanded for sentence on June 7. The maximum penalty is twenty years.

Mrs. Conti was shot to death in her home at 99 West Houston Street on March 8. Miss Tucci fled to Atlantic City, where she surrendered herself to the police. Her niece Conchettia, 9 years old, daughter of Mrs. Conti, whom she took with her in her flight, testified that she had seen her aunt shoot her mother. Miss Tucci pleaded self-defense and attacked the character of her sister, declaring the latter had threatened her because she refused the attentions of an unwelcome suitor. She declared that Mrs. Conti had tried to force her to accept the man, threatening her with a knife and revolver, which, she asserted, was fired when she fought to protect herself.

Prices Falling Rapidly in France.

PARIS, May 27.—Concern is felt in commercial markets throughout France because of a rapid decline in prices of stable commodities. In the past thirty days cotton has declined 244 francs per 50 kilograms in the Havre market, while coffee has fallen 70 and wool 35 points.

"Happiness in Every Box"

AGAIN—We Thank You!

THE Birthday Party of our first downtown store, which opened yesterday in the Hudson Terminal Building on Cortlandt Street, was a most gratifying success. All day long the store was thronged with people from downtown New York, from Brooklyn, and from Jersey—and we thank them all most warmly for the kind things they said about United Candy and about the Store—which was most generally described as a "Perfect Jewel Box."

To those who did not have an opportunity to see the new store yesterday, we beg to extend a special invitation for today and tomorrow. We believe it is well worth a visit, being in its way as unique as "The Largest Candy Store in the World", which from the opening day has drawn such great crowds on 42nd Street.

"Birthday Week" Specials

At Both Stores

To signalize the opening of our first downtown store we are offering this extra list of specials for this Week-End at both of our stores.

Home Made Candy Assortment
There will be a great call for candy over the "Three Day Holiday," but it will be amply met with this 2½ lb. package filled with delicious home made candies. Almond Nougat Assortment, Pecan Apricot Mallow, Turkish Paste, Almond Apricot Mallow, Peppermint and Wintergreen Wafers. For Friday and Saturday only. this package will be on sale at both of our stores, 2½ pounds $1.49

Louisiana Molasses Mixed
As an added special for the holidays we are offering these delicious candies made of golden molasses and cane sugar. They are the good old fashioned, long-lasting hard candies made in various shapes such as squares, rolls, chips, sticks. Packed in a beautifully decorated tin. For Friday and Saturday only, at both of our stores 51c lb.

Jersey Milk Chocolates
Assorted Creams, Nougatines, Caramels, Cherries, Fruits and Nuts, each covered with rich milk chocolate. This assortment is a striking example of what we offer in quality candies at an unusually low price. This package will compare in quality and richness with any $1 or $1.25 package. Special for the remainder of the week 75c lb.

Sparkling Mixed

Chocolate and Vanilla Walnut Fudge
The old-fashioned creamy chafing dish kind, filled with chopped walnut meats. Pure creamy butter, rich cream, cane sugar, vanilla and chocolate flavors are used to make this fudge a worthy reminder of our first downtown birthday celebration. Special for the remainder of Birthday Week 54c lb.

GUARD'S SLAYERS DIE IN SING SING CHAIR

Janowski and Levandowski Feast Calmly and Meet Fate Stolidly.

"HAPPIEST DAY," SAYS ONE

Other Calls on Executioner to Do His Work Well—Both Tubercular Patients.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, N. Y., May 27.—Leo Jankowski and Walter Levandowski, former life-term prisoners at Dannemora, who were convicted of killing a guard in their attempt to escape, died tonight in the electric chair. Levandowski continued to the last to assert that his companion was innocent.

Levandowski, who was the first to die, entered the death chamber at 11:22, saying:

"It's a pleasure, gentlemen."

Twelve minutes later Jankowski was led to the chair. At the death chamber a gleam of recognition appeared on his face as he saw John Hulbert, the electrician who handles the switch controlling the electric current. Jankowski worked as an electrician's helper under Hulbert at Auburn Prison, whence he was transferred to Dannemora. Jankowski had been greatly interested in the fact that he was to die at the hands of an acquaintance. He called out:

"I'm going over the top. Do a good job, John."

Both men were tubercular patients and had but a short time to live in any event. Governor Smith had been urged to pardon them on the plea that they were doomed to die in a short time under any circumstances. This plea was offset by the argument that it would be a bad precedent to allow them to go unpunished, after killing a guard, because it would encourage others serving life sentences to attempt to kill their keepers and escape, in the belief that they had nothing to lose and would merely have to go on serving their life terms if they committed murder in unsuccessful attempts to escape.

The prisoners seemed indifferent whether they ended their life in bed or in the electric chair. When he was asked today how he felt, Levandowski said:

"I was never so happy in my life."

The two prisoners, who have undergone much suffering in the deathhouse because of their physical condition, abandoned themselves to the fullest enjoyment possible in their last hours, eating meals which would have been disastrous to patients living to suffer the consequences. Their last meal in the evening consisted of roast chicken, noodles, corn, ice cream, layer cake, lemonade and candy, followed by cigars and cigarettes. At noon they had lobster salad, steak and fried potatoes, corn, lemon pie and coffee.

After the evening meal they began to take things more seriously. Father William E. Cashin came in and prayed with them. Neither man had any hope of a reprieve.

AUDITORE AUTOPSY HELD.

Medical Examiners Refuse to Make Statement as to Result.

No statement was made yesterday by any of the medical examiners present at the autopsy on the body of Joseph Auditore, known as the millionaire stevedore, who died May 9, two days after a will was drawn containing provisions objected to by members of his family.

Auditore's body was taken from Greenwood Cemetery to the Kings County Morgue, where the autopsy was performed by Dr. Ernest N. Vaughn of the Kings County District Attorney's office, and Dr. Otto Schultze, Medical Examiner for the New York County District Attorney's office. Dr. A. O. Gettler, chemical analyst for Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner, also was present, as were Detective John McGowan, attached to District Attorney Harry E. Lewis's office, and two stenographers. No member of the Auditore family was present.

Dr. Vaughn said he had been instructed by Mr. Lewis to make no statement concerning the result of his examination of Auditore's body. His preliminary report, he said, will not be made to Mr. Lewis until today, and it will be several days before results of the chemical examination will be known.

KNICKERBOCKER CLOSES.

Hotel Ends Business After Dinner Without Any Ceremony.

When the service of dinner ended last night about 10 o'clock, the Hotel Knickerbocker, fourteen years one of the city's best-known hotels, closed. Practically all the guests had departed within the last few days and the closing was without ceremonies.

It could not be learned yesterday when the work of remodeling the structure for offices would be begun. The hotel, managed by James E. Regan, was sold early this month to a syndicate, headed by Vincent Astor. Mr. Regan reiterated his declaration that prohibition had not forced him from the hotel business, repeating that "after thirty-eight years as a hotel man, I think I have earned a rest."

For years Enrico Caruso maintained a suite in the hotel. It was said that the singer, now abroad, probably would live at his country home on Long Island upon his return, until he could solve his housing problem.

DIVORCED WIFE A LEGATEE.

Another Divorced Wife, Not an Heir, Files a Waiver.

The will, filed here yesterday, of James B. Hargus, who died on the 3d inst. at his home, 36 East Fortieth Street, divides his residuary estate into five parts. One of the five is left to Betty Hargus, a wife who divorced him, lately of Terre Haute, Ind., but living now a few doors further down on East Fortieth Street—at No. 149. The will reveals another wife, living at 232 Valley Road, Montclair, N. J., who also divorced him. There is no legacy to her, but she has filed a waiver of all interest in his estate.

The executors are directed to continue as a going business the Bureau of National Literature, of which decedent was the owner. The other four parts of the estate are for a brother, William H. Hargus of 86 North Ninth Street, Newark, N. J.; his nephew, James Hargus, Louis H. Freedman of Sound Beach, Conn., and Mrs. Dorothy B. Uden, whose address is given as the Holland Hotel, Cleveland, Ohio.

CHURCH MARKS 96TH YEAR.

Bishop Lloyd and Dr. Guthrie, Vicar, Make Addresses.

All Saints Protestant Episcopal Church, at Henry and Scammel Streets, celebrated the ninety-sixth anniversary of its founding last night. Dr. Kenneth Sylvan Guthrie, the vicar, told of the history of the church and the work it has done. Bishop Arthur Selden Lloyd spoke of the future of the church.

After the services Dr. Guthrie took those present through the old galleries where in the days before the civil war the slaves worshipped. Dr. Guthrie also told of the escape from the church of William M. Tweed, when, as a fugitive from justice h chad come there to attend the funeral services of his mother. Tweed learned during the services that police were waiting outside the church. He eluded them by going out through a window.

"MOONSHINER" GETS YEAR.

Six Months' Sentence for Another—Each Also Fined $600.

In sentencing two convicted men yesterday for operating an illicit still, Federal Judge A. N. Hand announced he intended to deal severely with all such offenders. The prisoners were John Fantini and Cesare Allemanni, who operated the still in a stable in the Bronx. It was of sufficient capacity to produce 500 gallons a day.

Fantini was sentenced to one year and one day in the Federal Prison at Atlanta and Allemanni to six months. Each was fined $600. The defendants were released on $500 bail each, pending an appeal.

STRIKERS RAID BARBER SHOP

Striking barbers invaded a shop at 248 West Thirty-fourth Street yesterday afternoon and drove out two aged barbers and several customers. It took the police reserves of the West Thirtieth Street and the West Thirty-seventh Street Stations to restore order and rescue the two barbers. Seventeen strikers were arrested.

Policeman Katz, on duty near the Pennsylvania Station, heard cries for help from the barber's shop. He ran to the place and found a crowd of strikers attacking the two barbers, who had not joined the strike. He sent in a call for the reserves, and the seventeen strikers were arrested after a fight. Magistrate Levine, in the West Side Court, fined the prisoners $2 each and warned them against picketing in a disorderly manner.

CORDON BLEU—

Or the blue ribbon—was the badge of the highest order of the old French monarchy.

Several nobles of this order established a club where perfectly cooked dinners were served.

These dinners became so famous that Cordon Bleu came to mean a first-class cook.

Only a Cordon Bleu could produce the beef or lamb stew served at CHILDS.

SUSPENSION RULE REPORTED TO HOUSE

Republican Leaders Hope to Use It to Force Bonus Bill Through.

INSURGENTS IN FILIBUSTER

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The House Rules Committee today, by a vote of 5 to 4, reported a rule to make suspension days in order the last days of this session, beginning with tomorrow. This was adopted as the first step toward passing the Bonus bill without giving the opposition an opportunity to offer amendments.

After the committee had taken this action it was reported that the Republican leaders would not be able to move for the adoption of the suspension rule and the passage of the Bonus bill tomorrow. While opposition is becoming less among the forty-nine bolting Republicans and Democrats, the leaders are not certain that they can command a two-thirds majority under a suspension rule. Until this is assured it is not probable that the House will consider the Bonus bill.

Under a suspension of the rule motion, the vote comes directly on the bill itself and not upon the rule, as would be the case if the special rule reported by the Rules Committee last Saturday were considered. Only a majority vote is necessary to change the rules of the House, making it regular to move a suspension of the rules on any of the remaining days of the session. If the House should adopt this motion it would be in order for a motion to be offered to "suspend the rule and pass without amendment the Bonus bill." As it places the insurgent members directly in a position of voting against the bill the opposition is not so great as early in the week. Democratic leaders say not more than seventy-five Democrats would vote against such a motion and if the Republicans can reduce their opposition by seventeen, it is declared that the Bonus bill, as reported last week, will be passed by the House early next week.

Insurgency broke out in the House late today during consideration of a bill to modify the revenue laws. Republicans began to filibuster and announced privately that they would hold up the House until the leaders actually promised to call up the Bonus bill. It disappeared after half an hour of dilatory efforts, including demands for a quorum.

The situation in the House is actually such that it is doubtful whether there will be any action on the Bonus bill at this session. Representative George S. Graham issued a statement of his views, in which forty-eight Republicans concurred last week. The statement says in part:

"Laying aside altogether for the time being the question whether such legislation is right or wrong, I have serious objections to the bill as it has been framed with regard to the reclamation scheme introduced into it and also with regard to the other items of taxation as reported. Appeals have been made to sentiment in behalf of the soldier and with all such appeals I am in entire sympathy. The gratitude of the nation is due to its soldiers, who either voluntarily or by selection have done such wonderful service abroad and at home.

"I am sure that a soldier who offered his life for the service of his country would not ask for legislation that would imperil the nation's business welfare.

Charges Baruch Got War Profits.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Advocates of the Bonus bill served notice in the House today that beginning tomorrow they would seek to block all legislation until the measure was brought up for passage. Representative Mason, Republican of Illinois, made such an announcement amid loud applause, and later Representative Murphy, Republican of Ohio, repeated it.

"We are tired of this confidence game," declared Mr. Mason.

Mr. Mason, in answering affirmatively a question by Representative Rainey, Democrat, of Illinois, as to whether the former favored an 80 per cent. war profits tax to finance the proposal, said:

"I am willing to support such a proposal, but I am afraid what you offer is not to help but to defeat the legislation that the soldiers want. I am willing to vote to have your Attorney General bring suit against Barney Baruch, the chief man, the closest man to the President of the United States, who stole $50,000,000 in copper alone."

ANTI-BONUS FIGHT GROWS.

More Disabled Veterans and Legion Men Join Campaign.

Disabled war veterans, American Legion men and many men in public life are joining in the campaign against cash bonuses for those who served in the war, according to the Committee for Aid to Disabled Veterans of 1,184 Broadway.

More than 800 disabled men, who are now being cared for in Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, have gone on record against the cash bonus bill now before Congress. The wounded men have drafted resolutions and have sent copies to every Congressman, together with a letter, in which they say that the bonus measure will delay action by Congress looking toward relief for the disabled.

MAN IN STOLEN AUTO SHOT AFTER A CHASE

Charles Burke, 20 years old, an automobile mechanic, was shot by a policeman and then arrested last night after a chase through Sixtieth Street and Madison and Lexington Avenues. He is alleged to have attempted to take an automobile owned by Thomas Weitermeyer of 42 Hedges Place, Jamaica, Long Island. He is charged with grand larceny and felonious assault.

Shortly before 11 o'clock Weitermeyer left his car standing at Madison Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street and went into a store. When he returned, a man was in his automobile. Weitermeyer shouted. The man drew a revolver, and started the car.

Weitermeyer, joined by dozens of passers-by, pursued the car on foot. The noise attracted Corporal Alex Swenson, who commandeered a passing automobile and gave chase. When the fleeing automobile turned into Lexington Avenue Swenson was only a short distance behind. The fugitive shut off the power and leaped from the machine.

He ran toward the subway station at Lexington Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street. There he saw two policemen and turning about, ran into Sixtieth Street, where the gas mains are being repaired.

Dodging behind some pipes in the street and entrenching himself, the fugitive leveled his revolver at his pursuers. Swenson fired. The man fell, wounded in the hand.

Burke was taken to Bellevue Hospital. He gave his address as 490 Carey Avenue, West Brighton, Staten Island.

A Sale of Men's Suits and Topcoats

Repriced for Decoration Day Week-End

$46 $56 $66 $73

FOR a special Week-End selling we are adding a large number of suits to our $46 and $56 groups that have been proving so popular.

In addition we are taking many of the finest suits from our higher grade lines and repricing them in two new groups at $66 and $73. These are extremely fine suits both in tailoring and fabrics, and have been selling at much higher prices.

They are plain blues and grays, as well as a plentiful selection of stripes, herringbones, checks and mixtures.

English Topcoats

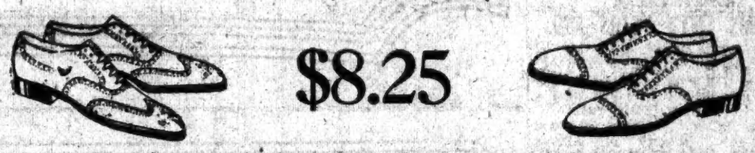
Many men have been taking advantage of the opportunity of securing a really fine London topcoat at $45, and we are glad a new shipment of the same quality will permit us to continue this offering.

An equally good value for the man who wants a coat of a trifle more formal cut is our domestic Chesterfield in gray, which we are selling at the same low price.

A Sale of

Men's Low Shoes

Today and Saturday



$8.25

$8.25 for a really dependable shoe is unusual these days, but at this low price we are offering several excellent models in both black and tan—values that will mean quick selling.

LAWYERS DENOUNCE RAIDS ON RADICALS

CALLS HIS METHODS BRUTAL

Report Compares Them with Those of Old Russia—Post Praised for Deportation Policy.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Charges that the anti-radical raids made by the Department of Justice last Winter were conducted with cruelty comparable to that employed by the Russian secret police are made in a report given out today by the National Popular Government League. Twelve lawyers signed the report, which alleges lawlessness, cruelty and persecution on a wholesale scale by the Government agents.

The signers of the report are: Roscoe Pound, Dean of the Law School, Harvard; Tyrrell Williams, Dean of the Washington University Law School; Frank P. Walsh of New York City, David Wallerstein of Philadelphia, Jackson H. Ralston of Washington, ex-Judge Alfred Niles of Baltimore, professor in Maryland University Law School; Francis Fisher Kane, who recently resigned as District Attorney in Philadelphia; Felix Frankfurter, professor of law at Harvard; Swinburne Hale of New York, Ernst Freund, professor in the Law School of the University of Chicago; R. G. Brown of Memphis, Tenn., and Professor Zechariah Chafee, Jr., of Harvard Law School.

Attorney General Palmer and William J. Flynn, Chief of the Bureau of Investigation, are violently attacked. On the other hand, lawyers praise Louis F. Post, Assistant Secretary of Labor, for his "courageous re-establishment of American constitutional law in deportation proceedings."

Among the charges made in the report are the following:

Maintenance by the department of agents provocateurs throughout the country for the purpose of joining and becoming officers of radical organizations and inciting their members to criminal activities.

Wholesale arrest and imprisonment of men and women without warrants, or pretense of warrants, and illegal searches and seizures, in violation of the Constitution.

Forgery by agents of the department to make cases against innocent persons caught in illegal raids.

Criminal thefts of money, watches, jewelry and other personal property from victims of raids by agents of the department.

Cruel and unusual punishments visited upon prisoners taken into custody with and without warrants, in violation of the Constitution.

Use of Government funds in violation of law to spread newspaper propaganda favorable to campaign of repression and to purchase "boiler plate" distributed free to country newspapers to create popular opinion favorable to acts of the department.

Report Disclaims Radicalism.

"We make no argument in favor of any radical doctrine as such, whether Socialist, Communist or anarchist," the report says. "No one of us belongs to any of these schools of thought nor do we now raise any question as to the constitutional protection of free speech and a free press. We are concerned solely with bringing to the attention of the American people the utterly illegal acts which have been committed by those charged with the highest duty of enforcing the laws, acts which have caused widespread suffering and unrest, have struck at the foundation of American free institutions and have brought the name of our country into disrepute."

The office of the Attorney General, "under guise of a campaign for suppression of radical activities," the report says, "acting by its local agents throughout the country and giving express instructions from Washington, has committed continual illegal acts. Wholesale arrests, both of aliens and citizens, have been made without warrant or any process of law; men and women have been jailed and held incommunicado without access of friends or counsel; homes have been entered without search warrant and property seized and removed; other property has been wantonly destroyed; working men and working women suspected of radical views have been shamefully abused and maltreated; agents of the Department of Justice have been introduced into radical organizations for the purpose of informing upon their members or inciting them to activities; these agents have been instructed from Washington to arrange meetings upon certain dates for the express object of facilitating wholesale raids and arrests.

"In support of these illegal acts and to create sentiment in its favor, the Department of Justice has also constituted itself a propaganda bureau and has sent to newspapers and magazines of the country quantities of material designed to excite public opinion against radicals, all at the expense of the Government and outside the scope of the Attorney General's duties.

"American institutions have not in fact been protected by the Attorney General's ruthless suppression. On the contrary, those institutions have been seriously undermined and revolutionary unrest vastly intensified. No organization of radicals acting through propaganda over the last six months could have created as much revolutionary sentiment in America as has been created by the acts of the Department of Justice itself."

Brutality Charged in Raid Here.

The treatment of radicals in the steel and coal strikes in Hartford, Buffalo, Detroit and New York City is declared to have been "shocking" and brutal. The raid on the Russian People's House, 133 East Fifteenth Street, New York, last November, is dealt with at some length.

It is understood that the Department of Justice has seen copies of the report and will probably make a reply tomorrow.

DEBS IN PRISON GARB TO RECEIVE NOTIFIERS

Warden Says Socialists Arriving Tomorrow May Freely Greet Their Presidential Nominee.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 27.—In a small room at the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary and under the watchful eye of a guard, Eugene V. Debs, serving a ten-year term for violation of the Espionage act, will be formally notified on Saturday morning that the Socialist Party has nominated him for President.

No special preparations had been made tonight for the ceremony, but Warden Zerbst said that the notification committee, which left New York today, was due at the penitentiary Saturday morning and would be allowed to communicate with the prisoner.

The usual time limit for visitors is thirty minutes, but Mr. Zerbst said this had been extended on occasions when "there was real business" to transact. He indicated that the notification to Debs that he had again been selected for the highest honor his party can offer would be considered of that nature.

Asked if the Presidential candidate would receive his notification committee in the prison garb of blue denim, the warden replied that so far as he knew now, this would be the case.

Debs has comparatively light work in the prison hospital, and according to all that could be learned tonight he will be called from those duties on arrival of the visitors, headed by Seymour Sedman, the party's candidate for Vice President.

Whether Debs was prepared to say anything to the committee in the nature of an address of acceptance, or to make public a statement giving his views on the Presidential race, could not be learned.

CUSTOMS FIFTY YEARS AGO.

Who among us would say to-day, "I never use a Dentifrice, I never have to!"

Yet Fifty years ago, odd as it may seem, not one person in 1,000 used a Dentifrice—or even a tooth brush.

So to-day, after more than 30 years of persistent publicity of Allen's Foot-Ease, the Antiseptic Powder for the Feet, not many well-turned-out people care to confess, "You know I never have to use a Powder for the Feet!"

And yet, more than One Million five hundred thousand pounds of Powder for the Feet were used by our Army and Navy during the war.

The reason is this: Confining the feet in Leather or Canvas Shoes is bound to create friction, more or less. Allen's Foot-Ease removes the friction from the shoes. You know what friction does to your motor-car axle. Why not remove it from your foot-wear by Shaking into your Shoes today, Allen's Foot-Ease, the cleanly, wholesome, healing, Antiseptic powder? Get the habit, as millions now have it, who inhabit our, as yet, imperfect world.

That beginning with the publication of this advertisement and continuing until further notice they will retail MEN'S SHOES of all grades at a profit of

ONE DOLLAR PER PAIR

We do this for two reasons—

Reason No. 1—We think the present price of shoes is an unreasonable and unjustified burden on the public, which if maintained will result in danger to the industry.

Reason No. 2—We want our shoes to be as well known and as widely used as are our other lines of merchandise.

The shoes are made for us by Nettleton and other makers equally well known. They are all leather. There is a "fit for every foot."

Under this arrangement you will be able to buy from us for $10.00 and $14.50 shoes which are offered elsewhere for $15.00 and $21.50.

The Country Club—In All Leathers—One of Many Models

"I demand for myself absolute comfort in shoes which are at the same time smart looking, well fitting and long wearing, and I won't expect any other man to demand less."
Chas. O. Emerson

MANY years ago I decided that the best way to protect my customers against excessive profits was to stamp a fair and square retail price on the soles of my store shoes, based on the actual factory cost of labor and materials.

By enlarging my production from year to year I have been able to keep this selling price remarkably low in spite of the greatly increased cost of all materials and labor.

I have always felt that it was better policy to make many shoes at a low profit than a few shoes at a larger profit.

The fact that I have increased my sales ten times in the past six years is proof positive that the general public appreciate this policy.

Our shoes cannot be marked up at one season of the year just to hold so called "Marked Down Sales" at another season. I never ask you to pay more for a shoe than it is actually worth.

Come into our store and put this to the test. Inspect our styles and prices—and if you aren't convinced that you are getting more for your money in Emerson Shoes than in any others, I will not expect or want you to buy.

MEXICAN FORCES START AFTER VILLA

Three Columns Are Converging on His Retreat in the Mountains of Chihuahua.

$50,000 FOR HIS CAPTURE

New Government Is Said to Have Offered Big Reward—De la Huerta at Mazatlan.

EL PASO, Texas, May 27.—The de facto Government of Mexico has begun its threatened campaign against Francisco Villa.

Advices received here today indicate that at least three commands have been sent into the mountains of the Parral district to hunt down the bandit, and that Villa will have to do the fastest dodging of his career if he is to escape the cordon of troops closing in on his bands.

With forces under Generals Ignacio Enriquez and Marcelo Caraveo already in the field, it is reported that General J. Gonzalez Escobar, newly appointed military commander of the State of Chihuahua, started toward El Valle from Jiminez last night with 1,000 men. At last report Villa was waiting at El Valle for final word from General P. Elias Calles, on his demand that he be appointed to replace Escobar.

Between Escobar and Villa the bitterest enmity exists. The former was one of the jury which passed a sentence of death on General Felipe Angeles, Villa's military idol, and the bandit has sworn he must pay with his own life.

Further efforts to persuade Francisco Villa to lay down his arms would be futile, according to General Ignacio Enriques, Commander of the Chihuahua Defensas Sociales, who telegraphed the Mexican Consulate here today that the de facto Government can settle the "Villa problem" only by force of arms.

General Enriques had been asked by the Consulate to confirm the report that Homer Carr, examining engineer for the American Smelting and Refining Company, had been taken from a train at Jimenez by Villista soldiers.

"I do not knew if the American you refer to has been captured by Villa," he wired in reply. "Mr. Millar, manager of the Alvarado Mining Company, was released by him, but he wants to exact $50,000 from the company. Otherwise he threatens to cut off its electric current.

"Yesterday I had a telegraphic conference with Villa and I was convinced it is impossible to make any arrangements whatsoever. He pretends to be Commander in Chief of the State.

"Chieftains under Villa are ready to surrender. The only way open to the Government is to fight Villa."

Operations of the Alvarado Mining and Milling Company have been suspended since May 22 because of the company's refusal to pay a $50,000 "protection tax" to Francisco Villa, according to an announcement made here today by T. G. Hawkins, Jr., Vice President in charge of operations.

It was in an effort to dissuade Villa from carrying out a threat to destroy all properties of the company in territory under his control that George Millar, Alvarado, Superintendent at Parral, spent more than a week in the bandit's camp at Boquilla, Mr. Hawkins said. Millar, who arrived in El Paso yesterday evening, had not been actually a prisoner, it was said.

Friends of Homer Carr, reported captured by Villa, were reassured today by a wire from W. M. Drury, manager of the American Smelting and Refining Company's mining department, who said there was "nothing to the kidnapping report."

Adolfo de la Huerta, Provisional President of Mexico, left Mazatlan for Manzanillo today aboard the gunboat Guerrero, according to a dispatch received at the Mexican Consulate here. He is en route to Mexico City.

The same dispatch reported that rebel forces of Cruz and Medina, having acknowledged the Agua Prieta covenant, are at Mazatlan, subordinated to General Flores, and that General Roberto Cruz has been appointed chief of military operations at Nayarit.

OPEN DOOR POLICY IN MEXICO.

Antonio Manero, on Visit Here, Says Foreigners Will Be Protected.

Antonio Manero, who headed the banking commission of the late President Carransa of Mexico, and who described himself as a warm personal friend of General Obregon and of Provisional President de la Huerta, in an interview in the Hotel Astor last night, said:

"I can assure you, unofficially but positively, that the policy of the new Government of Mexico will be the "open door." Foreign capital will be invited to come to Mexico, and it will be protected. No monopolies will be tolerated. I will be glad to act as mediator between capitalists of the United States and the new Government, in which I expect to have a place.

"Señor de la Huerta long has been a friend of mine, and I was with him in Sonora until four or five days before he was notified that he was Provisional President. I know well the opinions of General Obregon also. Both are convinced that the only policy for Mexico is one of mutual friendship and trust with the United States, and cordial business relations with the rest of the world."

Señor Manero said that he parted with President Carranza because of the latter's shortsighted policies which were due to "bad advisers." He plans to return to Mexico on June 1.

Copies of telegrams signed by Alvaro Obregon and Sanchez Abcona, the latter acting Secretary for Foreign Affairs in Mexico City, made public here yesterday by Manuel de la Pena, commercial agent of the Liberal Constitutional Government of Mexico, depose Mena Brito as Consul General of Mexico at New York.

Señor Brito, however, said that he still is in charge of the office and added that all announcements regarding any consular matters must come from the Embassy at Washington.

The telegrams made public by Señor de la Pena, the latter said, were in reply to one sent by him to General Obregon asking that the consular situation here be cleared up and advising him that Brito had refused to turn the office over to him.

PRINCE MURAT IS INDICTED.

Extradition May Be Sought Over Returned $2,000 Check.

Prince Michel Murat of Paris was indicted yesterday by the May Grand Jury on a charge of grand larceny involving a check for $2,000 for a fur purchase in July, 1919. The Prince, who had served in the French Army during the war, was a visitor here last year, accompanied by his American wife. H. E. Watson of 4 West Forty-fifth Street delivered the furs to Murat at Saratoga. Murat's check, drawn on the Guaranty Trust Company, Watson charged, came back marked "insufficient funds."

After the Murats had returned to Paris a payment of $500 was made on account of the check, Watson testified. Murat is reported to have said that the low rate of French exchange and the difficulties of realizing on his invested funds had caused delay in payment.

The indictment was handed up to Judge Crain in General Sessions. Assistant District Attorney E. P. Kilroe, who presented the case to the Grand Jury, said a bench warrant would be asked for if proper settlement was not promptly made.

Black, brown, midnight blue.

Checked "gingham" silk afternoon frocks in the model illustrated.

The silk is in blue and green and rose on a white ground. Vestee of fine cream colored net pleated and edged with Valenciennes lace and made over flesh colored satin. Blue and scarlet moire ribbon and a cluster of field flowers at the girdle give the frock a final charm.

Second floor, Old Building.

Hand-made French Frocks

Cotton voile and crepe, $39 to $79.50 grades

At $21.50 to $59.50

Less 20 per cent.

Voile in delicate mauve, blue and shell pink, combined with white voile or made lovely with fine chalk-white hand beading in smart designs. Many of the frocks are ornamented with fine hand-drawn work and tucks. Some are beautifully embroidered with a fine motif repeated all over the frock and then edged with net footing.

The frock at the right, white voile with a gentian blue voile jacket, piped with white. $39.50.

Second floor, Old Building.

Bewitching Beach Hats

Less 20 per cent.

The Millinery Salons have secured a special group of unusually charming hats to sell for $8—less 20 per cent.—for the benefit of women who are going to the shore or the country over Decoration Day.

Georgette crepe and taffeta in a variety of dainty colors; blue, shell pink, green, lavender and white.

Large and medium shapes—the kind women want for Summer wear—predominating, and the eminently appropriate trimmings are ostrich feathers or field flowers, both most tastefully introduced.

The ARMONIOLA

A very good phonograph produced for us to sell at $150—which we should be glad to have you compare with any other at $200

The ARMONIOLA is the best phonograph that could be assembled with the latest improvements to play all records, to sell for $150 on the basis of quantity production.

It plays more records with one winding than any other phonograph under $250.

It has a larger cabinet, of genuine quarter-sawed oak or mahogany finish, handsome of design, beautifully finished inside, fitted with six twelve-inch albums, each of which will hold 12 records.

$6.50 down

$6.50 down and $6.50 a month will buy the ARMONIOLA if you deduct from the regular price the 20 per cent. which we offer for a limited time.

But you may, if you wish, pay the regular price for the ARMONIOLA ($150) and take your 20 per cent. discount in records—$30 worth. In that case you pay $7.50 down and $7.50 a month until the $150 is paid. The $30 of records you select will be delivered with the ARMONIOLA.

$150—less $30 for a limited time

We are prepared to take care of a large business in ARMONIOLAS, and suggest that any one wishing a phonograph or talking machine look into this offer while it lasts.

BANK CASHIER SHORT COMMITS SUICIDE

DEFAULT IN HARTFORD BANK

Teller Confesses to Doctor, Who Takes Stolen Money and Tells Man's Wife.

VERGENNES, Vt., May 27.—Charles Strong, Cashier of the First National Bank of this city, committed suicide today by shooting in the presence of bank officials.

Bank examiners were at work on the books of the institution today, and officials of the bank said tonight that there was a shortage in the accounts, but they were unable to say how much.

Strong was 62 years old and had been in the employ of the bank for forty years, the last twenty as Cashier. He was prominent in church and civic work and so far as is known had never engaged in speculative enterprises.

Hartford Teller Held for $35,000 Theft.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 27. — With $10,000 in his pocket, Augustus H. Schumacher, for many years a trusted teller of the Phoenix National Bank, one of the largest in New England, was detained last night and today was arrested and committed to jail for presentation before the Federal Grand Jury next Tuesday on the charge of having embezzled about $35,000 during the last ten years, in spite of the fact that the Phoenix is reputed to have the safest kind of bookkeeping and checking system, has recently had both Federal and private audit and examination and within a year has had another teller sent to Atlanta for embezzlement.

Suspicion of Schumacher was aroused on the occasion of his temporary absence from business. After reporting at the bank in the morning, opening his teller's cage and laying out his cash, he notified an officer of the bank that his mother was sick and he wished to drive her to a doctor's office. Soon after he left the bank it was reported to Arthur D. Johnson, the cashier, that the account of a large depositor was drawn down to a much lower point than usual, but not overdrawn. Johnson telephoned the depositor, asking him how large a deposit he had made the day before. The amount was stated, and then Schumacher's cage was unlocked and an examination made of his cash, which was found to total properly.

When Schumacher returned soon afterward he was questioned about the deposit made the day before, and asked why it had not been turned in. His reply was that it was made too late in the afternoon for record, and he had the memorandum on his spindle. He was then asked where the cash was, and he replied that it was in his cash account. It was pointed out that it was not in his cash, and he then left the cage abruptly and started to leave the bank, saying that he had been insulted. President Leon Broadhurst intercepted Schumacher on his way to door, saying, "You can't leave like that, Gus; let's talk it over," but Schumacher brushed him aside and left the bank. The investigation then started in earnest and revealed the shortage of $34,700.

After the scene in the bank he drove around town in his automobile. At the end of two hours' time he appeared at the office of Dr. Gustave A. André, with whom he was well acquainted. He told Dr. André he was in a highly nervous condition and must have relief. He said his nerves were shattered, and he feared what act he might commit. Dr. André questioned him as to the cause of his trouble, and finally asked if his accounts at the bank were all right. Schumacher confessed to Dr. André that he was a defaulter. He said that he had $10,000 in his pocket as get away money, and wanted to be "fixed up" so that he could drive his car. The doctor told him that he was in no condition to drive; that he must stay at the doctor's house overnight; that he would get something that would make him sleep, and that in the morning he would be feeling much better and could then do as he pleased. Schumacher agreed to this, and Dr. André gave him a hypodermic injection in the arm. Schumacher soon went to sleep. After he had lost consciousness Dr. André took the roll of $10,000 from his pocket and drove to Schumacher's home, where he left the money with Mrs. Schumacher, telling her at the same time of her husband's confession to him that he was a defaulter.

GEN. WINGATE REPLIES TO MEMORIAL CRITIC

Tells LaGuardia Victory Hall Association Had No Funds to Buy the Site from the City.

General George W. Wingate, President of Victory Hall Association, yesterday answered President LaGuardia of the Board of Aldermen who criticized the association for not buying from the city at auction Wednesday the site for the proposed war memorial.

"Following the failure of the sale of the Grand Union site," said General Wingate, "President LaGuardia is reported as demanding that 'the Victory Hall Association declare whether it actually has the $11,000,000 its officers have repeatedly stated it has' . . . and if it has 'why did they not bid for the property?' and it is time 'that the people knew what is back of the movement.'

"I am at a loss to understand why Major LaGuardia should make this statement. Not only has the asspciation not got $11,000,000, but its officers, so far from asserting that it has, have repeatedly denied the assertion.

"The officers of the association have never had any doubt that the drive which we are planning will insure us the money necessary to buy the whole of the block we require and to construct the memorial upon it. It has been determined that the drive shall begin on November 11, the second anniversary of Armistice Day.

"We have a Board of Directors made up of some of the most prominent men and women in this city. We have a Citizens' Committee of 450 which includes the following, taken at random: Generals Alexander, Appleton, Liggett, Bullard, Loud, Nicholson, Goethals, Shanks and Ballington Booth, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Dr. John H. Finley; Archbishop Hayes, Judge Abram I. Elkus, Messrs. S. R. and Isaac Guggenheim, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, Mrs. E. H. Harriman, Wm. G. McAdoo, Judge Philip McCook, Clarence J. Mackay, Mrs. Adrian Iselin, Judge Alton B. Parker, Franklin D. and Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. David Rumsey, Charles M. Schwab, Wm. J. Schieffelin, Jacob H. and Mortimer L. Schiff, Judge Clarence J. Shearn, Bainbridge Colby, Senators Wadsworth and Calder, and Paul Warburg.

"In submit that the character and standing of the men and women who constitute the officers and directors of the Victory Hall Association are a guarantee of its integrity and of its ability to carry out the great movement that it has undertaken."

SHE GETS 7TH PRISON TERM.

Woman Swindler, Five Years a Fugitive, Sent to Auburn.

Mrs. Margaret Dubaldo, known also as Eugenia Edwards and under other aliases and who has served terms in prisons in several States for swindling, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Reuben L. Haskell, in the County Court in Brooklyn, to serve five years and nine months in Auburn Prison. Mrs. Dubaldo pleaded guilty last week to passing a forged check in May, 1915. She was arrested by Detective Eugene Daly of the Classon Avenue Station after a search of five years.

The prisoner, about forty, was expensively dressed. She told District Attorney Harry E. Lewis that she was a graduate of a well known college for women. Judge Haskell, in passing sentence, said her record showed she had served terms for six previous offenses and warrants were awaiting her in New York county and in Boston.

FIRE THREATENS HOE PLANT

Hot Saw Drops Into Whale Oil Tank and $25,000 Blaze Results.

Fire, which threatened to spread to the main buildings of the R. Hoe & Co. printing press plant, Grand, Delancey, Columbia and Sheriff Streets, yesterday, was confined to the basement of a small building in the Sheriff Street courtyard of the plant. Two alarms were turned in and the damage was estimated at $25,000.

The fire started, it was said, when a hot saw dropped into a whale oil tank. The 2,000 employes of the works were driven to the street.

The principal of Public School 24, Willett and Broome Streets, put the pupils through the fire drill, although the building was endangered at no time.

SAYS CHURCH AIDS REDS.

No Creed Free from Radical Taint, Charges Dr. White.

The Church is being used to an alarming extent to disseminate radicalism and no creed is free from the taint, according to Dr. C. Mawbray White, who has been investigating Bolshevism and kindred doctrines for the National Civic Federation. He spoke at a meeting last night of the Americanization Committee of the New York County Post of the American Legion at the Automobile Club of America, 248 West Fifty-fourth Street. He named various clergymen as of Bolshevist tendencies. He spoke of many theological students as having declared their radicalism.

"The funny thing about this business is that these clergymen, while preaching Socialism, must know that with the coming of this doctrine there will be no jobs for them, for it has interdicted the Church," said Dr. White. "I'll defy any one to bring me a Socialist book that speaks of God, and there is hardly a book they have published which does not speak against a Supreme Being. If the clergymen were honest with themselves, they would get out of the Church and make a decent living teaching what is true instead of acting like hypocrites."

Classifying those whom he found to be most susceptible to radicalism, he said these were the pacifists and cowards, dreamers and idealists, the parlor type of Bolshevist, atheists and the sympathetic uplift men and women "who bring joy to the slums and flowers to those in jail" and "lame intellectuals." These, he said, ought to be taken by the back of the neck and gotten rid of.

A Boston Banker's New York Estate

When John M. Graham, for many years President of the International Trust Co., of Boston, died at his home in Manchester, Mass., in June of 1919, he left an estate worth $1,327,410, of which $326,133 is taxable in New York. Among the securities are shares in the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., worth $274.33. The New York portion of the estate is divided between his wife, Ludovica D. Graham, of Manchester; his son, Edward Howland Graham, of New York City, and his daughter, Mrs. Caroline G. Tewsbury, of Islip, L. I.

Announce, Our Entire Stock of

MEN'S CLOTHING—REDUCED

Dependable Qualities—Reliable Reductions

Spring and Summer Weights

Everything is Included—Blacks, Blues, Golf Suits, etc., Nothing Held Back

At the present time, when a lot of inferior, factory-made Men's Clothing is being foisted upon the New York public, (eager to buy at lower prices) we announce this dependable event

TO MAKE NEW FRIENDS

We take this step to show New York men the difference between Men's Clothing made in Best & Co. shops, in our own city, under our own direction, and the usual kind sold elsewhere.

Before we opened our Men's Departments we made an exhaustive study of the problem, resulting in the decision to open our own Men's Clothing shops here in New York, to select at the Mills the patterns New York men want (all wool of course) and to direct the making ourselves.

The result has been Men's Clothing as dependable as gold coin.

The result has been the underselling of our competitors by $10 and more per suit, by eliminating the profit they must pay the manufacturer or middleman, and the building, in 2 short years, of a large volume of men's clothing business.

RATHOM SEES 'PLOT' IN NAVY VICE QUERY

Tells Judge Advocate That Daniels and Franklin Roosevelt Seek to Injure Him.

COURT STRIKES OUT ANSWER

Witness Admits He Has No Proof That Heads of Navy Knew of Methods of Vice Squad.

WESTERLY, R. I., May 27.—John R. Rathom, editor of The Providence Journal, testifying here today before the naval court of inquiry which is investigating charges of improper practices by a naval vice squad at Newport, declared his belief that a statement made in the form of a question by Judge Advocate Henry I. Hyneman was "part of a plot" in which, he said, heads of the navy sought to injure him as a witness in the case.

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, at whose request Mr. Rathom had been recalled as a witness, immediately asked that this portion of his answer be stricken from the records. The court ordered this done.

The altercation arose when a letter written by Mr. Rathom to the Attorney General of the United States on Feb. 6, 1918, was introduced, and the Judge Advocate asked: "Is it not a fact that many of the war stories in which The Providence Journal claimed credit for unearthing German spy systems were false?"

"That statement is a deliberate, willful and absolute falsehood," Mr. Rathom replied, "in all that it says and all that it implies. I believe it is a part of a plot in which the Secretary of the Navy and the Assistant Secretary of the Navy are involved to injure and degrade me."

The statement was stricken out so far as it referred to any "plot," or referred to the Secretary or Assistant Secretary.

Reverting to the letter, a photostatic copy of which had been introduced by the Judge Advocate with a request that the witness say whether the signature was his, Mr. Rathom declared that the letter was written by him at the request of the Attorney General, that it was marked confidential, that he understood a pledge was made that the information was not to be used, and that the letter was to be shown to only one other person.

"I decline to make any statement without getting a release from the Attorney General, whose personal honor is bound up in this letter," Mr. Rathom said.

The Judge Advocate remarked that he had not asked the witness for a statement regarding the contents of the letter, and did not intend to do so, but only for his identification of the signature.

Rathom Repeats He Had No Proof.

Under examination by the Judge Advocate, Mr. Rathom said that he was without personal or first-hand knowledge of the charges made, but had offered to the court all the information on the subject that he had. When asked whether an article in The Providence Bulletin of March 12, 1920, headed "Allegations and Proofs," was printed with his knowledge, he said that it was.

"Have you," he was asked, "any proof that the Navy Department, with the full knowledge, consent and guidance of Secretary Daniels, maintained a special branch of the department for the specific purpose of entrapping innocent persons?"

"Absolutely none," said Mr. Rathom. Claude K. Branch, counsel for the Ministers' Union of Newport, that brought the complaint, objected to the question on the ground that Mr. Rathom acted solely as the editor of a newspaper without claiming any first-hand knowledge.

The Judge Advocate interposed, saying:

"If there is any proof in the possession of this witness that the Secretary of the Navy knew of such a practice, I want it."

The court again put the question to the witness, and Mr. Rathom repeated his reply.

Asked whether he had any personal knowledge of facts which would help the Judge Advocate to prove the allegations made, Mr. Rathom said he had not. He explained that he had tried to make his statement as complete as possible and had given the court all the information at his command.

Reference being made to an exchange of telegrams between the witness and the Secretary of the Navy, the Judge Advocate asked:

"Was all the matter contained in this exchange based on the same kind of facts as your allegations to the Senate Naval Committee and to this court?"

The witness replied: "To the extent to which I referred to these matters, I offered all the knowledge I had."

Witness "Might Modify" Charge.

Mr. Rathom said he was unable to add to his previous testimony and memoranda, filed with the court, regarding charges that the naval vice squad had been guilty of improper practices with the knowledge and consent of the Secretary and Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

He added that his belief in the correctness of his deductions had been strengthened by recent testimony before the court, but that if he had had the knowledge given to this court in the testimony of Secretary Daniels and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, that they were contemplating an investigation, he might have modified his charges in that particular.

"In all his newspaper career, the witness said, he had never been "so highly fortified with facts as in this case."

From these facts, added to statements made in two courts by identical witnesses as to conditions upon which the charges were based, he felt that the charges had been proved.

It is expected that after hearing two officers from the Boston Navy Yard and possible additional testimony from Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, the court will conclude its four months' sitting tomorrow.

U. S. JURY INDICTS OUTLAW STRIKERS

NO ACTION AGAINST CHIEFS

Holdup of Erie Train at Hoboken Cited as Offense Upon Which Indictments Were Based.

The Federal Grand Jury at Newark returned indictments yesterday against ten strikers, not leaders, in the recent "outlaw" rail tieup. Nine are named in one indictment. The tenth is said to have been named in another bill. The charges include:

"The aforesaid did knowingly, wilfully and unlawfully, by physical force or intimidation and by threats of physical force obstruct or retard the orderly conduct or movement in the United States of interstate commerce."

The names of the indicted men are being withheld by the Federal authorities until they are apprehended. Particulars of the indictment also are kept secret.

The evidence upon which the indictments were based was presented to the jury, of which Edgar Bamberger, Newark merchant, is foreman, by Special Assistant United States Attorney Isaiah Matlock, who explained that the action against the strikers was based on an amendment to the Interstate Commerce act of Aug. 9, 1918, which makes it an offense for railroad employes or others to interfere with the movement of interstate commerce.

The specific act for which the strikers were indicted was the holdup of a train on the Erie Railroad at First Street, Hoboken, last April. The movement of the train was blocked by a motor truck, disabled on the tracks. The point at which the train stopped was opposite a place where the strikers were meeting. The strikers tried to persuade the engineer, conductor and trainmen to quit, but failed. Then they began to hurl missiles at the locomotive and disconnected the airbrakes. They finally forced the engineer to take his disconnected engine to Weehawken.

Mr. Matlock explained that the indictments were not against the leaders of the strike. The charges were brought under the Interstate Commerce law instead of the Lever act, in order to save time and make the prosecution of the strikers less difficult. The indictment will not become a matter of public record until filed with the Clerk of the Federal Court at Trenton, to whom it was forwarded yesterday. It is anticipated that warrants will be issued today.

OHIOANS TO TESTIFY IN ARNSTEIN INQUIRY

E. P. Strong, Cleveland Lawyer, and Others Coming Here, Says "Nicky's" Counsel.

"BIG BILL" FUREY QUIZZED

Suspect in $5,000,000 Bond Plot and Canadian Detective Are Brought Before Dooling.

Eugene F. McGee, counsel for "Nicky" Arnstein in criminal proceedings pending against him in connection with thefts of more than $2,500,000 worth of securities from brokerage houses and in the bankruptcy proceeding before United States Commissioner Gilchrist, announced yesterday that Edward P. Strong, a lawyer of Cleveland, Ohio, had sent word he would come to this city in a few days and appear as a witness in the bankruptcy case. Arnstein's counsel said Mr. Strong has been ill in Cleveland. "Mr. Strong and other Cleveland men whose names frequently have been mentioned during the questioning of witnesses in the bankruptcy are coming here to disprove insinuations contained in questions advanced to those witnesses," said Mr. McGee.

Statements recently by Mr. Myers and John T. Dooling, Assistant District Attorney, who is in charge of the investigation into the criminal activities of Arnstein, "Nick" Cohen and other men alleged to have been concerned in the disposal of stolen securities in this and other cities, indicated that certain persons in Cleveland were believed to have acted as "go-betweens" for Arnstein and Cohen in the disposal of stolen securities obtained from dishonest messengers for brokerage houses in the financial district.

Mr. Myers said last night he would request Commissioner Gilchrist to begin the examination of Mr. Strong as soon as the latter arrived here.

"Big Bill" Furey, awaiting trial on indictments returned in connection with the $5,000,000 bond plot discovered after "Nicky" Arnstein and "Nick" Cohen fled the city in February last, and James J. Kean, a private detective of Montreal, now in the House of Detention, where he is held as a material witness, were questioned for several hours yesterday by Mr. Dooling in the presence of Mr. Myers, but neither Mr. Dooling nor Mr. Myers would reveal the purpose of the inquiry. Furey was arrested in front of the Woolworth Building in the latter part of February, after Kean had informed officials of one of the surety companies which suffered losses through thefts of securities, that "Big Bill" and the Gluck brothers and several other messengers in the Wall Street district had conspired to steal $6,000,000 worth of securities in one day and flee to Canada with them.

A Man-size Razor for a Man-size Job The Gillette Big Fellow

GRIP the hands of the men who are working in office and field and factory today, and understand why we have brought out the new Gillette Big Fellow.

The Big Fellow is bigger in handle and head. It grips the thin Gillette Blade—adds weight to the sharp, smooth edge.

Its two-edged blade is made of the finest quality of high carbon steel, scientifically sharpened at the factory, each edge the most lasting shaving edge ever produced.

Each blade gives you many velvet-smooth shaves. Then you simply throw it away and put in a new one.

No Stropping—No Honing.

M. PAINLEVE ARRIVES ON MISSION TO CHINA

Former Premier of France Expresses Hope U. S. Will Yet Enter League of Nations.

QUADRILATERAL INTERVIEW

Questions Put in English, Repeated in Chinese and Then to Visitor in French.

M. Paul Painlevé, member of the Institute of France, Deputy of Paris, former Prime Minister, former War Minister and Professor of Mathematics in the University of Paris, came to New York yesterday on La France at the head of the scientific and technical mission appointed by the French Government to visit China at the invitation of the latter Government. He was accompanied as an escort by Hain-Jou-Kia, a scholar, who will be remembered here for his activities in 1916 in organising a China group in the United States Congress. The pair left last night for Washington, where they are to be entertained by General Pershing, who was received by Painlevé when he first went to Paris. It was with the then War Minister that the Commander in Chief of the A. E. F. concluded arrangements for the first million of American troops sent to France.

Interviewing Under Difficulties.

The meeting of a NEW YORK TIMES reporter with the French scholar and statesman at the Hotel Pennsylvania may become a part of the lighter history of international communication, for it was, perhaps, the first quadrilateral interview on record. M. Painlevé began by announcing that he neither spoke nor understood English. The reporter could neither speak nor understand French. Mr. Hain-Jou-Kia admitted to fluent French and an ability to speak halting English, but said he did not understand it. He presented Mr. Kuang Chao Lee, General Secretary of the Chinese Students' Christian Association in North America, who understands English and Chinese, but not French.

"What is the purpose of your present mission?" the reporter began in English, looking at M. Painlevé and talking to Mr. Kuang Chao Lee, who repeated it in Chinese to Mr. Hain-Jou-Kia, who conveyed it in French to M. Painlevé.

"It is to promote international learning, a mingling of the culture of the orient and the occident through the cultural union of the United States, China and France," said M. Painlevé in French to Mr. Hain-Jou-Kia, who said it in Chinese to Mr. Kuang Chao Lee, who repeated it in English to the reporter.

M. Painleve Sees the Joke.

"Do you really understand no French?" asked M. Painlevé unguardedly then, in fair English.

"I am quite sure I could starve to death in French," repied the reporter, laughing at his own joke. M. Painlevé smiled politely, then looked perfectly blank. Mr. Hain-Jou-Kia looked blank without even smiling. Mr. Kuan Chao Lee laughed obligingly and translated at length in Chinese to Mr. Hain-Jou-Kia who smiled feebly and informed M. Painlevé in French that the gentleman from THE TIMES had remarked that it would be impossible for him to order his dinner in that language. Somehow, M. Painlevé seemed less amused than ever. Thereupon the Frenchman started explaining in his own language that the object he had in mind in founding the Institute of Chinese Higher Studies in connection with the University of Paris—he is President of that institute—and his object in inviting the United States to join in mental communion with China and with France was neither diplomatic nor political; he had become convinced that only by such meatal co-mingling could the swords of the world be sheathed forever. The reporter, careless as had been the French Statesman a moment before, looked intelligent and nodded, and thereafter the interview proceeded satisfactorily in not very broken English and quite badly shattered French, the two Chinamen helping each other as need be, and all of the quartet showing a true and patient spirit of international co-operation.

M. Painleve, proceeding gingerly on the question of American politics, went so far as to express the hope that the next President of the United States would not be an irreconcilable toward this country's participation in the League of Nations. He expressed confidence that the League members stood ready to receive America, no doubt with such reservations as she saw fit to make, though of that he could not be positive when there were no specific reservations to be passed upon.

Then the Frenchman wanted to know who, in the reporter's opinion, would be the Republican nominee. The reporter ventured the possibility of a "cheval noir," and his interrogator understood at once, laughing heartily and agreeing, but Mr. Hain-Jou-Kia proved to be entirely unfamiliar with the occasional entrance of that dusky steed into the arena of our political conventions, and it took several moments for Mr. Kuang Chao Lee to convey the idea to him in their native tongue.

Refuses Comment on Veto.

President Wilson's veto yesterday of the joint peace resolution was brought to M. Painlevé's attention. He felt he should not comment directly upon the veto. He did say, however, that he hoped nothing might happen which would give Germany the false impression that the United States had come closer to her than to her allies of yesterday, and again he expressed his confidence that when the internal conflict here had subsided, the United States would be found side by side with the leading nations of Europe in promoting international peace. He was cordial in his expressions of appreciation of America's aid in the war and emphatic in his declaration that France, struggling militantly to surmount the setbacks of the long fight, would be her old self in the end.

M. Painlevé and his party were received at the pier by M. Maurice Casenave, Director General of the French High Commission. The other members of the mission are M. Borel, Science Director of the Normal School of Paris, M. Nadal, Chief Engineer of Mines and State Railways; M. Germain Martin, Legislator and Professor of Law, and M. Abel Bonnard, poet and novelist and Representative of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. They will sail for China from Vancouver, B. C.

Hotel Men to Act Musical Comedy.

The Samaciar Players, who are drawn from employes of the Claridge, McAlpin and Waldorf-Astoria Hotels, will present a musical comedy tonight and tomorrow night in the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria. The play, "Puritania," has been written entirely by the hotel men, and will call for a cast of eighty-five. It will be preceded by a minstrel show.

$10,000 Gift to Union President.

CLEVELAND, May 27.—A gift of $10,000 to their retiring international President, Charles C. Shay of New York, was made by members of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Motion Picture Operators of the United States and Canada at the closing session of the annual convention here yesterday, it became known today. In recognition of his services as President for ten years, Mr. Shay was elected President Emeritus. He announced his retirement in his annual report to the convention. James Lemke of Troy, N. Y., was elected President.

OPERA FOR PHILADELPHIA.

Metropolitan to Give 16 Performances in Old Academy of Music.

The Metropolitan Opera Company is to give sixteen performances in Philadelphia next season, of which there was some doubt following the sale by local interests of the opera house originally purchased from Oscar Hammerstein. It was announced yesterday that the New York stars, jointly with the Philadelphia Orchestra, will occupy the historic Academy of Music under a lease assumed for five years by a group of public-spirited citizens.

Edward Bok, who presented these plans at a meeting at the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia, said that the Metropolitan would lose $4,000 at each performance "in addition to the regular losses" because of the smaller seating capacity of the Academy.

Among those interested in the combined orchestra and opera tenancy are Alexander Van Rensselaer, William J. Turner and Robert K. Cassatt, with other officers and directors of the Philadelphia Orchestra, and Charlton Yarnall, who took the initiative in the plans, Mr. Bok declared.

Long Island to File New Tariffs.

The Long Island Railroad Company announced yesterday that tomorrow it would file with the Interstate Commerce and the Public Service Commissions part of its new tariffs covering proposed increases and readjustments of passenger fares, which will become effective July 1. The new tariffs will cover the commutation, school, and ten and fifty trip family tickets, and also the local fares on Atlantic Avenue between Flatbush Avenue, Jamaica and Queens. Later in the week tariffs covering one-way and round-trip tickets on all divisions of the road will be filed.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

A new play by Willard Mack, entitled "His Grace, the Loafer," has been acquired by A. H. Woods. Mr. Woods has also purchased "A Gale from Texas," by Gertrude Thanhouse and Lloyd Lonergan.

The Globe Theatre is undergoing several changes during the two weeks preceding the arrival at "Scandals of 1920." Among other things, the six orchestra boxes are being removed.

"The Tent of Pompey," by Augustus Thomas, will be one of the features of the Lambs' Gambol, to take place at the Hippodrome on June 6.

"Cinderella on Broadway" will have its first performance in Atlantic City on June 14 and will come to the Winter Garden during the week of June 21. It is the work of Harold Atteridge, with music by Bert Grant and Al Goedman.

"Lights of Duxbury," a comedy by Clare Kummer, will be produced in New Haven on June 10 by the Shuberts.

"The Indian Giver," by Ray Bryant, and "The Open Book," by Philip Bartholomae and Hyman Adler, have been accepted for production by Walter Hast.

Tied to a tree and utterly helpless, TARZAN seemed doomed to die the victim of the stealthy tigress which crept from the near-by undergrowth. TARZAN strained at his bonds.

His powerful chest extended, the ropes weakened and suddenly parted just as the tigress, its great jaws extended, its nostrils scenting flesh, reached the spot. TARZAN fell upon the tigress just as the beast set itself to leap, and, after a cataclysmic fight in which the ape-man used only his talonlike hands, the beast rolled over dead.

Other wild, hungry beasts of prey, watching from the underbrush, began moving forward and—

A MERITED VETO.

The Republican Senate has got from the President the veto upon which it fully counted. It was well assured that he would never put his signature to the Knox resolution, proposing to make a separate peace with Germany. If they had not been sure he would veto it, many Republican Senators would have hesitated to vote for it. They doubted the legality of trying to smuggle a treaty through under the guise of a joint resolution. They questioned the policy of giving everything to Germany and having no assurance that we should get anything in return. But since it was certain that the President would not allow the resolution to become law, it might be put through as a mere political manœuvre. It would be a good enough resolution until after the veto had killed it. The Republican Senate thus deliberately set about playing politics with the vast international interests of the country.

Fully perceiving all this, President WILSON fits the punishment to the crime. His veto message, that is to say, does not enter into technicalities. There is no reference to the legal and constitutional difficulties involved in the Knox resolution. Sent to the White House avowedly as a bit of partisan strategy, it is returned with the comment appropriate to transparent insincerity. The President tells the Republican Senators bluntly that the course they advocate would stain the honor of the United States; would make vain the sacrifices which the country endured in order to win the war; and would leave to the mercy of Germany the rights and dignity of American citizens. If there is any political capital to be made out of that, let the Republicans try to manufacture it!

SECRETARY HOUSTON'S SERMON.

The difficulty of the Treasury in paying the bills which Congress runs up goes far to explain the homely common sense with which recent Secretaries of the Treasury discuss taxation. The Treasury has to borrow billions to make good the current deficit which Congress permits and would enlarge if allowed by public opinion. The Treasury also is embarrassed by the falsity of its position in urging discontinuance of such practices by its foreign debtors, who are so much less able to do what the Treasury cannot get done at home. What would happen to the nation's finances if there were not some such brake upon Congress as the Treasury exerts may be imagined from Secretary HOUSTON'S statement that he spends ninety-fold as much time in opposing appropriations as he does in asking them for his own official use.

There used to be watchdogs of the Treasury in Congress, but now that duty devolves upon the Secretary himself. He hates to see Congress pass taxes which encourage expense to avoid taxation, as the excess profits tax does, and which therefore reduce and divert funds which the Treasury could expect from lower and more productive rates. To the Secretary it seems that the proposal to refund the Liberty loans at a higher interest rate in order to keep them at par is like offering a bonus to capital. The manner in which Congress passes its money bills offends the Secretary, who has to strike balances daily, monthly and yearly, and he urges Congress to adopt a budget to defend itself against the temptations to which it succumbs. The Secretary is properly shocked that Americans should spend twenty-two billions upon drinks, tobacco, jewelry, movies and candy. The Treasury profits by the taxes which are the basis of the estimate of the waste, but it would profit more if the people used the money more wisely to finance either trade or the Treasury. Congress and the people waste more than enough to pay the Treasury's floating debt; or to cheapen the cost of living by providing the railways with funds; or to relax the restrictions on credit which are checking production as the only other way of reducing inflation.

There is nothing above easy understanding in the Secretary's sermon. If Congress told the people would act upon his counsel the country would be spared such horrors of taxation as the excess profits tax, which the corporations shift to individuals, or the higher individual income supertax now under consideration by Congress, or the retroactive 80 per cent. war profits tax to finance the bonus scheme. Secretaries of the Treasury have to oppose such things.

TOO MUCH ZEAL.

It was an unfortunate error of judgment, and was felt so to be by many of General WOOD'S judicious friends, to appoint Mr. WILLIAM COOPER PROCTER as a manager, or the principal manager, of the Wood campaign. Mr. PROCTER belongs to the type of campaign manager that has more than once entered, generously and sincerely, into political campaigns only to injure instead of benefiting. An able and a successful man of business, he knows nothing about politics. His notion of the best methods of promoting and advertising a "boom" are those of a free-handed business man. He was not even aware that, rightly or wrongly, the too intimate association of a man of wealth with the political fortunes of a candidate is likely to injure them, and he did not foresee the use that a pretense of superior poverty and virtue might make of the insertion of his "money bags" into the canvass.

He believed that it was "a patriotic duty" to fork out so liberally. Doubtless his own personal contribution or "advance" of $500,000 was given in the sincere belief that he was fruitfully serving the country in aiding, as he supposed, the nomination of General WOOD. He forgot there should be moderation in campaign funds. He forgot the groans of horror and wrath that would be emitted by the friends of candidates who have got their advertising more cheaply or at the cost of others. He forgot, too, the power of figures over political imaginations. When all the various State and local expenditures are accounted for, the whole Wood campaign fund, Mr. PROCTER thinks, will amount to $1,000,000. No dishonest use of it is suspected. The trouble is that, without regard to the merits, it looks like a vast sum. Yet Senator ENOS tells us that it would cost $1,250,000 to circulate nationally a single platform pamphlet.

AS THE TIMES has said before, however, it is the people of the several States through their Legislatures that have invited or necessitated large expenditures in primary campaigns. It is they, and not any campaign manager or candidate, poor or rich, that should be blamed. The people have set up a system which makes big "campaign chests" necessary. They can now see one result, and the sole positive result, of the illusive Presidential or Presidential Preference primary. It costs a lot. It settles nothing.

Fair-minded men will not forget that this investigation at Washington was inspired by no large patriotic motives, by no aversion to fat campaign funds, but simply and solely to injure General WOOD and Governor LOWDEN, and to illustrate the lofty and austere methods and principles of Senator JOHNSON. The latter is ardently championed by certain newspapers that dote on his radicalism and his hatred for the League of Nations, and his own campaign fund has yet to be added up, but the intemperate and petulant and uncandid statements of his campaign managers are poured out upon a public which is fully aware that his wise and dispassionate friend, Senator BORAH, eager to "kill off" Governor LOWDEN and General WOOD, has "killed off" this Californian god of his idolatry. He has fallen himself into his own pit. From the friends of Governor LOWDEN and General WOOD he can expect no mercy.

The personal side of this unedifying business, however, should not blind the American people to the fact, again monstrously displayed, that the Presidential primary lottery is a waste and a scandal.

FARMER JOHNSON.

Senator JOHNSON breaks the racking suspense in which the country had been held by telling the National Board of Farm Organizations, which lately sent a questionnaire to the Presidential aspirants, that he is in favor of liberty and equal rights for all. "The nation must have a free urban population and it must have a free rural population." Other candidates who sit up nights designing to rivet the chains of slavery and serfdom upon town and country will be properly abashed by this manly pronouncement.

It would seem invidious to attempt to conjecture which of the many forms of liberty the Senator loves most, yet one may believe that his deepest emotions go out to free speech. There is a reason, of course: the Senator is one of our chief producers of speech, has as much of an interest in opposing its legislative regulation as a brewer has in fighting prohibition. So says the champion from California:

> Sometimes so-called anti-sedition measures are designed by mischievous big business to place insuperable barriers in the way of the farmer who is seeking economic as well as political liberty.

Mr. JOHNSON might particularize. Is he talking about the espionage law passed during the war? Was that law passed to help mischievous big business keep the farmers in bondage? If so, why didn't the Senator say so at the time? And if he doesn't mean that particular law, what law does he mean?

It might be supposed from this eruption that Mr. JOHNSON is opposed to big business; but that would be a grave error. Business men in California, business men of impressive magnitude, hasten to tell us that he is "a far-seeing, constructive statesman." Dr. A. H. GIANNINI, "representing twenty-three financial institutions on the Pacific Coast," goes still further and says that "every big business man in California, with the exception of those who still cherish enmities engendered in the early days of JOHNSON'S career, is heart and soul for his nomination."

It would be unjust in the highest degree to infer from this that the Senator's attitude toward big business has changed since those enmity-engendering early days of his career. He is not against big business, merely against mischievous big business. The big business men who still cherish enmities are mischievous, but those who are heart and soul for his nomination are free from guile.

THE PASSING OF CARRANZA.

If the Mexicans were a people of ideals and devoted to men who die for them they would inscribe upon a stone raised to the memory of their last murdered President: "But I will fight it out!" This resolution was communicated to one who talked with CARRANZA as he was setting out on the adventure that ended in a pitiful tragedy. He lamented that his policy for the welfare of Mexico had failed as the country was beginning to prosper and the first installment of interest upon the national debt was about to be paid. The civilian could not prevail against the soldier. Charged with trying to force BONILLAS upon the people, the President defended himself by saying: "I was only looking to the interests of my country." He inveighed against the Generals who were plunging Mexico into another civil war. Their kind was its calamity. Neither OBREGON nor GONZALES was fit to rule, the one a sturdy rebel who had not concealed his purpose, the other venal and treacherous. GONZALES had proffered his loyalty in consideration of the command of the army and a gift of money, but the President had declined to make the bargain. At the last he was willing to withdraw his support from BONILLAS if there could be a fair election. But by that time he had found that he could trust no one. Pacing the floor nervously, he exclaimed: "My most intimate friends, men whom I made, have turned against me. But I will fight it out!"

What CARRANZA meant was that with troops remaining loyal to him he would try to fight his way to Vera Cruz, there set up a government and resist the "Generals" to the last for the sake of Mexico. It was a forlorn hope. He developed unsuspected qualities of valor and constancy in the days that were to follow. The theorist and philosopher turned soldier and leader. If he would surrender he could have a safe conduct to Vera Cruz, but he was true to his resolve to "fight it out." If he could not get to the sea, then he would retire to the desert and keep his colors flying in the hope of rallying men of his nettle to his side. The end of the tragedy came when in his extremity he trusted a renegade and was foully murdered while crying out for a weapon to defend himself with. The "bearded one," as his enemies called him, died bravely for his opinions, and nothing in his life became him like that last act in a sinister dawn.

THE BONUS PROBLEM.

The Treasury raiders are in a quandary about the proposal to pay the soldiers a bonus which was not promised and not expected, which some might accept, but which many prefer not to have offered for their temptation. The problem now is either how to drop the subject or how to pass the original proposal without opening the door to a flood of similar grabs. The differences between Republican leaders and their followers are greater than between the Republicans and the Democrats, and party discipline is demoralized. Senator GLASS thinks it good policy to beat the bill in the House and save a contest in the Senate, and, therefore, he makes no concealment of his objections and their reasons. He speaks the sentiments of many others when he publicly says:

> With the people bearing the most extraordinary tax burdens since the world was created, I think it would be a frightful misuse and abuse of power for Congress to vote an indiscriminate bonus to able-bodied ex-service men, millions of whom did not get within 3,000 miles of Europe. At all events, I shall not be a party to imposing any such additional burden upon the people.

Since it is equally well known that Senator GLASS is an advocate of generosity toward the soldiers who were really sufferers by their service, and to their dependents, there is no room for the suggestion that niggardliness is the ground of his objection. The bonus was beaten by the sort of taxes proposed to pay it. Canada got both a soldiers' bonus and tax betterments. Possibly, although not probably, tax reforms might have carried the bonus through, where there was no thoroughfare for the bonus and bad taxes. But the combination of the bonus with taxes worse than those which already offend the country was impossible.

MR. WILSON AND THE "UPPER MOB."

The letter of Mr. JOSEPH REINACH of Paris, printed in THE TIMES of Wednesday, is a manly plea for giving President WILSON a "square deal." It would fall gratefully on American ears if they were not confused and deafened by political cries. There is an old saying that the verdict of foreigners is apt to become the verdict of posterity. This needs qualification; but when the foreigner has the intelligence and has had the experience of Mr. REINACH, his words are well worth heeding. Speaking as an observant Frenchman, he expresses his belief that the President of the United States has for some time suffered gross injustice at the hands of his own countrymen. And all that Mr. REINACH appeals for is a calm waiting for the time when partisan passion shall have subsided and individual enmity shall have grown ashamed, and when a just estimate of Mr. WILSON'S work can be made by fair and serene-minded men who "do not follow the upper mob or the mob from below in its exaggerated enthusiasms and its nonsensical hatreds."

In that phrase, the upper mob, there is special point and pungency. It hits off accurately a large class of assailants of the President. Professing themselves high-toned statesmen and disinterested patriots, they have flung themselves upon Mr. WILSON'S fame in a ferocious determination to tear it to pieces. We all know the men. Their chief weapon has been sneering destruction. They have exaggerated the President's faults. They have inflated every surmise about him and inflamed every suspicion. At the very moment when his reputation blazed around the earth, with splendor such as had attached to the name of no other American Chief Executive in his lifetime, they set about their work of malice, wrath and all uncharitableness, bound to defame one whom they could not displace. And they moved as men actuated by a common purpose—a true "mob of gentlemen."

That they had provocation is not denied. Mr. REINACH is shrewd enough to be aware of President WILSON'S mistakes. He has made many. He has temperamental qualities that alienate where it would be so easy to attract. Often it seems as if he took pains to go out of his way to make enemies. Let us grant it all. Let it be admitted that the President has fallen from the pinnacle on which he was raised in the eyes of the whole world at the time of the armistice. Still, honest and impartial men will seek to judge him as he stands in his total character and achievement. And they will feel mortified that it was left for a foreigner to protest, as a lover of justice, against the despite with which, in the excess of party prejudice and violence, too many Americans are treating a man who must long remain one of their great national figures.

IS THE COUNTRY REALLY GRATEFUL?

A bill very simply worded and providing for the performance of a duty which the Government should not evade, in fact could not do so without reproach, has been locked up in committee by the Republican leaders of the House of Representatives from a false motive of economy. The bill is so brief it may be given in full:

> Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled that any officer who has served in the military forces of the United States during the war with Germany and does not belong to the regular army, and who incurred disability while in the service, during the said war, shall be entitled to the same compensation as like officers of the regular army receive on being retired for equal disability.

It cannot be denied that there is a lobby in Washington working for this bill. It consists mainly of men who long lay in the General Hospitals. Some of them bear upon their persons the visible scars of battle and are maimed for life, crippled, indeed, beyond any ability to earn a subsistence at their old or pre-war callings. The retired regular army officer similarly afflicted receives two-thirds of his service pay; the non-regular officer is not upon the same plane as the regular army officer when it comes to compensation for disabling wounds received in action or in service. Yet Section 10 of the act of Congress, approved May 10, 1917, made all officers equal, in this manner:

> All officers and enlisted men of the forces herein provided for, other than the regular army, shall be in all respects on the same footing as to pay, allowances and pensions as officers and enlisted men of corresponding grades and length of service in the regular army.

The War Department, however, does not make this mandate of the law apply to the case of emergency officers and officers of the National Guard, the Reserve, the National Army and the temporary officer disabled in the line of duty so grievously that he cannot take up the occupation which he had to drop when the country called for defenders. All these officers are victims of interpretative discrimination. Not needed by the country any longer, they are no more on a "plane with the regular officer" as to pay, allowances and pensions."

One case may serve by way of illustration: "Lieutenant G., age 35, single, civil engineer. Shell wound, stiffening both legs permanently; walks or sits with extreme difficulty. Emergency commission. Not eligible for retirement." In all, there are said to be 2,000 emergency officers who are discriminated against. Not a great number to appall the "watchdogs" of the Treasury when the claim for relief is pressed. It is to be feared that it is a charitable view that "this condition [the discrimination] is evidently due to the rush and confusion of wartime legislation." The same shells struck down, the same bombs mutilated, the same sharpshooter's bullet crippled officers alike. Why should a grateful country bestow three-fourths pay on the one and allow others only a gratuity or nothing at all? It is said that if the Stevenson bill is allowed to go to the floor of the House of Representatives it can be passed immediately. Who is responsible for the obstruction, and why?

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

His Line Drawn in Water.

There is, of course, a real distinction—in theory always and in fact often—between the giving of money and the mere advancing or lending of it. It is the expectation in the latter case of getting the money back some day that makes the difference, and therefore the size of the difference depends on the size of the expectation, or, rather, on the size of the basis on which the expectation stands.

That being the case, it is not unnatural that a note of sorrow or pain was plainly audible to the attentive ear in the answers of WILLIAM COOPER PROCTER to the investigating Senators who asked questions about his financial services as the guide, philosopher and friend of General WOOD. His contribution to the Wood campaign fund was not a large one, Mr. PROCTER said—not large for him, that is, for it was only $10,000. But conscience or something like it compelled the eminent resident of Cincinnati to add that, as the contributions from other friends of the General had been "disappointing," it had been necessary, or expedient, or at least amiable, for him—Mr. PROCTER—to alleviate the General's disappointment by making advances that in time came to the amount of "approximately $500,000."

That, he admitted, was a good deal of money, but he insisted, mildly, that it was not definitely lost to him. Questioned as to the chances of getting it back, Mr. PROCTER did not claim, however, that they were many or large, and it is to be feared that even the most friendly of the inquisitors wondered at his thinking that there were any chances at all, while the others, openly hostile, made plain their conviction that he was discriminating consciously between indistinguishables.

Not Charity or Loss in Business.

Being a business man of the most practical kind, and not entirely an amateur in politics, the belief is next to unescapable that Mr. PROCTER knows sadly well that, if he did not kiss his $500,000 good-bye before he "advanced" it to meet the expenses—all entirely legitimate and honorable, of course—of the Wood campaign, never would he have an opportunity thus to express such affection as even he still has, presumably, for half a million. And familiar as he must be with the provisions of the income tax law, he can have no illusions as to the possibility of claiming an exemption on the $500,000 next year as a charitable contribution. The Republican Party is a recognized entity, but it is not an organization of the sort the legislators had in mind and defined when they passed the section relating to exemptions because of gifts.

Equally inadmissible will it be for him to charge the $500,000 off as a bad debt. From some points of view it is a debt, and bad; but technically it is not one, for it is owed by nobody in particular. Therefore, Mr. PROCTER cannot use the reasonable diligence to collect that the law requires before granting a reduction of tax to an unfortunate creditor.

But Mr. PROCTER insisted that he did not regret—should one say the loss, or the mere departure?—of the half million from his bank account. Fortunate man, why should he? There is more where that came from.

Importing Weather Insurance.

It is not surprising that over here insurance against loss by bad weather is just beginning to receive serious attention, though this sort of protection has long been utilized and valued in England. The reason is obvious—rain is a not remote probability of every day there, while our sky is so much oftener clear that it has been far less dangerous for us to take chances with the weather.

We do have rainy days—fortunately!—and enough of them to make insurance against them, or against their ill consequences, worth while to not a few of us and not infrequently.

The plan is entirely practicable, in that the probabilities of rain on a given day, anywhere, can be computed accurately.

Already an American advance on the English system of weather insurance has been suggested. This country suffers crop losses from drought oftener than from rain, and therefore the demand here will be for one sort of protection by some insurers and of just the opposite sort by others. When both are bought for the same locality the problem for the insuring company will be a queer one, but it need not lose even then. There can be an adjustment of the odds, as it were, and those who get what they want will pay those whose wishes are frustrated.

A Reminder of a Duty Unperformed.

That our Government will accept the offered gift of a fine old house in London to be used as the home of our Ambassador there is not what an insurance man would call a good risk. In other words, for reasons several, and especially for one which it would be ungracious to particularize, the probability of an acceptance is next to nil.

The statutory prohibition laid on the taking by the Government of anything whatever for nothing could be evaded easily enough, as it was so often during the war, by paying a dollar for services or property worth much more, but that can be done quite safely only when it is certain that nobody will object, and it is not hard to guess who would make a pretty grievance out of getting the Morgan mansion at any price, little or big.

Just the same, it is well that the generous and patriotic offer has come to light, for, even though it be declined—courteously, one can hope—the episode will bring anew to public attention the propriety of having, and the impropriety of not having, owned instead of rented residences for our diplomatic representatives in the larger and more important foreign capitals. To do so not only would enhance national dignity but render easier what is now too difficult—the acceptance of these posts by men not possessed of private fortunes.

This restriction of choice can be ignored, indeed, and has been; without producing results always deplorable, and we often have been well served by rich Ambassadors, but none the less the restriction, to whatever extent it exists, is a bad one, and its removal would be helped appreciably if the nation owned its embassies.

JOHN W. DAVIS FOR PRESIDENT

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your editorial article, "A Great Democrat," in THE TIMES of last Sunday, is a great move in the right direction.

You have turned the spotlight on the man who is best fitted to lead this country in the years of reorganization and reconstruction that stretch ahead.

I see the big opportunity of the American people to give added proof to the rare judgment they have so often displayed in selecting men without regard for party politics, or self-seeking politicians, by electing John W. Davis next President of the United States.

We are today bearing the great burden that a narrow-minded, selfish partisanship has cast upon every man, woman and child in this country by blocking the forward march of progress. I refer to the present Republican Congress.

The election of a ticket headed by Mr. Davis would be a godsend to America and a deathblow to the type of politician who today is infesting the legislative branch of our National Government.

Appeals to Young Men.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Permit me to express the very hearty commendation of your suggestion of John W. Davis as a nominee of the Democratic Party for President. Of all the names suggested, his is the only one which has inspired the slightest enthusiasm from me, and if other people were equally frank I believe this is true of many others who will vote the Democratic ticket next Fall. Being a young man myself, I may be pardoned for believing that the younger element is coming into its own. I believe that Mr. Davis will appeal to that class of voters more than any other man that I know of.

A Welcome "Unknown."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In 1910, when the Democrats swept the country, the State of West Virginia sent to Washington a Congressional delegation composed exclusively of Democrats. Among the number were men who, at the time the nominations were made, seemed to have not a shadow of a chance for election. They had their little day of glory in Congress and then passed on, unknown and forgotten to history.

One of the men who went to Congress that year from West Virginia was John W. Davis. Two years before he had refused to be the Democratic nominee for Governor and in 1910 his acceptance of the Congressional nomination was more in the nature of a personal contribution to his party's welfare than the seeking of political honors. He had been in the House of Representatives only a few weeks when his intellectual ability so attracted men to him that he became a leader not only among the hundreds of new members but among the veteran, experienced legislators as well.

I was having luncheon with a well-known West Virginia capitalist in Paris the day we heard that President Wilson had appointed Mr. Davis as Ambassador to the Court of St. James's.

"The only trouble with John Davis," said my friend, "is this: He hasn't enough money to make good in a job of that kind."

He was measuring the new Ambassador by his own narrow standards; but only a few months later, in London, I was privileged to enjoy the thrill that comes to every good American when, in a foreign land, he hears one of his own countrymen praised.

"The difference between Ambassador Davis and those Americans who have preceded him at the embassy," said a prominent British Government official, "seems to be entirely intellectual. Other American Ambassadors have come over here and struggled for, and attained, social honors. Mr. Davis could have had that if he wanted it, but the honors that the English people have showered on him, in the short time he has been here, have been academic and judicial, thus paying tribute to the better and higher side of a man's character and recognizing in no unmistakable way the pleasant gulf that separates him from the type of foreign representative who is sent over here simply because he has a lot of money."

If the Democrats who assemble at San Francisco next month are at all practical, if they are not wholly devoid of a faculty for looking into the future, will they not be able to visualize the splendid sort of a campaign they could make with an intellectual, dignified, capable candidate? Bring Ambassador Davis home from London, let him go out into the country where the people may see and hear him—the people to whom he is now "unknown" according to Senator Hitchcock; the people who long for just such an "unknown" Moses to lead them—and the practical politicians of the party will be surprised at the showing he will make in November.

JOIN IN PRAISE OF DAVIS.

Two Middle Western Papers Affirm His Fitness for the Presidency.

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27.—The Indianapolis Star in today's issue says editorially:

"THE NEW YORK TIMES presentation of the record and qualifications of Ambassador John W. Davis for consideration as a Democratic Presidential possibility calls attention to a man of ability who has made a very good impression without seeking public acclaim. When Mr. Davis was appointed to represent this country at the Court of St. James's a large percentage of Americans wondered who he was and where the President found him. The recital at that time of his achievements convinced most people that he is a man of more than ordinary calibre and tact, and might be expected to make good in London. Ambassador Davis seems to have made a very favorable impression as our representative abroad, in spite of the fact that he has been in service during a period that would try the wits of one much more experienced than he is in diplomacy.

"Mr. Davis apparently is possessed of a liberal supply of good common sense, along with a keen mind. He has gone about his affairs unostentatiously when in Congress and other public activities, and won the recognition of those around him by hard work and ability.

"It is not beyond the range of possibilities that he may be the choice of his party convention, although comparatively a stranger to the voters. If in the inability of the delegates to get a two-thirds vote in favor of a man among the recognized candidates it should become necessary to pick a dark horse, the party could go further and fare worse than it would in naming Mr. Davis. He apparently is the type of man with whom the voters would become acquainted very easily and who would be a credit to his party if elected."

CHICAGO, May 27.—Under the caption "A Belated Entry" The Chicago Evening Post tonight prints this editorial:

"Ambassador John W. Davis is nominated for the Presidency in a long and laudatory editorial by THE NEW YORK TIMES. The Democratic Party would do itself credit by naming Mr. Davis. None of the men now seeking indorsement at San Francisco possesses in such measure those graces of mind and person which would dignify the office, and none, perhaps, is so able as the Ambassador to Great Britain.

"But Mr. Davis is not likely to be nominated. He is too remote from the scene of conflict. It will be difficult to dramatize his quiet, studious personality in such manner as to command the support of the delegates. He has never conducted a Liberty Loan campaign, run the railroads or crusaded against Reds. He is just an efficient, cultured American."

ARTIST AND BILLBOARD.

The Story of Tom Parrish's Fight for Colorado Scenery.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

No matter whether one agrees with him always or not, it is a matter for congratulation that we have Joe Pennell ready to break a lance with all art killers at the drop of the hat.

Let me tell your readers a little story of what happened in a wild Western State many years ago, where billboard advertising on a gigantic scale was dealt a fatal blow by one lone artist. I hope this account of what happened in Colorado in 1879, the year of the great Leadville boom, may give new courage to Mr. Pennell, for no matter how hopeless his self-imposed task seems of ridding our landscapes of billboards, he can hark back to this as a precedent.

Tom Parrish of Colorado Springs was in 1879 an etcher, and a very good one. He was also interested in mining properties. Both these lines of endeavor took him about in the mountains and he was greatly distressed when he saw advertising signs, with letters ten and twenty feet high, painted on the great cliffs which formed the mountain sides of that wonderful region.

Tom Parrish was a mining man by stress of circumstances, but he was an artist by nature.

Artists, public opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, are practical people. They deal with the visible world, and the visible world in Colorado was being ruined by a lot of vandals.

Tom Parrish was a popular man in Colorado Springs. He got himself nominated for State Senator and won the election.

Then he prepared a bill making it an offense punishable by a fine of $1,000 or one year in jail to deface the scenery in the State of Colorado. This bill also provided that offenders should at their own expense obliterate all signs hitherto painted on the rocks. When his bill was presented and read before the Legislature a howl of derision greeted it.

"We are practical men," said the other members of the Legislature, "not a lot of fool dreamers. We want business, and advertising makes business. You'd better go back to making pictures and not try law, Parrish."

"All right," said Parrish, "I'll make you a picture right now that maybe you can see. You want business, do I. What has Colorado got to sell? Silver and scenery. Just those two products—silver to the mints, scenery to the tourists. You haven't another thing today to offer. And the best and surest product you've got you are willing to let a lot of rustless destroy. There's my picture; what are you going to do about it?"

An old miner got up and banged his fist down on his desk. "Parrish is right. He's got more business in his head than all of us put together. Let's pass his bill!"

They did, the Governor signed it and it became the law of the State. Tom Parrish told me the story of his successful fight in the old El Paso Club in Colorado Springs in 1879.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As a poster-advertising man, I am glad to express the keen gratification which I experienced in reading your editorial article in THE TIMES of the 27th intitled "Billboard and Art." So far as my knowledge goes, this is the first time outdoor advertising has received a square deal at the hands of a daily paper.

LIONIZED.

The lions at the Library
Are carven out of stone,
Reclining on their tummies;
As from a royal throne
They watch the crowds that always pass,
Serene, aloof, alone.

And yet, I well remember
The lion on the right
Reared up upon his haunches
And snarled at me one night.
He snarled an ugly snarl at me,
Transfixing me with fright.

For I had dined most timely
With famed Delmonico,
Where wine of ancient vintage
Continually did flow.
I think that lion was slightly peeved
To hear me singing so.

I fled away in terror;
In some mysterious way
I found my safe apartment
And hit the soothing hay.
Nor roused again until the sun
Had brought another day

Whene'er I see that lion's Serene complacency,
His lazy toleration,
I'm wondering if he Recalls that far-off Summer night
On which he snarled at me.

ARMY AND NAVY BILLS SATISFY CONFEREES

Former, Shorn of Universal Training, Selective Service and National Guard Provisions.

STANDING ARMY OF 297,000

Naval Bill Carries $436,000,000, with Appropriation of $20,000,000 for Aviation, Chiefly on Pacific.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The House and Senate conferees agreed today on the army reorganization bill and the naval appropriation bill, the former providing for a standing peace time army of 297,000 officers and men, and the latter carrying an appropriation of about $436,000,000.

The army reorganization bill emerged from conference shorn of Senate proposals for Federalization of the National Guard, for a voluntary universal training system and for automatic revival of the war-time selective service act on declaration of a war emergency.

As agreed to by the conferees, the bill provides for a peace time regular army of 297,000 officers and men, including the Philippine Scouts; for continuation of the National Guard substantially on the present basis and for the organization of an enlisted reserve corps liable for fifteen days of training duty a year except in case of war emergency.

French Plan for General Staff.

The Senate proposal to create the post of Under Secretary of War to have charge of procurement of war supplies was accepted in substance by placing this duty on the Assistant Secretary at an increased salary of $10,000 a year. The Assistant Secretary will function as a business manager. The bill also creates within the department a permanent War Council, composed of the Secretary, Assistant Secretary, the General of the Army and the Chief of Staff, which will determine military and munition problems.

Senate provisions reconstructing the General Staff on French Army lines and making separate branches of the Air Service, Signal Corps, and chemical warfare sections were retained, the air force to include 1,514 officers and 16,000 men commanded by a Major General; for the line of the army 21 Major Generals, 46 Brigadiers, 523 Colonels, 674 Lieutenant Colonels, 2,245 Majors and 4,490 Captains are provided, chiefs of infantry, cavalry and field artillery to be Major Generals, and the Porto Rican infantry to be incorporated into the regular army. Promotions will be from a single list under yearly classification with provision for discharge of unfit officers. The Summer training camp system is perpetuated to aid in developing reserve officers.

Direct representation of the National Guard on the General Staff was eliminated, but provision was made for assignment of guard officers when needed by the department. Military rank for army nurses, the superintendent with the rank of Major, also is provided.

The provisions for an enlisted reserve corps for civilians include authority to divide the country geographically into corps areas, each to include a division of National Guard or enlisted Reserve Corps troops with proper reserve officer components to constitute tactical organization for administrative purposes. Enlistments in the reserve would be for three years, except World War veterans, who would be accepted for one year.

$20,000,000 for Naval Aviation.

Next year's naval budget was fixed at about $436,000,000, under a complete agreement on the Naval Appropriation bill. The original House bill carried $425,000,000 and the Senate about $467,000,000. The conferees agreed on $20,000,000 for navy aviation, a compromise between the $15,800,000 voted by the House and $25,000,000 by the Senate.

In lieu of the Senate appropriation of $1,000,000 to begin work on the new Pacific coast base in San Francisco Bay, the conferees authorized a Congress Commission of five Senators and five Representatives to investigate available sites on San Francisco Bay and report to Congress not later than Dec. 31.

Virtually all increased aviation items were for Pacific coast projects.

The Senate yielded its proposed increase from $104,000,000 to $108,000,000 of appropriations to complete the three-year building program and also on the Senate amendment providing $11,700,000 for completing aviation and destroyer tenders at Hog Island. The House accepted the Senate amendment of $4,855,000 for a new hospital ship.

The permanent strength of the marine corps was placed at 27,400, and the Senate proposal for department development of naval oil lands not in litigation was agreed to, the Senate plans for the naval reserve forces also prevailed, but with a $50,000 appropriation instead of $500,000.

Items dropped included Boston drydock, $800,000; Puget Sound oil storage, $1,000,000; railroad connection, Las Animas, Col., (hospital), $50,000; Newport, R. I., torpedo station, $200,000.

Increases approved included Great Lakes to $578,000, and $200,000 additional for receiving barracks; $100,000 each for new cranes at Brooklyn and Philadelphia, and $50,000 for New London, Conn., submarine base.

Senate provisions for aviation bases at Los Angeles and Port Angeles, Wash., were changed to an investigating commission and a new site in Kings County, Wash.

GIVES WHITE HOUSE WOOL.

President Sends Season's Clip to Salvation Army.

Wool sheared several days ago from the White House sheep has been presented by President Wilson to the Salvation Army. News of the gift was received at the headquarters of the Salvation Army here yesterday in a letter from Joseph P. Tumulty, Secretary to the President.

After the sheep were sheared, removal of the flock from the White House lawn was considered. The Salvation Army offered the use of its drug addicts' farm at Tappan, N. Y., as a Summer quarters for the animals. Mr. Tumulty replied, stating that their removal was no longer considered necessary and offered the wool to the Salvation Army as a gift from the President.

ROMAN COIN SOLD FOR $140.

"Eid Mar" Denarius Brings Top Price at H. C. Miller Sale.

The sale of the late Henry C. Miller's coin collection was continued by the Elder Coin and Curio Company, 21 West Thirty-fifth Street, yesterday. The top price was $140, paid for the celebrated "Eid Mar" silver denarius, struck by order of Brutus, and intimating by caps and daggers the restriction of liberty to Rome by the assassination of Julius Caesar.

The denarius by Cleopatra, Queen of Egypt, and Marc Antony went for $75. The large bronze coin of the Emperor Vitellius brought $112.50, the record price in this country. The silver coin of Pescennius Niger, who was put to death as a rebel in A. D. 194, brought $20.

Three coins of the Vandal Kings, 474-76, sold for $45.50. A fine example of the Sextans, female head with peaked cap, brought $80. The bronze coin of Nero, fine and rare, went for $25. The sale will be continued today.

FRANCES STARR MARRIES ARTIST

OFF FOR THE BERKSHIRES

Bride, Who Has Been a Belasco Star for Several Years, Is to Continue Her Stage Career.

Miss Frances Starr, the actress, was married yesterday afternoon to William Haskell Coffin, illustrator, at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Herbert Shipman. Among those present at the ceremony were Mrs. Leopold Gladwell, Miss Starr's sister; Mrs. Willard L. Metcalf, and Leopold Godowsky. On leaving the church the wedding party went to Mrs. Gladwell's apartment at 158 West Fifty-eighth Street, where the bride's mother, Mrs. Emma Grant Starr, also lives. Later Mr. and Mrs. Coffin left on a motor trip through the Berkshires.

The bride announced just before her departure that she intended to continue her professional career and would be back in town again on June 7 to start rehearsals for a new Belasco production. She said she and Mr. Coffin had been engaged since last December. The couple went to the church from the marriage license bureau, where Miss Starr gave her age as 33 years. Mr. Coffin said he was 42 and a widower.

David Belasco began starring Miss Starr a number of years ago. She has been acting the leading role in "Tiger, Tiger" and closed her season in Brooklyn last Saturday night.

Miss Starr was born in 1886 and made her début in 1900 in Albany under the management of Frederick Bond. The following autumn she played with stock a season at the Murray Hill Theatre, this city, appearing in "The Private Secretary" and other plays. She remained three years with the company. She went to San Francisco and joined the Alcazar Stock Company in 1903, played June in "Blue Jeans" and Anne Wildairs in "A Lady of Quality," among other roles. In 1905 she joined the Castle Square Stock Company at Boston and later the stock company at Proctor's 125th Street Theatre. She played in "If I Were King" at the Garrick in 1906 and at the Bijou the following May took the part of Helen Stanton in "The Music Master." In November, 1906, she appeared at the Belasco in "The Rose of the Rancho," in which she continued through 1908. She next took the part of Laura Murdock in "The Easiest Way" and continued in the rôle until 1911. Her next appearance was as Dorothy in "The Case of Becky" and she toured in that play. She also scored a success in "Marie Odile."

PAUL J. RAINEY GIVES JUNGLE DINNER

Room at Delmonico's Transformed Into Dense Forest, with Stuffed Animals—The Guests.

Paul J. Rainey gave a jungle dinner and dance last night at Delmonico's. The dinner was held in the Marie Antoinette room, which was transformed into a veritable jungle, with stuffed animals. After the dinner there was an entertainment consisting of Russian dances and minstrels. Additional guests came in for the dancing and supper.

Among the dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Ronalds, Mr. and Mrs. William Sturgis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Rhinelander Stewart, Jr., Bradford Norman, John Wanamaker, Jr., Vincent Astor, Maurice Roche, Thornton Wilson, Reginald B. Lanier and Worthington Davis.

HONOR MRS. SPRECKELS.

French Artists and Government Hail Museum Planned in West.

PARIS, May 26.—Mrs. Adolph Spreckels of San Francisco was the guest of honor at a unique reception given here today by the French Government. The function was held in the salon of the Grand Palais, where Mrs. Spreckels was met by M. Honnorat, Minister of Fine Arts, and escorted through the salon, where the annual exhibition of the Society of Fine Arts is now in progress. Many of the most prominent artists in France were present.

The reception was given for the purpose of expressing to the guest of honor the appreciation of France and her artists of plans formulated by Mrs. Spreckels for the construction at Alta Plaza, overlooking the Golden Gate, of a replica of the Palace of the Legion of Honor, as a lasting memorial to French and American soldiers. The building will be used as a museum and will cost several million dollars. Mr. and Mrs. Spreckels have already purchased several fine collections for the new museum, and Mrs. Spreckels explained to M. Honnorat today that she hoped the place would become an American home for French and American art.

When she returns to America, the Spreckels museum will be represented in Paris by Marquis Pierre de Brettevilla.

Young Husband Says He and Miss Gould Could Not Face Summer's Separation.

Special to The New York Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., May 27.—Miss Edith C. Gould and Carroll J. Wainwright eloped to avoid the tragedy of a Summer separation, according to an interview at the Hotel du Pont here.

"We eloped because we knew that otherwise we would be separated for the whole Summer," the husband said. "You see, we were terribly in love with each other and in a few more days Edith would have gone to Lakewood or the Adirondacks, while I would have had to go to Easthampton, Long Island."

"Did our parents oppose the marriage?" said Mr. Wainwright, echoing the reporter's question. "I don't think so. The fact is, I don't think they knew anything about our affairs. You see, we never told them or any one of our engagement.

"We'd have done it sooner but it would have interfered with my wife's graduation from Miss Spence's school in New York. Her graduation meant a lot to her, so we both decided to wait till it was over. She was graduated Tuesday. We decided Tuesday night not to waste any more time.

"Remember, we have been engaged ever since last August. I met her for the first time then. She visited Miss Genevieve Cawthra at Easthampton. I loved her from the—oh, you know how it is!

"Tuesday night, after commencement exercises were finished at my wife's school, we decided the details. I met her at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fourth Street. We took the 10 o'clock train from New York. Because of the difference in time we arrived in Philadelphia at 11 o'clock. Nobody saw us leave New York. At Philadelphia I hired an automobile and we drove directly to Elkton, where we were married as quickly as possible."

Reception to Prince Lubomirski.

The Colonial Dames of the State of New York gave a reception yesterday afternoon at the Van Cortlandt House Museum, Van Cortlandt Park, for Prince Lubomirski, Minister from Poland, and Princess Lubomirski. The committee on Americanization of the organization was in charge of the affair. Mrs. Hamilton R. Fairfax, President, welcomed the Prince and the Princess, the former making a brief speech in reply. About two hundred attended.

3,000 IN PAGEANT HONOR WAR'S DEAD

CHORUS OF 1,000 ASSISTS

Three thousand persons took part in a pageant honoring the war dead and symbolizing, in memory of the fallen, rededication of all participants to the service of America at the Memorial Festival at Madison Square Garden last night under the auspices of the People's Liberty Chorus and a citizens' committee in co-operation with the American Legion and patriotic and welfare organizations.

Across the east end of the Garden the Liberty Chorus of 1,000, conducted by L. Camilieri, was grouped on a specially constructed platform. Two sections on each side of the building nearest the chorus were filled with mothers and relatives of men lost in the war. Other seats were occupied by friends of the participants and Red Cross and welfare workers, a large number of whom were their overseas uniforms and various A. E. F. service insignia.

After singing the National Anthem and invocation by Rabbi Samuel Schulman, the Rev. Herbert Shipman, a chaplain in the Expeditionary Forces, described the spirit of the Memorial Festival.

While the chorus was singing Gounod's "Grant Us Thy Peace," twenty white-robed young women of the Three Arts Club, bearing palms, walked slowly across the floor to the platform. They were followed by 1,000 girls in navy blouses from the Morris High School and the Roosevelt High School, each with flowers. They formed in two ranks around the arena.

Through this avenue, to the strains of Chopin's Funeral March, an artillery caisson was drawn by a detail of soldiers, sailors and marines, escorted by Civil War veterans and a platoon of infantry and bluejackets. All the lights in the Garden were turned off, with the exception of a brilliant white beam playing on the flag-draped caisson. As the school children tossed their garlands on the caisson, there was audible weeping from the four sections of seats reserved for wives and mothers of the dead.

In front of the speaker's platform the military ceremony for the burial of the dead was held. Father Francis Duffy, Chaplain of the 165th Infantry, spoke the benediction he had to make many times in France. After a salute by a firing squad and the sounding of taps, the cortege filed out of the garden, followed by the school girls and palm maidens.

With the Garden still dark, the searchlight shifted to a pyramid of steps in the centre of the arena which had been veiled during the ceremony for the dead. The pall was withdrawn and disclosed a luminous melting pot, guarded by four statuesque figures representing Justice, Love, Service and Unity. Trumpets sounded, summoning from every side of the Garden the Spirits of the Good—700 girls from the Wadleigh High School in brilliant draperies. The dance that followed was interrupted by a trumpet call for the entrance of the oppressed peoples of the earth. These figures, in dull colors, were led to the melting pot by the Spirits of the Good. Smoke issued from the melting pot as America, personified by Miss Catherine Curtis, appeared on the rim. The oppressed peoples fell on their faces, then arose and drew from their draperies American flags, while a great Liberty bell was lowered from the ceiling.

The Memorial Festival Committee was: Major Lorillard Spencer, Chairman; Mrs. Edward McVicker, Vice Chairman; Miss Isabel Lowden, Director; H. D. Burrell, Secretary. The ceremony was directed by Miss Barbara Schelling. Cooperating with the People's Liberty Chorus were: The American Legion, American Red Cross, Boy Scouts of America, Catholic Young Women's Patriotic Club, Community Service, Girl Scouts, Incorporated; Jewish Welfare Board, Salvation Army, Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A.

BABE RUTH BANGS OUT TWO HOMERS

BOSTON FANS CHEER HIM

Renounce Allegiance to Home Team When He Comes to Bat and Root for Slugger.

SHAWKEY HAS FIST FIGHT

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 27.—Even a handicap fistic encounter in which Bob Shawkey stuck to nature's weapons and Umpire George Hildebrand swung a hefty mask failed to crowd Babe Ruth out of the limelight at Fenway Park this afternoon. In a diamond battle that was as bitterly fought as the brief affair between pitcher and umpire, the Yankees took the opener of a four-game series with the Red Sox by 6 to 1. Two of New York's six-markers were manufactured exclusively by the battering Babe with wallops that will go down in the baseball history of the Republic.

Fans who have been looking at Ruth in his daily act of mauling pitchers at the Polo Grounds have been missing something. Ru...'s drives have disappeared over the attic roof or stopped abruptly against seats in the upper deck. This afternoon on a high field Babe had the satisfaction of seeing his blows uncoiled to the fullest extent. One home run, made off Harry Harper in the sixth inning, landed high up in the right-field bleachers, and the other, made off Karr, a right hander, hit the top of the forty-foot fence in left centre field and bounded to the top of a garage.

Boston fans to the number of 12,000 turned out to welcome the Yankee blunderbuss. He got a royal reception every time he did anything and the two home runs were greeted with applause that was remarkable as a tribute for a visiting player. The rooters were strong for the Red Sox when Babe was not hitting, but they swore allegiance to the Son of Swat when he toed the plate. They wanted to see Babe hit as he once hit for the home cause, and he showed 'em.

Two Tremendous Wallops.

Both home runs were colossal. Harry Hooper, playing deep for Ruth in the sixth inning, didn't move a muscle when the ball started his way. Harry is too good a judge of distance to start for anything like this particular clout.

The second circuit smash was particularly remarkable in view of the fact that Ruth, a confirmed right field hitter, drove so far in the other direction. The left field fence at Fenway Park is built on a ledge about six feet high and from foul to foul the outfield level is about forty feet. The ball hit the top of the fence about 150 feet from the left field foul line and then bounded on and on to disappear among some buildings far beyond the barrier. These two homers swell Babe's season total to ten, five of which have been made in the past five days.

The bout between Shawkey and Hildebrand grew out of a called ball on Wally Schang with the bases filled and two out in the Red Sox fourth inning. The count was three and two and when Hildebrand called the next pitch a ball Schang walked, forcing in the only run scored by the Red Sox. A long argument followed, with Huggins exerting himself around the plate to quiet his angry ball tossers.

Shawkey finally went back to his position and retired the side by fanning Harry Harper. In the meantime much conversation had been spilled and as he walked to the bench Shawkey informed Hildebrand that the latter knew he had missed the strike. More words followed and Hildebrand Shawkey off the field. The Yankee pitcher rushed at the umpire and in a second a fine little bout was in progress.

Shawkey Gets a Scalp Wound.

Shawkey swung real fists and Hildebrand bounced a swinging mask off Bob's head, inflicting a scalp wound that was not serious. Other players and Umpire Billy Evans rushed to the scene, all with the idea of keeping the men apart. Fortunately no other swings were made than by the two original combatants. Truck Hannah pulled Hildebrand away and other players grabbed Shawkey, ending the battle in short order.

For five minutes players swarmed around the plate, but there was no further outbreak. A lieutenant of police who does duty inside the field edged into the turmoil and apparently was ready to give somebody a ride to the House. Gow if a complaint was made. Shawkey walked off the field with blood streaming down behind his left ear from the scalp wound, quiet was restored and Babe Ruth set about to making the fans forget it.

Hoffman batted in Shawkey's place in the fifth and Mays finished the game. The fans gave Carl a chorus of jeers and hoots that must have been heard in Worcester, but he paid no attention to the reception and blanked the home team for the remainder of the game.

Babe Makes Great Catch.

A catch by Ruth off Eddie Foster in the third inning was the headliner in a set of many fielding gems. Babe raced to centre for a hard clout, checked the ball with his gloved hand and then shot out his bare hand to make the catch complete. McNally, McInnis and Hendryx also made fine plays. The Yankees picked up three runs in the first inning. Peck smashed a single to left as a starter and moved along on a pass to Meusel. Pipp's attempted sacrifice was a roller to Harper, but Foster muffed the throw at third and Peck raced home, Meusel reaching third and Pipp second on the error. McNally knocked down Ruth's hard smash and threw Babe out while Meusel scored and Pipp took third. After Pratt had gone out on strikes Bodie singled to right and Pipp scored. Ping overran first and Hooper's throw to McInnis got Bodie off first base.

The Red Sox put a run over in the fourth, the decision by Hildebrand which made the score possible being the cause of all the trouble. Menosky singled to left and was forced at second by Hendryx. Singles to left by McInnis and Foster filled the bases. After Scott fouled to Pipp for the second out Shawkey brought Schang down to a count of three balls and two strikes. Hildebrand's ruling that the next pitch was a ball forced Hendryx home and caused a long argument. Harper fanned for the third out. Shawkey started for the bench and when Hildebrand ordered him out for some remarks the trouble broke out.

SUES YANKS FOR $100,000.

Louis Hirsch, Ejected at Monday's Game, Alleges Assault.

Louis Hirsch, composer and author of musical comedies, brought suit in the Supreme Court yesterday against the American League Baseball Club of New York, which operates the Yankees, for $100,000 damages.

According to the complaint filed by Mr. Hirsch's counsel Lawrence Axman, former Assistant United States District Attorney, the plaintiff and his brother were sitting in the bleachers at the ball game at the Polo Grounds Monday afternoon. A man next to Hirsch was smoking a cigar, according to the complaint, and Hirsch changed his seat. An attendant, who noticed the men changing seats, told them it was against the rules for spectators to shift seats and ordered the plaintiff, Hirsch, to go back to his seat. The complaint alleges that an argument followed and the composer refused to obey the orders of the attendant. The complaint further alleges that another attendant was called and Hirsch was forcibly ejected.

Mr. Hirsch asks $100,000 damages for "assault and brutal treatment and humiliation."

MAGEE MAKES LEGAL MOVE.

Wants Part of Cubs' Reply Stricken Out and Rest Clarified.

CINCINNATI, May 27.—Lee C. Magee of the Cincinnati Reds has filed in the United States District Court a motion for an order of court requiring the Chicago National League ball club, defendant in his suit for $9,500 damages for alleged breach of contract, to make its allegations relative to "dishonest ball playing" on his part definite and certain.

Magee asks that the court require the club to state in detail the dishonest playing it claims plaintiff admitted on Feb. 10, 1920; to state where the dishonest playing occurred; to state when it first learned of the alleged dishonest playing; to state whether it notified plaintiff that he was released for dishonest playing and to state whether plaintiff was released under the 1919 or the 1920 contract.

Magee further moved the court to strike from the club's answer the entire fourth defense on the ground that it is surplusage and constitutes no part of a defense to the plaintiff's petition.

MORE BALL PARK ARRESTS.

Five Men Taken from Giants-Braves Game at Polo Grounds.

The war against gambling at baseball games, which was begun in New York this week by the American League, was taken up by the National League yesterday, when the Giants made their reappearance at the Polo Grounds after a long absence in the West. Five men were arrested during the Giants-Boston game and were haled before Magistrate McQuade in the Men's Night Court on charges of making and offering to accept wagers during the game. When arraigned before the Magistrate the men gave the following names: Leo Friedman, 31, a salesman, of 1,788 Marteman Avenue, the Bronx; Leo Saure, 37, a salesman, of 1,172 Vyse Avenue, the Bronx; Theodore Karriloff, a real estate dealer, of 866 Hunt's Point Avenue; John Kelly, 23, an electrician, of 377 West Thirty-eighth Street, and Lincoln Stamper, 33, a real estate dealer, of 225 West Twenty-third Street.

They were arrested by Detectives Gilman and Burke, attached to the detective staff of the Sixth Inspection District, who were stationed in the bleachers. Magistrate McQuade postponed the case to this morning, when it will be heard by Magistrate Frothingham in the Washington Heights Court. The men were released in $500 bail.

BRAVES PUT GIANTS OVER BUMPS TWICE

Returned Tourists Give Dismal Exhibition and Drop Double Bill, 5 to 2 and 5 to 0.

CROWD OF 20,000 ON HAND

Group of New York Pitchers Badly Jounced—Record Set for Number of Men Left on Bases.

The Giants played spiritless baseball at the Polo Grounds yesterday and paid the penalty by being defeated in both games of a double header by the Boston Braves. The score of the first clash was 5 to 2, while the McGraw's men got a kalsomine bath in the second tilt, 5 to 0. The desire for retaliation was at a low ebb among the New York players and when Boston slapped them, they didn't fight back as has been their custom.

A crowd of 20,000 was in a receptive mood for an exhibition of aggressiveness on the part of the returned wanderers, but the Giants took their bitter medicine without seeming to care. Even the presence of Johnny Evers on the coaching lines for McGraw's men failed to awaken the players to the fact that they were being roundly trounced.

Cadets Get Some Bad Pointers.

Hans Lobert, the old Giant infielder, who is now baseball coach at West Point, brought the Cadet ball team to the game to get some pointers. The Cadets are on their way to play the Navy but they saw nothing which will help them beat the Midshipmen. After the game Lobert was trying to think up some kind of entertainment which would help the Cadets forget all the bad baseball they saw.

The Braves reached Jess Barnes for a dozen hits in the second game, one of them a home run smash by Walton Cruise in the seventh inning. He shot the ball into the lower tier of the right field stand. Cruise got two singles besides. In this second clash Fletcher, Kelly and Young all got three base hits to left centre field, but the big hits off Scott came after two were out and netted nothing.

About the only unusual thing in this pair of games was the fact that they set a record in these parts for the number of players left on bases. No less than forty-nine runners were left stranded on both clubs during the afternoon—nineteen of the Giants and twenty-six Braves.

Powell singled to first in the opening inning and Pick rolled to Barnes. Jess threw wild to second for a force out and lost the runner. Mann was fired to Young, a single by Cruise sent Powell home. Powell singled in the third and Pick sacrificed. Mann was hit by a pitched ball for the third time during the afternoon, and when Cruise forced him at second Mann bumped his sore arm into Fletcher and had to go to the garage. Holke singled to right, the ball going through Young, while Powell and Cruise scored and the runner got to third. Cruise's homer brought another run in the seventh, and in the eighth O'Neil's double, Scott's single and Pick's sacrifice fly coined the final Brave tally.

Braves Made a Flying Start.

The Braves started to score runs in the first inning of the initial battle. Powell walked, went down on Pick's sacrifice, continued to third on Mann's out at first and scored on Cruise's single. Boeckel hit a hopper at Douglas so hard in the second that Phil was unable to use his pitching hand to good advantage and he was batted out of the box. With one gone, Maranville beat out a bunt to first and went to third on O'Neil's single. Rudolph sent a grounder to Fletcher, who chucked to Snyder to head off Rabbit. Snyder dropped the ball in the collision at the plate and Maranville was safe. Powell singled to right, scoring O'Neil. That was the end of Douglas. Winters taking his place—Winters was on the mound till the fifth and allowed no scoring.

The first Giant hit off Rudolph came in the fifth, when Kauff doubled to right. Sicking and Kelly were easy outs by the sky route. Snyder hit to Boeckel who had an easy chance to tag Kauff, but missed it.

Earl Smith was sent to bat in place of Winters and singled to right, scoring Kauff. The Giants' chances faded when Boeckel tossed Burns out at first.

With Hubbell pitching in the sixth Rudolph got a scratchy single to short and Powell walked. Peter Pick skied to Doyle, Mann was safe on Fletcher's error, and the bases were full. A sacrifice fly to Young by Cruise scored Rudolph.

Rudolph left the game in the sixth after Young and Fletcher singled. Eddie Eayrs came in and stopped the impending rally. Eayrs didn't last long. After he walked Kelly and Snyder in the seventh, McQuillan came to the rescue. McCarty, batting in place of Hubbell, rolled a grounder to Maranville. Rabbit was too anxious to make a double play and fumbled the ball, filling the bases. Burns fanned, and while Pick was throwing Young out at first, Kelly scored.

Ruth's Record of Four Homers in 3 Days Only Once Equaled

Demon statisticians who searched the records last night were unanimous in saying that Ruth's feat of driving out four homers in three days has been equaled only once in the history of baseball. The other slugger was Ed Williamson, who, while a member of the Chicago Colts in 1884, set the pace for Ruth. On June 21, 1884, Williamson garnered a four-base slam off the slants of Ed Buffington, the Boston twirler. The next game was on June 24, when Williamson hit Jim Whitney, also of Boston, for two homers. The fourth circuit drive came on June 26 at the expense of Charlie Radbourne, the Providence pitcher. In the same year Williamson established the mark of twenty-seven home runs, which Ruth shattered last season.

ROBINS DEFEATED IN THE ELEVENTH

Phils Borrow Dodger Uniforms and Then Turn Upon Their Benefactors—Score, 5-4.

The Phillies, ordinarily docile and amicable, were infused with enough pep on the plains of Flatbush yesterday afternoon to rise up and smite the Brooklyn Robins in front of about 5,000 home folks and scamper away with an eleven-inning ball game by a score of 5 to 4. It was little short of highway robbery, and Brooklyn is pretty much cut up about it. A disguise affected by the Quakers may have had something to do with it. Clad in the traveling uniforms of Uncle Robbie's men, even wearing their extra pairs of spiked shoes and using Brooklyn's own weapons of offense, its bats, the tribe from the banks of the placid Schuylkill deliberately robbed Clarence Mitchell and George Mohart of a ball game the Dodgers could have used to much advantage. Brooklyn's defeat while the Chicago Cubs were not playing toppled the Robins from their third place perch and today they are struggling at the foot of the first division.

En route from Chicago to Brooklyn the Phillies became detached from their uniforms at Albany. They arrived at the home of the Superbas with nothing more than their ambition and the depressed feeling of carrying the weight of the National League on their shoulders. Last place makes the standing of the clubs a heavy burden for any collection of baseball players to tote around with them. For a time it looked as if the game might have to be called off, but, after counting his reserves, Uncle Wilbert Robinson decided that he had enough of them he could spare so that the Phillies could borrow their spiked shoes. The uniform problem, of course, was a simple one to solve.

Not Exactly Fashion Plates.

So, the fitting process was begun. It took some time and some fitting—safety pins and one thing or another—in the club house before the Phils were ready to appear. Some of them weren't exactly fashion plates on the field, but they were covered and that was the principal desideratum.

Whatever else the Phillies may say about Brooklyn, they can't say the Dodgers are not hospitable. Not only did the Quakers borrow their uniforms, shoes and bats, but they borrowed the game itself, which is no way for guests to act, to say the least. It's true they let the Robins play around for eleven innings, but they might just as well have walked off with the game earlier, for all the consolation two extra innings provide for a defeated team.

Mitchell is chiefly to blame for the defeat, although Mohart is officially charged with the loss, because the Dodgers tied up the game after Mohart took up the pitching burden. Mitchell worked the first and second innings and until one was one in the third. By that time the Phils had collected three perfectly good runs. Then Mohart took up the burden after Meusel had bumped one of Mitchell's curves to left field for three bases. Mohart's first official act was to uncork a wild pitch that permitted to Meusel to score and his second act was to walk Jack Miller. Thereafter, however, he settled down and held the Phils helpless until the eleventh inning.

The eleventh was a catastrophe. It was worse than that, but there are some things which do not look well in print. Jack Miller started the rumpus by being thrown out by McCabe, who replaced Baird at third base at the start of the ninth inning. Paulette, however, crashed the ball to left for a single and rode home with the winning run when R. Miller banged a screeching double along the left field foul line. What happened thereafter didn't matter.

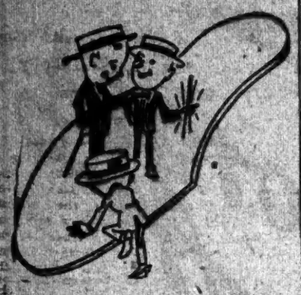
Phillies Away at Top Speed.

The Phillies lost no time in scoring. They grabbed a run in the first inning. Ivy Olson paved the way when he committed an error on Bancroft's grounder for a starter. Williams grounded a hit to right for a base and Bancroft scampered to third. Casey Stengel hit into a double play, Kilduff touching Williams on the line and throwing to Konetchy in time to retire Stengel. Bancroft, however, had time to score on the play.

Gasper Scheidt's warriors added another in the second inning. There was one out when Paulette singled to left centre. R. Miller filed out to Hy Myers, but Withrow singled to right and Paulette reached second. George Smith, the former Columbia pitcher, who worked on the mound for the Phillies, singled to left and Paulette scored. Bancroft forced Smith, Kilduff to Olson.

Again, in the third, the Phillies continued their scoring. Two runs resulted. Williams began the assault with a single to right. Stengel forced him, Baird to Kilduff. Then Meusel unleashed his triple, which not only scored Stengel but on which Mitchell rode to the cooling influence of the showers. Then it was that Mohart was called upon and uncorked his wild pitch, permitting Meusel to score.

It was in the fourth inning that the Dodgers got a brace of runs. There was one out when Hy Myers singled to centre. He scored on Konetchy's double to right and Konetchy also scored on K



Fine quality leathers are scarce, and the old law of supply and demand still holds good—

Yet—

Though showing only a normal profit on actual cost, the price of some shoes appears unreasonable, when sized up alongside shoes still carried at last season's price—$10 to $16.

So the butcher cut 'em down!

Some 9,000 pairs—mostly the most expensive.

For example—smart oxfords which were $23 and $24—now humbled to $19.

Extra-heavy soled oxfords, "Westpointer" last, were lately $22—now $15.

With suits and overcoats selling for $50 and $60, shoes must keep pace!

OLD ROSEBUD WINS FROM FLEET FIELD

Veteran Gelding Beats Crack Sprinters in Babylon Handicap at Belmont Park.

WILSON SHOWS A FAST ONE

Ramkin, a Son of Olambala, Captures Bouquet Stakes for Juveniles in Hard Drive.

Just when it had been generally agreed that Old Rosebud, for years an idol on the American turf, had seen his best days and had joined the pathetic class of has-beens, the old gelding from the stable of F. D. Weir came out at Belmont Park yesterday and showed a large and applauding crowd that the reports of his hopeless condition were at least premature. Running a race that was reminiscent of his efforts in better days, Old Rosebud scored a handy victory in the Babylon Highweight Handicap, a six-furlong dash through the straight course, which was the feature of the card, and made it the more impressive by defeating some crack sprinters, among them the Greentree Stable's Peter Piper.

There was a big improvement in the racing at Belmont Park yesterday. The fields were larger and the events were all well contested. In addition to the Babylon there was another feature in the Bouquet Stakes for two-year-olds which was captured by R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s, Ramkin.

Winner Carries Heavy Burden.

Old Rosebud had no great pull in the weights to help him, for despite his age he had been assigned 123 pounds for the test, and with the field that faced the barrier he was next to the top weight. Peter Piper carried 134 and all of the others were in receipt of many pounds. Yet Old Rosebud did not attract many supporters. The limited backing for him left him a 5 to 1 shot at post time, the greater part of the support going to Peter Piper, which had shown on numerous occasions that he could handle high weight.

Old Rosebud acted meanly at the post but got away nicely and was right at the heels of Peter Piper, which was away in front and which led to the stretch. Peter Piper ran right down the middle of the track while Old Rosebud went to the outside rail and, clear of all the other horses, made his run and gradually drew up and caught the leader. Kummer put up a fine ride on Peter Piper, but when the horses reached the end of the stands Old Rosebud had already won his race. Peter Piper was doing his best and it was not enough. Kummer put the whip to him but he could not make another effort and the aged gelding got home with a length and a half to spare. Peter Piper had second place safely all the time and was a length and a half in front of Leading Star at the finish.

Episode Made the Favorite.

There were six starters in the Bouquet Stakes and it was a good race. But two of the starters had ever raced before and so there was much confusion among the players. M. L. Schwartz's Episode was made the favorite largely on the fact that he had raced before. R. T. Wilson had two starters, Ramkin and Dry Moon being coupled, but he had declared to win with Ramkin, which he regarded as a promising youngster. This one is a son of Olambala-Carinya.

Ramkin got away quickly, raced into the lead and holding a straight course down the track fought it out with Polythia and won by the latter by half a length. His stablemate, Dry Moon was third. Ramkin had to be hard urged at the finish, but he showed gameness and disposed of his rival in the last one hundred yards.

Lawrence Waterbury brought his aged Nightstick back to the races in the opening race on the card, a six and a half furlong test on the main course, and the Broomstick gelding showed his class in a field of rather cheap performers a by winning with three lengths to spare over Poultney, with Huron 2d third. Nightstick appeared to be slightly high in flesh, but he ran as though he was in good shape. He was kept close to the early pace set by Sinn Feiner, and after he had raced the latter into submission he drew away in the stretch and had the race well in hand for more than a furlong. Poultney and Huron fought it out for the place, and the former gained the position by half a length. Sinn Feiner quit badly and was last among the five starters.

The steeplechase event went to J. E. Widener's Joyful, while a stablemate of the winner, Wisest Fool, was second and King Terry third.

Davis Cup Challenge Round to be Held in Auckland, N. Z.

WELLINGTON, May 27.—Auckland has been chosen as the scene of the Davis Cup tennis tournament challenge round by the New Zealand Lawn Tennis Association, which recommends that the tournament be held Dec. 20 to 24.

By agreement with the Australian Tennis Association, the defense of the Davis Cup championship, so long as it is held by Australasia, is assigned periodically to the New Zealand Association. The last time the cup was defended in New Zealand was at Christchurch, Dec. 29 and 30 and Jan. 1, 1911-12, and the result was disastrous to the American challengers, W. A. Larned, B. C. Wright and M. E. McLoughlin, who lost all their matches to Brookes, Dunlop and Heath, the defenders. Continued damp and inclement weather hurt the competition, and it may be hoped that better luck will obtain in that respect in Auckland. This will be Auckland's first experience as the scene of the Davis Cup challenge round. The matches have usually been held in Melbourne or Sydney, N. S. W.

LADY FAIR PLAY IN DISPLAY OF SPEED

Catches Leaders in the Stretch and Wins Churchill Downs Feature with Ease.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 27.—Lady Fair Play, a four-year-old daughter of Fair Play and Crystal Maid, gave a very good exhibition of her speed and courage at Churchill Downs this afternoon, when she won the Jefferson Post Handicap for fillies and mares over the six-furlong route. She won very easily despite the fact that at one time it appeared as though Refugee II. would make a runaway race of it.

There were seven starters in this event, which was the feature on the program, and at the break Refugee II. and Blushing Beauty raced to the front and set a sizzling pace. Blushing Beauty soon had enough and dropped back, but Refugee stole out to a lead of five lengths and seemed to have the race in hand.

Lady Fair Play was slow to begin, but she moved up steadily, caught the tired Blushing Beauty and then took after the leader. As Refugee turned into the stretch she tired suddenly and dropped back so fast that almost everything else in the race passed her. Lady Fair Play caught the tired leader in the stretch and went on to win by a length and a half, Galil Curci taking the place and Looking Up finishing third.

MISS POLLAK PUTS MISS GOSS TO ROUT

Harlem Tennis Player Gains an Easy Victory Over Second Ranking American Star.

Miss Helene Pollak of the Harlem Tennis Club, national indoor woman champion and holder of the Middle States title outdoors, provided the biggest surprise of the Pelham Country Club's invitation tournament yesterday by defeating Miss Eleanor Goss, the second ranking player of the American women, by the one-sided score of 6—1, 6—2. She thereby entered the final round of the singles and will meet Mrs. Edward Raymond on Saturday afternoon, the latter having come through the semi-finals by a three-set victory over Miss Margaret Grove, scores 6—0, 5—7, 6—2.

Mrs. Marshall McLean and Mrs. Rawson Wood became finalists in the doubles by winning from Mrs. Raymond and Mrs. Frank Weite in straight sets, the other bracket awaiting the winner of the match between Miss Goss and Miss Gillesaudeau and Miss Florence Ballin and Mrs. Theodore Cassebeer, to be played today. In the mixed doubles there were several unusually close matches, with the favorites generally surviving.

Miss Pollak's notable triumph over last year's winner of the Pelham tournament was made possible by her unvarying steadiness, coupled with a speed off the ground that she has only recently developed. At exchanging drives from deep court she was always the superior of Miss Goss, and when the tall West Side girl tried coming to the net she found herself cleanly passed with distressing frequency. In her anxiety to win the points outright, Miss Goss fell into a multitude of errors, and when both speed and accuracy had deserted her the sum total of her resistance was gone.

Winner Shows No Weaknesses.

Miss Pollak, playing splendidly in every department, and finding her opponent's shots more and more to her liking, took no chances of failure, but went after every point with grim determination, and what might have been an upset by a narrow margin turned into a veritable rout. The indoor champion scored three games before Miss Goss tallied with a deuce session. Miss Pollak won the next on service, and then put all her effort into breaking through her rival's fast delivery, a feat which she accomplished after another long deuce game. Her own service gave her the set at 6—1.

The little Harlemite started right after the second in equally determined fashion, and broke through again at the very outset. She led at 3—0 before Miss Goss managed to score with a long drive. Then the game, in Class B, Lewis Gardiner had 107—21—86. The effort seemed to tire her, and Miss Pollak rushed ahead for three more games in a row, making the score 5—1 in her favor. Miss Goss won once more on service, and then her challenger put on full steam and made a grandstand finish with a love-game for the set and match, 6—2. The scores by points follow:

	FIRST SET.								Tu.	Pts.	Ga.
Miss Pollak	4	4	3	4	1	4	7	4—30		6
Miss Goss	2	2	1	2	1	0	5	2—19		1
	SECOND SET.
Miss Pollak	4	4	5	6	4	4	2	4—33		6
Miss Goss	1	2	7	4	2	2	4	0—22		2

Miss Grove Makes Sturdy Fight.

Miss Grove put up a great fight against Mrs. Raymond after losing the first set without tallying a single game. Gradually getting control of her strokes she actually outstendied her more experienced opponent, and squared the match with a deuce set after a desperate battle. The latter having come through the semi-finals by a three-set victory over Miss Margaret Grove, scores 6—0, 5—7, 6—2.

Mrs. Marshall McLean and Mrs. Rawson Wood became finalists in the doubles by winning from Mrs. Raymond and Mrs. Frank Weite in straight sets, the other bracket awaiting the winner of the match between Miss Goss and Miss Gillesaudeau and Miss Florence Ballin and Mrs. Theodore Cassebeer, to be played today. As an added attraction a team contest was held, the aggregate of the two players on a team being combined for the total. Harry Ommerle and Thomas Cantrell carried off this prize with a combined gross of 231, and combined net of 181.

MRS. BARLOW LOSES PHILADELPHIA TITLE

Champion Eliminated in Semi-Final Round by Miss Bell, Who Will Play Mrs. Fox.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 27.—Miss May Bell of the Philadelphia Cricket Club flashed into the golfing limelight today by eliminating Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow of the Merion Cricket Club, the present champion, in the semi-final round of the women's golf championship at Merion, winning her match on the seventeenth green by 3 up and 2 to play.

Tomorrow she will play Mrs. Caleb F. Fox of the Huntingdon Valley Country Club in the final round. Mrs. Fox put out her clubmate, Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, today by 2 and 1. It was the third year in succession that Mrs. Stetson has been eliminated in the semi-final round.

Miss Bell has never gone further than the second round before, although she has qualified in six championships. Every time she has been put out by one of the stars.

Miss Bell on several holes outdrove her opponent and throughout her game was much steadier. Mrs. Barlow's weakness was on the greens, where ordinarily she is brilliant.

At the turn Miss Bell was 2 up. The twelfth was won by her in fine style. Mrs. Barlow had a chance to reduce the lead on the short thirteenth, but missed a short putt. Mrs. Barlow played the difficult fifteenth splendidly, and this was the only hole that Miss Bell threw away.

Starting the sixteenth, the first of the famous quarry holes, Miss Bell was 2 up and 3 to play. Both were on the green in three, but Mrs. Barlow overran her putt, and, when Miss Bell laid her fourth dead, Mrs. Barlow conceded the hole and the match.

The defeat of Mrs. Barlow was the sensation of the day, for it was felt that the champion would win even after a hard match. Few women in the country have won more medal play tournaments than Mrs. Barlow, but she wasted many chances today by weak putting.

LANGE LEADER ON LINKS.

Scores That Look Like Alpine Range Made by Woolen Men.

The Engineers Country Club course at Roslyn, L. I., scene next September of the national amateur championship, was turned over to the American Woolen Company's golf association yesterday for its annual Spring gambol. Twenty-eight comprised the field, and they had experience similar to most other visitors who have tried the difficult course and found low scores practically impossible.

A. S. Lange led the Class A players, who boast low handicaps with a low net of 76, his gross was 105. In Class B, Lewis Gardiner had 107—21—86. The Kickers' Handicap event went to E. E. Thorn with 125—32—93. As an added attraction a team contest was held, the aggregate of the two players on a team being combined for the total. Harry Ommerle and Thomas Cantrell carried off this prize with a combined gross of 231, and combined net of 181.

ANDERSON'S 81 LEADS FIELD

Wins Gross Honors in Advertising Men's Golf Tourney at Nassau.

John G. Anderson gained entry yesterday in the tournament of the Metropolitan Advertising Men's Golf Association, held at Nassau, and succeeded in carrying off almost all the loose honors available. The Siwanoy star was deprived of a handicap rating for the affair, but he proceeded to show that this made little difference, by going out and winning the low gross laurels with an 81. Don M. Parker turned in an 83—7—76, which was low enough to win the net prize. Charles Leake, a Garden City linkman, had 83—6—77, and Grantland Rice of Englewood had 84—6—78.

One of the innovations of the day was a nine-hole qualifying test and a nine-hole match play event, which also went to Anderson. In this feature Rice took the consolation honors.

GIRLS START TENNIS TILTS.

Nine Youthful Players in Tourney at West Side Club.

A tennis tournament for girls under eighteen years of age was begun at the West Side Club, Forest Hills, yesterday under the direction of a committee headed by Miss Adele Cragin. Although only nine entries responded, they were of well balanced strength, and there was some good play by the youngsters in the opening rounds.

Miss Martha Bayard, of Short Hills, who won the girls' indoor event at the Seventh Regiment Armory last winter, started well with a decisive victory over Miss Helen Hooker, scored 6—0, 6—3. The elder of the Hooker sisters, Adelaide, scored an even more easily in her opening match, and should be Miss Bayard's closest rival for the honors of the tournament.

Doubles as well as singles will be played today, and the event will be finished tomorrow.

The summary follows:

First Round—Miss Martha Bayard defeated Miss Helen Hooker, 6—0, 6—4.

Second Round—Miss Adelaide Hooker defeated Miss Emily Lloyd, 6—0, 6—0; Miss Anna McGirr defeated Miss Virginia Miller, 6—4, 8—6 (defaulted).

GARDNER'S TITLE SAFE.

Holds Billiard Honors Against White's Challenge, 300 to 205.

Edward Gardner successfully defended the Metropolitan Challenge Cup in an 18.2 balkline billiard match at the Crescent Athletic Club last night against Charles White. The score was 300 to 205. It was the third time that Gardner had scored a victory in competition for the cup. It must be won five times, not necessarily in succession, to become the personal property of any individual.

Gardner won the cup from Francis Appleby earlier in the season in a match played at the Lotus Club. Appleby had previously taken the cup from the late J. Ferdinand Poggenburg several years ago in the last competition for the trophy that was held until this year. White recently challenged Gardner for the cup and the match was arranged for last night. It resulted in some excellent balkline billiards, a fact attested to by the winner's average of 11 14-26 and his high run of 60, and the loser's average of 6 5-25 and his high run of 32.

Gardner played a particularly strong game of close billiards. His nursing at the foot of the table during his run of 60 and his other high clusters of 23, 24, 22 and 20, was a feature of the match. He was in excellent stroke and the balls broke well for him. White, on the other hand, was not favored by very many of the breaks of the game. Invariably lineups and bad rolls severely handicapped him. Had Dame Fortune been a little kinder to him the final score would have been much closer.

Both players were slow in getting started and at the end of the sixth inning White was leading by a score of 88 to 29. In the eighth inning, however, Gardner forged ahead with a run of 17 and thereafter he was never headed.

The score by innings follows:

E. Gardner—0 0 15 0 6 8 0 17 14 16 4 20 0 24 7 22 21 2 0 17 10 2 0 60 10 8. Total—300. Average, 11 14-26; high run, 60.

C. White—0 8 0 0 10 0 0 3 16 2 20 5 15 0 7 5 0 20 0 3 0 7 0 16 32. Total—205. Average, 6 5-25; high run, 32.

CRESPI REACHES FINAL.

Defeats Naughright, 25 to 12, in Brooklyn Billiard Tourney.

Robert Crespi, the one-armed sensation, and Ray Naughright met in a match in the annual handicap three-cushion billiard tournament at the National Recreation Academy in Brooklyn last night for the privilege of continuing in the final rounds of the tourney, and Crespi won. Both men are scratch players, competing for 25 points. The score was: Crespi, 25; Naughright, 12, in fifty innings. It was the last of the games in the preliminary round.

TO BOX UNDER WALKER LAW.

Army Olympic Trials Will Be First Bouts Since Bill's Passage.

The first boxing bouts to be conducted under the new Walker law will be the amateur bouts to be held June 8 and 9 at the 69th Regiment Armory, to decide Olympic eliminations for the Eastern Department of the United States Army. Inspector Daly and Commissioner Enright have sanctioned the meet.

There will be sixteen bouts of four rounds each on the first night, and on the second and final night there will be eight bouts of six rounds each. All the bouts will be to a referee's decision.

HEIGHTS TEAM IS WINNER.

Defeats Seventh Regiment Tennis Club by 5 Matches to 3.

The University Heights tennis players continued their successful season's record yesterday by defeating the representatives of the Seventh Regiment Club, 5 matches to 3, on the home courts, the final doubles encounter remaining unplayed after victory had been assured. The meeting marked the return to tournament tennis of young Frank T. Anderson, who has been ill, but whose strength is still insufficiently restored to in evidence to dispose of Herbert H. Manchester by scores of 6—3, 6—4. The elder brother of the Anderson family, Fred, duplicated this performance in his defeat of Paul Martin, who last year put him out of the Woodmere tournament.

The soldiers' third victory was won in the singles by George G. Moore, Jr., who scored over John Whyte in straight sets. In the doubles however, the University Heights Club showed a complete supremacy. Manchester and Whyte winning easily from Frank Anderson and Captain Samuel McAllister, while Martin and L. V. Robinson pulled out a terrific three-set struggle against Fred Anderson and Moore. Ben Letson, W. M. Fischer and J. W. Mersereau were the University Heights winners in the singles.

The summary:

University Heights, 5; Seventh Regiment, 3.

Singles—Frank T. Anderson, 7th Regiment, defeated H. H. Manchester, University Heights, 6—3, 6—4; Fred G. Anderson, 7th Regiment, defeated Paul Martin, University Heights, 6—3, 6—4; Ben Letson, University Heights, defeated Samuel R. McAllister, 7th Regiment, 6—4, 1—3, 6—4; J. W. Mersereau, University Heights, defeated W. Dickson Cunningham, 7th Regiment, 7—5, 6—4; W. M. Fischer, University Heights, defeated T. A. Bruno, 7th Regiment, 6—0, 6—1; G. G. Moore, Jr., 7th Regiment, defeated John Whyte, University Heights, 6—4, 6—3.

Doubles—Manchester and Whyte, University Heights, defeated Frank Anderson and McAllister, 7th Regiment, 6—4, 6—1; Martin and L. V. Robinson, University Heights, defeated Fred Anderson and Moore, 7th Regiment, 6—4, 3—6, 7—5.

Chick Evans Makes Sure He'll Not Be Left Out at Toledo

Chick Evans evidently does not intend to be left out of the limelight at Toledo in August, when all the great golfers of this country and at least Harry Vardon and Ted Ray of England assemble for the national open championship. Although ten weeks remain before the great event, Chick has already engaged rooms at the Inverness Club, Toledo, and has told his friends he means business this year in his attempt to regain the title he held in 1916. S. P. Jermain of the Inverness Club reports that requests for hotel and club reservations are being received daily both from prospective entrants and from golf fans from all over the country, who will see from Aug. 10 to 13 the greatest national open tournament since 1913, and possibly one even greater than that.

PENN AND CORNELL TRACK FAVORITES

Probable Winner of Intercollegiates Hard to Pick, However —Trial Heats Today.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—Cornell, Princeton and Pennsylvania appear to be the favorites for the forty-fourth intercollegiate track and field championships to be contested here tomorrow and Saturday at Franklin Field, with Dartmouth and California looming up as dark horses. Pennsylvania and Cornell seem to have the inside track, but with five places counting for points in each event the distribution among a considerable number of institutions is likely to upset calculations, so that the victory of any one of the five mentioned would not occasion surprise.

Trial heats will begin tomorrow at 3 P. M. in all events excepting the mile and two-mile runs. There are thirteen events, first place in each, according to the present system, counting five points, second, four, and so on down to one point for fifth place. The games are expected to draw the biggest crowd that ever attended an intercollegiate meet, and indications are that weather and track conditions will be all in favor of the athletes.

Among the teams that arrived today were Cornell, Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth, Syracuse and Pittsburgh, and their men went through light tuning-up exercise on the track. Twenty-eight institutions will be represented in the meet, the University of California and Leland Stanford coming from the Pacific Coast to compete. Special importance attaches to the games in view of the bearing the winning performances may have upon the selection of the Olympic team, while the coach of the winning team will acquire much prestige as a possible trainer of the Olympic athletes.

Among the athletes whom many of the dopesters have picked as the likeliest winners in the running events are Morris Kirksey of Leland Stanford in the sprints; Earl Eby of Penn, Mayer of Cornell, and Driscoll of Boston College in the middle distances; Shields of Penn State, Brown of Penn, Crawford of Lafayette, McDermott of Cornell, Sprott of California and others in a strong field in the mile, and Swede of Princeton in the two-mile. In the hurdles, Earl Thomson of Dartmouth seems to have the call, though Smith of Cornell and Erdman of Princeton should push him to record figures to win.

Harvard, which with thirteen victories has won theg reatest number of championships since the event was inaugurated in 1876, has not even an outside chance this year. Only six men have made the trip here from Harvard and Captain O'Connell, the champion miler, who was injured at Princeton, will not be able to compete.

The list of winning colleges since 1876 follows. Cornell and Yale have won the second largest number of victories, nine each, while Penn is third with eight:

MILK PRICE RISE WON BY DAIRYMEN

Gradual Increases for Four Months to Advance Cost Three Cents a Quart.

ADVANCE TO PUBLIC IN JULY

Officials of the Dairymen's League announced last night at their headquarters in this city that they had reached an agreement with officials of the New York Milk Conference Board, the organization of the milk distributors and manufacturers, whereby the producer will receive a gradual increase in the price of milk until the end of September, when it will have risen nearly three cents a quart.

The announcement was made at the conclusion of a series of conferences between the representatives of the farmers' organizations and the distributers during the past five days. The dairymen were asked earlier in the day to agree to accept five and four-tenths cents a quart for milk containing three per cent. of butter fats, but they rejected the offer and insisted on a little more than six and six-tenths cents.

With the announcement of the agreement the following statement was issued:

"An agreement was reached tonight between the Dairymen's League and the New York Milk Conference Board whereby each agreed to recommend to its members that milk will be sold and purchased for four months commencing June, 1920, at the following prices for 100 pounds of milk, testing 3 per cent. of butter fat: June, $2.83; July, $2.95; Aug., $3.35; Sept., $3.65.

Farmers to Sell All Milk.

"These prices are effective at the 200 to 210 mile freight zone with the usual differentials for freight and butter fat. All the milk of the farmers is to be sold. The dealers will keep all plants now in operation during the four months, except as they may be closed by the mutual consent of the individual dealer and the League.

"The farmer will receive four cents per hundred pounds for each one-tenth of 1 per cent. of butter fat in excess of 3 per cent. Figured on the bases of milk testing 3.00 per cent. butter fat the dealer will pay to the producer per quart as follows: June, 6.0653; July, 6.0678; Aug., 6.0703; Sept., 6.0627.

"The producer's price for the current month (May), is $2.55 per 100 pounds for 3 per cent. milk. This is at the rate of 5 4-10 cents a quart for 3 per cent. milk, and 5 9-10 cents for 3 6-10 per cent. milk."

It was explained that although the agreement will be reported to the members of the dairymen's organization and the members of the distributors and manufacturers' organization, no opposition was expected to the agreement on either side.

It was intimated last night that with the gradual increase in the price of milk each month to the distributor there would be a corresponding increase in the price to the consumer after July 1.

Only Half Cent Increase.

An official of the Dairymen's League explained that while the 3 per cent. milk is used as the basis for the scale of prices paid to the farmer, milk which tests less than 3 6-10 per cent. cannot, under the law, be sold in the city for household consumption, and that, therefore, the increase in price of household milk by the producer is not much more than half a cent over the current price. He said the increases for the four months of the Summer will be about on a par with the usual Summer increases.

On the figures given for the 3.6 per cent. milk there will be an increase to the farmer of a quarter of a cent for July over June, more than three-quarters of a cent for August over July, and about two-thirds of a cent for September over August.

Soon after the farmers and the distributers reached an agreement in April last on the price of milk to the farmer for the current month, Patrick D. Fox, President of the Borden's Farm Products Company, announced that Grade B milk would be sold to the consumer at 15 cents a quart and 9 cents a pint, and 18 cents a quart for Grade A milk. His company would sell loose milk in stores in the customers' own containers at 10 cents a quart, he said.

GARRISON SPURNS B.R.T. STRIKE THREAT

after telling of the visit of the committee and the proposal to strike, said:

"I have requested the men to delay this action for twenty-four hours to give me an opportunity to take the matter up with you and the general manager to see if a conference of their committee with you or Mr. Menden cannot be arranged. From my conversation with the committee, I am satisfied that their grievances can be amicably adjusted, thereby preventing a tie-up of the system, which will be a great inconvenience to thousands of people.

"As Mayor of the city, I most urgently appeal to you to grant this conference."

The Mayor sent a similar letter to Vice President Menden.

Mr. Garrison, in his reply, after quoting the names of the committeemen as given in the Mayor's letter, said:

"In the first place there is no J. W. O'Donnell employed on the B. R. T. system, and although you state he is International representative of something, I do not know of what. Neither O'Donnell, nor P. L. Reeves, Paul McNally or E. A. Reynolds, are, so far as I know, employes of the B. R. T. system. E. L. Smith is an employe of the B. R. T. in the Way and Structure Department and is not in the Power House or Sub-Station Department.

"On the 5th of May a communication was addressed to me in which I was informed that there was a committee representing the Power and Sub-station Departments of the R. B. T. system, and to that communication there were signed as members of that committee the following employes: Messrs. Jordan, Pfeiffer and Doremus.

"I already have an agreement with the hourly rated employes in the power stations and, of course, can only properly deal with the other party to that agreement, which is the committee representing such employes. I could not, therefore, properly dealt with a new committee during the time of the existing agreement. I therefore informed Messrs. Jordan, Pfeiffer and Doremus of the facts and stated that if the sub-station employes, with whom I have no present agreement, would get together and appoint from their own number a committee to represent them, I would be pleased to meet with them at any time mutually convenient. I have had no response to that letter and do not know what action the sub-station employes have taken.

"So that there may be no misunderstanding I will summarize the situation:

"I have an agreement covering the hourly rated power station employes and can only deal with the committee with which I made that agreement. I have no agreement with the sub-station employes and will be glad at any time to meet a committee appointed by them from their own number. I will not negotiate concerning wages and working conditions of the employes of the B. R. T. system with a committee composed of men not employed on the system.

"It would be an excellent thing and very beneficial to the public interests if, when these alleged committees come to see you, you would inquire and ascertain the facts before you encourage them by seeming to sympathize with what they want, thus confusing a situation which is difficult enough as it is and which your action tends to make more difficult."

The committee is expected to make another effort today to see either Mr. Garrison or Mr. Menden.

PRESBYTERIANS QUIT INTERCHURCH PLAN

But Agree to Provide $100,000 for 1920-21 if the Movement Is "Properly Organized."

CRITICISE FINANCE METHODS

One Denomination and One Individual Said to Have First Claim on Funds.

NAMES NOT ANNOUNCED

But They Are Said to be the Northern Baptists and J. D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—The Presbyterian Church in general assembly here, late this afternoon passed by more than a two-thirds majority a resolution to terminate its relationship with the Interchurch World Movement. As a concession to the few remaining friends of the movement, however, the General Assembly voted to maintain for one year an advisory relation with the movement and to contribute to it, "when properly reorganized, the sum of $100,000 in equal quarterly installments for the year 1920-1921," but that in this temporary advisory relationship the Presbyterian Church in no manner recognizes its liability for any indebtedness not specifically authorized by the Interchurch Movement.

"It was on account of the legal difficulties of one kind and another that the General Assembly decided to cut off from the Interchurch World Movement," said John Willis Baer, Vice President of the Union National Bank of Pasadena, in reading the report of the Executive Commission. The whole issue was re-committed to that body two days ago after considerable debate on the floor of the Assembly.

"There is one denomination that has been named first, and an individual who has been named second as preferential creditors," Mr. Baer announced, a statement which astonished the Commissioners.

No names were mentioned on the platform, but in conversations in the hotel lobbies the denomination was said to be the Baptist Church North, and the individual John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Mr. Baer stated that these "preferential underwritings" amount to between $3,000,000 and $3,000,000, "which would mean that if the Interchurch Movement failed as a business concern this 'one denomination' and this 'one individual' would have to be paid first, and that any other denominations or individuals who had done any underwriting could divide what was left, or perhaps get nothing."

Presbyterian leaders assert that a year ago in St. Louis the church went into the Interchurch Movement in ignorance of any "preferential underwriting" having been done.

The Interchurch debt at present is said to amount to $9,000,000, and the opinion is expressed here that Mr. Rockefeller should pay this himself.

There is much criticism of John R. Mott, who some weeks ago, when the Interchurch Movement was facing this financial crisis, resigned as Chairman of its Executive Committee and went to Europe.

"Preference" Disclosure Affects Vote.

Mr. Baer, in presenting his official report, stated that "our own counsel has raised the question as to whether the Presbyterian Church is not liable for a share of the Interchurch debt." Mr. Baer recommended a complete divorce of the Presbyterian Church from the Interchurch "on account of liabilities and other things."

The effort to keep the Presbyterians in the Interchurch Movement was led by the Rev. Dr. C. Waldo Cherry, of Central Church, Rochester, N. Y., but from the moment the "preferential underwriting" became known general opinion swung against it.

The leaders against the Interchurch Movement from the first have been the Rev. Dr. Mark A. Matthews, of Seattle, and the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, of Pittsburgh.

James M. Speers, President of the James McCutcheon Company, of New York City and Montclair, N. J., who took the place of Mr. Mott as Chairman of the Interchurch Executive Committee, announced that he was in favor of the adoption of what was known as "Plan B," which was subsequently adopted.

Mr. Baer had presented two plans, which he referred to as "A" and "B." Plan "A," which was rejected, did provide for further funds to be paid by the Presbyterian Church to the Interchurch movement, and called for a conference of Presbyterian representatives with other denominations to discuss the advisability of utilising some of the federated organizations of Evangelical Churches already in existence and carrying forward the work begun by the Interchurch.

Provide $100,000 for This Year.

After recounting the obligations already undertaken, which were not to exceed $1,000,000, the conclusion of Plan "B," which was adopted, reads, in part:

"First—That the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church decline to incur any further financial obligation for the Interchurch World Movement, as now organized and controlled; that it terminate its relationship with the said movement and withdraw any representative it may have therein.

"Second—That the General Assembly authorize the Executive Commission to take immediate steps to provide for the payment by the Presbyterian Church of the amount already underwritten in behalf of the Interchurch world movement as authorized by the Executive Committee or of such part of that amount as may still be owing.

"Third—That official notice of this action be given to the Interchurch World Movement, to the New Era Committee and to the boards and agencies of the Presbyterian Church.

"Fourth—Realizing the deep and widespread feeling in the Church that some definite agency of a co-operative character should be in operation, and in order to give further effect to the action of the Assembly of 1919, the General Assembly constitutes to the Interchurch World Movement, when properly reorganized, for the year 1920-21, the sum of $100,000 in equal quarterly installments, to be used for the payment of its current operating expenses for said period, and for no other purpose. * * * No part of said sum shall be paid until the Interchurch World Movement has been organized so as to insure an efficient and economical administration of its affairs and the adoption of a budget for the year 1920-21, not in excess of $1,000,000, exclusive of interest charges. * * * If in the judgment of the Executive Commission the relations of the General Assembly and the reorganized Interchurch World Movement shall at any time become such as to make probable the operation of liabilities in excess of the amount herein provided for, the Executive Commission shall have power to terminate such relationship.

"Fifth—The General Assembly in no manner recognizes its liability for any indebtedness not specifically authorized by it.

"Sixth—The Executive Commission is authorized to select persons who shall represent the General Assembly in its co-operative work with said movement; and the Commission shall have full discretion as to the manner in which said representatives shall function with the representatives of other agencies affiliated with said movement."

Mr. Speers said the reason he was in favor of Plan "B" was because "it gives the Interchurch Movement a fighting chance to reorganize and make it what it ought to be."

"Other plans adopted at the two days' Interchurch Conference in New York last week call for a reorganization," he said, and he read a telegram from Des Moines, Iowa, stating that the General Conference of the Methodist Church, in session there, had given enthusiastic indorsement to the Interchurch Movement."

Reorganize New Era Movement.

The reorganization of the New Era Movement, a strictly Presbyterian effort within the Church, was also brought about today. The report of the committee on bills and overtures, read by the Rev. Dr. John B. Laird of Franklin Church, this city, recommended that the Assembly reiterate its confidence in the object and purpose of the movement and commend it to the study and support of the Church.

In order that the organization may be more complete and better adapted to the supervision of its work, it is recommended that a committee of twenty-five members shall be established, thirteen to be from the boards and agencies of the Church. The other twelve members are to consist of six ministers and six laymen, to be selected by the Executive Commission. The committee is to have charge of the administration and direction of this work as soon as it is constituted.

The expenses of the New Era Movement are to be allotted to the several boards and agencies of the Church, on a pro rata basis.

The committee now has an indebtedness of approximately $600,000, and economy during the coming year is recommended.

A sum not exceeding $400,000 is to be the maximum expenditure for the present year.

On request of the Rev. Dr. William Henry Roberts, for the last thirty-six years clerk of the General Assembly, a committee of four was named with power to administer the affairs of his office during his illness. Dr. Roberts spoke today from a wheeled chair.

Vice President Marshall Speaks.

Vice President Marshall, in an address to the delegates tonight in the Academy of Music, said that "Congress could not settle a cup of coffee." The topic of the Vice President was "Christian Education," and the occasion was a mass meeting under the auspices of the Presbyterian Board of Education.

Mr. Marshall pleaded for the education of Presbyterian boys and girls in Christian institutions from the time they finish the eighth grade.

"You and I want a League of Nations to stop the war," he said, and he called on God to come down and teach us that peace is better than all things else.

"Who is going to settle these questions? Congress is not; Congress could not settle a cup of coffee," he said, adding:

"You are going to settle these questions. Get away from the idea that the responsibility for the whole country rests upon the President of the United States or upon Congress. It rests upon you and your families."

The other speakers were Dr. John H. Finley, Commissioner of Education of New York State, and Dr. Edgar Fahs Smith, Provost of the University of Pennsylvania.

"If I have any mission here this evening," the Vice President continued, "it is not to register my knowledge but my faith that all the hope of humankind hangs upon the Christian training of the young men and young women of our land. It will make a philosophy of life that will calm the present troubled waters of America."

Southerners Discuss Withdrawal.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 27.—The Southern Presbyterian General Assembly selected St. Louis as its 1921 meeting place over Staunton, Va., and Charleston, W. Va., at the final session today.

The fight over adherence of the church to the Interchurch World Movement was renewed today with the presentation of a protest signed by two dozen members, who held that "not one synod or Presbytery had asked the assembly to give indorsement or adherence" to the movement, that "several synods and many Presbyterics had formally declined to give their indorsement."

It developed today that the vote at last night's session at which the moderator, Dr. W. L. Lingle, broke a tie by voting in the negative was on a proposal to submit the question of continued affiliation with the Interchurch World Movement to the Presbyteries and was not on the adoption of a committee report which recommended continued co-operation with the movement.

Confusion caused by viva voce voting caused an erroneous impression to prevail. The committee report, it was explained, had been declared adopted by an uncounted majority without the moderator voting.

KEEPS AMUSEMENT BAN.

Methodist Conference Indorses the Interchurch Movement.

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 27.—Approval of the plan of the Interchurch World Movement was expressed today by the Methodist Episcopal General Conference when it adopted at its closing session the report of a special committee to that effect. The conference also recommended that the membership of the Church assist in a further canvass contemplated by the movement.

The conference last night voted to retain the ban on certain amusements. The vote stood 469 for retention and 312 against. A minority report modifying the ruling was lost by a vote of 427 to 369.

The conference went on record as condemning recent "outrages" in Korea and the manufacture of intoxicants in the Orient by American liquor interests.

Agree on Maximum Prices For Clothing in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, May 27.—An agreement was announced today between the Federal Fair Price Committee of Allegheny County and the Retail Merchants' Association of Pittsburgh by which maximum prices have been fixed for wearing apparel of men, women and children, and reductions have been made in certain other cases.

Those who wish to purchase staple and serviceable articles of wearing apparel may do so with "full confidence that no unreasonable or unjustified prices" are being charged, the committee said.

Because of the "unusually heavy burden placed upon the average person's income by the general high cost of living," it was declared, the retailers consented to sell several articles below their customary prices.

HOW REPUBLICAN DELEGATES STAND

529 ARE UNINSTRUCTED

Lowden Has 75 and Harding 39—Larger Vote Claimed by Managers for Leading Candidates.

More than half of the 984 delegates to the Republican National Convention, the last of whom were elected in Vermont at a State Convention on Wednesday, are uninstructed. General Leonard Wood, according to a compilation made by THE TIMES, leads in instructed delegates with 177. Senator Hiram W. Johnson has 115 instructed delegates, Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, 75; Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, 39; Judge Pritchard of North Carolina, 19; Senator Howard Sutherland of West Virginia, 16 and Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington, 14. The number of uninstructed delegates is 529.

Delegates are allotted in the following table according to votes in primaries and conventions, though in some cases delegates have declared they will not vote as indicated and are claimed by managers of various campaigns. Many of the uninstructed delegates are also claimed for different candidates. Contests, filed and expected, mainly in Southern States, will affect about 145 delegates. The table showing the division of delegates follows:

Claims of Wood Committee.

At the headquarters of the Wood Campaign Committee, it was said that General Wood would have between 250 and 300 delegates on the first ballot, more than 400 on the second, and that a sufficient number for a majority would soon follow. The number of delegates instructed and pledged for General Wood is placed by the Wood managers at 214, not counting friendly delegates in such States as Kansas, New York and Pennsylvania.

Idaho, 6; Indiana, 22; Maine, 12; Nebraska, 4; Oklahoma, 2; North Dakota, 8; Tennessee, 20; Utah, 5; Virginia, 8; District of Columbia, 2.

Eight of the North Dakota delegates, all ten of whom are tabulated for Senator Johnson, are claimed by the Wood managers as the result of a contest. The Maine and District of Columbia delegates, technically uninstructed, are asserted to be pledged by the Wood managers.

The fourteen votes from Illinois, credited in the table to General Wood, are not counted in the Wood claim of 214 instructed and pledged delegates. These delegates are from Chicago districts, which were carried in the primary election by General Wood, and are in reality controlled largely by Mayor William Hale Thompson.

Johnson Manager's Estimate.

A. C. Joy, assistant campaign manager for Senator Johnson, declared that the latter had 165 pledged and instructed delegates. This estimate includes twenty-one delegates from Texas, a claim which is not conceded by rival aspirants, all sixteen delegates from Nebraska and six from Nevada. Mr. Joy admitted one delegate less in New Jersey than credited to Senator Johnson in the tabulation, and said that the first ballot choice there would be seventeen for General Wood and eleven for Senator Johnson.

Governor Lowden's strength is admittedly greater than shown by the table, as he has considerable support among uninstructed delegates controlled by the "Old Guard." Governor Lowden's vote on the first ballot will depend largely upon the result of the contests between opposing groups of Southern delegates, most of these contests being between supporters of General Wood and Governor Lowden, even where they are nominally uninstructed.

Both General Wood and Governor Lowden are believed to have considerable strength among New York's delegation of eighty-eight. The plan of the New York Republican leaders is understood to favor as large a vote as possible for Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, for the purpose of holding the delegation together for the "break" after the expected deadlock.

GIRL CONVENTION USHERS.

University Students Will Act at San Francisco Gathering.

Girl students of the University of California and Stanford University are to be ushers at the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco. The co-eds will be assigned to escort the women delegates and alternates to their seats and to direct them to the various bureaus in connection with the great convention hall. They will be selected from the group of 300 who will be detailed for duty on the floor.

Poles and Czechs Fighting in Teschen Area; Berlin Reports Many Are Killed and Wounded

LONDON, May 27.—Messages from Teschen, Silesia, state that civil war has broken out in that district, where Poles and Czechs have been in clashes recently, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Central News. Artillery was used in battles near Karwin, southeast of Troppau, it is declared.

There were many casualties in killed and wounded, add the dispatches, which predict the spread of the conflict to other areas.

Paris dispatches Wednesday said that it was feared in official circles there that a rupture of diplomatic relations might occur between Czechoslovakia and Poland as the result of the clashes over the situation in the Teschen plebiscite area. The Poles were reported accusing the Czechs and the Czechs making counter-accusations of responsibility for the many riots and crimes in the Teschen district, as well as discrimination against the respective nationals of the two countries.

EX-SENATOR MILLS TO NOMINATE BUTLER

Campaign Manager Announces Candidate Will Flatly Refuse Vice Presidency.

CLAIMS 75 TO 80 N. Y. VOTES

Wood Returns from New England and Confers with Procter—Arrangements for Train Made.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, will be nominated for the Presidency by former Senator Ogden L. Mills. This announcement was made last night at Butler headquarters in the Hotel Commodore, coupled with a statement by Justice John R. Davies of the Municipal Court, Dr. Butler's campaign manager, that his candidate would flatly refuse second place on the ticket.

Dr. Butler conferred with State leaders on Monday at the Metropolitan Club. He sought to demonstrate that he had sufficient strength outside of New York to make his boom more than the average "favorite son" affair. Ex-Senator Mills was picked to make the nominating speech at this conference.

It was stated that on the first ballot Dr. Butler would have from seventy-five to eighty of the eighty-eight New York votes.

Just how long the delegates will stick to Dr. Butler probably will not be determined until the delegation meets after its arrival in Chicago. The first meeting will be in the Congress Hotel at 11 A. M. on Monday, June 7.

"Under no circumstances," said Judge Davies, "would Butler accept the nomination for Vice President. He believes the Vice Presidency to be a great office and one worthy of any man's ambition, but he does not feel called upon to make the personal sacrifice which acceptance of the nomination would involve. He feels that there are other Republicans better fitted than himself for that office."

"Dr. Butler now holds, and for twenty years has held, a position which is second only to the Presidency itself in distinction, in dignity and in possible influence. Under no circumstances would he exchange it for the Vice Presidency."

Major Gen. Wood returned last night from his trip to Vermont, where he addressed the Republican State Convention on Wednesday, and to Boston, where he met delegates from New England States. General Wood expects to remain at the Harvard Club today in conference with Colonel William Cooper Procter, his campaign manager, and other supporters. Frank H. Hitchcock, chief political strategist of the Wood campaign, departed for Chicago in the afternoon to remain until after the convention.

Arrangements have been completed for the special train to carry the delegates from this State to Chicago. They were made by Colonel Lafayette B. Gleason, Secretary of the Republican State Committee, and John S. Parsons of Oswego. Mr. Parsons will be in charge of the train.

The convention special will leave Grand Central Station at 2:05 P. M. (New York State time), Saturday June 5. It will consist of nine sleeping cars, an observation car, a combination buffet-smoker, a parlor car and two dining cars, and will carry 222 delegates, alternates, and other convention goers. At Buffalo another Pullman car, accommodating delegates and alternates from Western New York, will be attached. The special is scheduled to reach Chicago at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

COMMEND JOHN W. DAVIS.

His Chances as a Dark Horse Considered Brighter in Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Talk of the availability of John W. Davis, Ambassador to Great Britain, as a "dark horse" candidate at the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco, was heard in political circles here today following the publication in The Chicago Evening Post of an editorial indorsing the position taken by THE NEW YORK TIMES recently in suggesting Mr. Davis for the nomination.

There has been a feeling here, since the opening of the investigation by the sub-committee of the Senate into campaign expenditures, that the chances of Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer have lessened. In this situation, some political observers see the prospect of a deadlock at the San Francisco Convention over the candidacies of W. G. McAdoo and Governor Cox of Ohio, which would provide the opportunity of placing Mr. Davis before the convention under conditions favorable to his success.

Citizens' Union Asks Extra Session.

The Citizens Union sent a letter to Governor Smith yesterday urging him to call an extraordinary session of the Legislature to consider measure affecting the housing situation, the New York City port and terminal situation, working hours and conditions of women and minors in industrial employment, municipal home rule and reconstruction. In the letter Governor Smith is told that these questions require immediate attention by the lawmakers.

WRANGLE 3 HOURS ON IRISH QUESTION

LATTER WANTED HEARING

Concurrent Resolution Introduced in House Against Recognition of Republic.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The House Foreign Affairs Committee had a three-hour wrangle today behind closed doors over the Mason, Hamill and other resolutions relating to the Provisional Irish Republic. None was reported and the committee will resume its session tomorrow. However, by a vote of 10 to 9, the committee rejected a resolution by Representative James T. Begg of Ohio, which declared that Congress viewed with concern and solicitude the political unrest in Ireland and expressed the opinion that future world peace would be additionally safeguarded by the establishment in Ireland of a Government of her own choice.

Randolph Wellford Smith of Boston, Vice President of the Loyal Coalition, has been endeavoring for several days to get a hearing before the House committee. Chairman Porter refused him, holding that it would be unfair to the other side at this late day. Mr. Smith called attention to the fact that the Friends of Irish Freedom had had many hearings extending over more than three months. He informed Mr. Porter that he had startling facts to present to the committee, all of which could be laid before that body in less than fifteen minutes.

Mr. Porter still declined, whereupon Mr. Smith told him that he was "signing his political death warrant in arraigning himself on the side of the Sinn Fein." The two almost came to blows.

A warm session is expected when the committee meets tomorrow.

The first measure indicating that there is any sentiment in Congress in opposition to the establishment of an Irish Republic was introduced in the House late in the afternoon by Representative Connally of Texas, a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee. It took the form of a concurrent resolution, calling for a formal declaration by Congress that Irish self-determination was of no concern to the United States.

The resolution read:

"Whereas agitation has arisen in the United States regarding the affairs and situation of Ireland and its relation to the British Empire; and

"Whereas, it is desired that nothing may ever arise to impair or lessen the traditional friendship existing between the two great nations upon which rests largely the preservation of the peace of the world,

"Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the United States of America, (the Senate concurring) that the Congress of the United States declares the Irish question to be of no concern to the United States."

UNIONS' POLICY IN IRELAND.

British "Triple Alliance" to Vote on Handling of War Munitions.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 27.—The Executive Committee of the National Union of Railwaymen today considered the attitude it should adopt toward the members of the union in Ireland who refused to handle munitions or "assist military operations." It decided to submit the whole question to a full meeting of the "triple alliance" (miners, transport workers and railwaymen), which is to be arranged immediately.

By this decision the Railwaymen elect to put the question of extending English trade union support to the Sinn Feiners before the wider tribunal of English trade unionism. They make it a question of policy which is to be decided collectively by three of the most powerful unions in the country.

DUBLIN, May 27.—Americans who cannot get their luggage removed from North Wall owing to the dislocation caused at the Dublin docks by the strike of more than 400 men respecting the handling of munitions may be seen going to their luggage, where it lies stored at the station, extracting clean linen and converting the platform into a dressing room.

BERLIN, May 27.—According to the Vossische Zeitung, the Government Textile Department has withdrawn the import license for British cloth for uniforms for the Prussian Military Police.

Major Bauer, Chief of Police, of the Clothing Department, has been given provisional leave of absence pending an inquiry into the circumstances under which the contract was given to a British firm.

Senator Penrose as President Maker

SOVIET CHIEF COMES FOR LONDON PARLEYS

RUSSIAN GIBE AT LEAGUE

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 27.—Gregory Krassin, head of the Bolshevist Commercial Commission which has been conducting trade negotiations with the Scandinavian countries, arrived in England today from Copenhagen and joined in London this afternoon the party of Russian representatives of the co-operative societies which has been here for some days.

The visit of this deputation and the character of the negotiations it will conduct are a matter of considerable controversy here. In some quarters the British Government is roundly condemned for agreeing to any dealing with a commission which, whatever name it goes under, comes with the sanction of, if not openly on behalf of, the Soviet Government of Russia.

As against this view it is pointed out that Krassin and his colleagues come not on the invitation of the British Government alone, but of the Supreme Council, and that its conferences will be held with representatives of the Supreme Economic Council. It is argued that, since the Allies are arranging to meet the Germans at Spa with the object of solving the problems of European financial rehabilitation, it is an essential part of the plan to ascertain what relations are to be opened with Russia, seeing that the economic situation of the latter country is inextricably bound up with the whole European question. Neither the British Government for its own part nor the Supreme Council of the Allies on its side is prepared to treat Russia on the plane of a country adequately represented by its existing Government until the Bolsheviki have given the requisite guarantee that they have come into line with the other civilized States.

The negotiations now to be opened will at the outset turn on the question of what assurances can be given by Krassin and his colleagues that any arrangements come to will be strictly adhered to by the Moscow Soviet Government. Before trade relations of any kind are entered into the Russian emissaries must give complete satisfaction on several points, two of which are specified as follows: That their attitude of hostility to and campaign against the Allies in general must cease; that they must refrain entirely from military expeditions beyond the Russian frontier, such as the recent invasion of Persia.

The developments will be watched with keen interest as indicating whether or not the policy toward Russia, with which Premier Lloyd George has specially identified himself, is regarded as practical and reliable with the Soviet Government what it is.

Krassin Is Uncommunicative.

LONDON, May 27.—On his arrival here this afternoon with a delegation of representatives of Russian co-operative societies Gregory Krassin, Bolshevist Minister of Trade and Commerce, refused to discuss his mission.

"We are here under certain obligations," said the Minister, "and can say nothing now. But you will hear from us, perhaps in a few days."

The recent communication sent by Sir Eric Drummond, Secretary of the League of Nations, to the Russian Soviet Government, expressing regret that the Moscow authorities had set up conditions tantamount to a refusal to permit an investigating committee of the league to visit Soviet Russia, has been answered by M. Tchitcherin, the Soviet Commissary for Foreign Affairs.

A Moscow wireless dispatch today says that M. Tchitcherin stated in his reply that the Soviet Government felt compelled to express its extreme astonishment at the character of the League of Nations, which, while declaring that its object was the restoration of justice and peace, had granted one of its members, Poland, "full freedom to violate the peace and strangle justice by trying to convert the Ukraine into a vassal State." The Commissary declared that the other members of the League were affording Poland assistance, both directly and indirectly, and at the same time were giving help to the anti-Bolsheviki in the Crimea.

BOLSHEVIKI TRAPPED CROSSING BERESINA

WARSAW, May 27.—"The Bolsheviki, in strength forced a passage of the Beresina River south of Borisov, but the Poles, by a concentric attack, recrossed the river, cutting off the enemy's retreat and taking hundreds of prisoners," says an official communication issued today.

"The remainder of the enemy took refuge in the forests behind the Polish front," the communication adds.

"South of the Dvina River the Bolsheviki are throwing in reserves. There have been renewed fierce attacks in the direction of the Slobokie-Budslaw Railroad.

COPENHAGEN, May 27.—The Bolsheviki have conquered the whole of Northern Karelia. The population has fled to the forests. The Karelian Government has mobilized all the men from 19 to 50 in the hope of being able to drive back the invaders, who are badly armed and equipped, and whose lines of communication are weak.

Dispatches from Warsaw say that General Pulsudski has appointed General Stephycki to take his place in supreme command when Pilsudski is absent from the front.

Twenty-five thousand Austrian war prisoners who were liberated by the Ukrainian offensive will be sent home.

The Lettish press agency at Copenhagen says that as the result of the peace negotiations at Moscow an agreement has been reached on the frontier question. Livonia will comprise the whole Lettish territory, about 20,000 square kilometers. Economic questions have not yet been solved.

Karelia embraces the southeastern corner of Finland and part of the Governments of Petrograd, Olonets and Archangel. The inhabitants are of Finnish stock.

TRIES TO END HER LIFE

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 27.—Lying in a hospital in the Prussian-Saxon town of Naumburg following an attempt to commit suicide by taking arsenic is an amazing and mysterious personality.

Some time ago there arrived at Naumburg a "Mr. Golden," who, passing as either an American or a British subject, took a luxuriously furnished flat.

There also appeared in the neighboring City of Halle a "Frau Schroedermahnke," who, avowing herself to be an ardent Socialist, got into touch with some Communists whom she inspired to form some so-called red battalions.

Now, it would appear, "Mr. Golden" and "Frau Schroedermahnke" are one and the same person—a woman.

Independent Socialists of Halle assert that this person is an agent provocateur in the service of the German militarists, her mission being first to cause a split in the Socialist ranks and then, by exciting extremists to violence, to raise a rebellion which would give her employers an excuse to take strong action against the Communists.

Suspicion was first aroused when one of her comrades declared that he recognized her as the mysterious "Mr. Golden" of Naumburg. This suspicion was strengthened when it was discovered that she had a passport issued by the military authorities describing her as an interpreter.

In the course of her evidently adventurous career this man-woman of Prussian Saxony seems to have played various rôles. During the war she was an actress in Russia and she also has been known as an authoress.

As "Mr. Golden" of Naumburg, she always had plenty of money, which the Halle Independent Socialists say they have traced to a so-called German anti-Bolshevist League.

PARIS AGAIN GAY BY NIGHT.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 27.—Paris is going to be herself again. Her long war régime is at last ending, and from June 1 the cafés and restaurants may again be kept open till 1 o'clock in the morning.

Coal shortage, public sentiment, economic and other reasons have in the past eighteen months since the war ended compelled the Government to continue the early "closing rules" which came into force when the war began.

The labor troubles are now, however, over; the war grief has lessened with the passing months, and what is more important, visitors have been clamoring for indulgence.

Paris, when closed down at 10 o'clock, with extension till 11 o'clock over the week-ends, in no way met the holiday mood, and so at last the Government and police authorities controlling this matter have yielded. For the present, however, all-night cafés, which in the past were the special privilege and attraction of Montmartre, will be allowed, and no promise is made that the time extension may not be rescinded.

Shortly, Paris is hoping that it will be allowed again to have electric lighted street lamps, which have been suppressed for many months to save coal, and that it will be able to see its way home when the cafés do close.

POLITICAL BETTING LAGS.

The financial district has thus far held rather aloof from placing any wagers on the possibility of certain candidates gaining the Presidential nomination from the Democratic and Republican Parties. The odds against the choice of certain favorites for office gaining party indorsement are on tap, however, and these indicate that Senator Johnson is the Republican favorite, with General Wood second, while Governor Edwards is the leader in the Democratic ranks. The odds are quoted against the selection of a certain man. In other words, 8 to 5 is offered that Johnson will not rule in the Republican Convention, while 2 to 1 is quoted against Wood.

Since the first word as to odds, several days ago, from a big operator who holds forth at the office of James W. Ball & Co., there has been no change in betting sentiment, and no betting. The name of John W. Davis has been added to the list, and since he stands in the light of a dark horse, according to the Street, he took a place ahead of President Wilson, Bryan and Marshall in the Democratic column. Odds of 20 to 1 are offered against the choice of any one of these three, while 8 to 1 is offered against Davis.

The newsprint paper shortage forces The New York Times today to omit 26 columns of advertisements ordered for insertion. While existing conditions continue The Times will decline advertisements occupying more than four columns or one-half page, except for insertion in Saturday, Sunday and Monday editions.

'Old Order' Church Puts Ban On Talking Machines in Homes

LOGANSPORT, Ind., May 27.—Declaring against the use of or presence in the homes of members of all talking machines, phonographs and graphophones, the annual conference of the Old Order Branch of the Brethren Church closed last night after a session on a farm twelve miles east of Logansport.

A query regarding permission to have talking machines in homes was sent from the Dayton (Ohio) church. It caused considerable discussion and for a time the proposed permission seemed likely to be carried. It was voted down by a narrow majority.

Some of the more conservative members sought to obtain from the council action forbidding the use of the automobile, calling it a "devil" machine, but the opposition was greatly in the minority.

Fashion Show of Designers.

The United Cloak and Suit Designers' Mutual Aid Association of America will hold a fashion show in July in the Masonic Hall, Sixth Avenue and Twenty-fourth Street, at a date to be announced later. The association is composed of the leading designers in the coat and suit industry of this city who are actively engaged in promoting the movement of American styles for American women. It is planned to accommodate 2,000 people at the style exhibition. The review of Fall fashions will be held at a time when buyers are visiting the market for the purpose of placing orders and the models exhibited, it is hoped, will enable them to have a clear idea of style tendencies.

Close Until Tuesday.

In the uptown textile and dry goods markets the general policy will be to close from tomorrow night to Tuesday in view of the holiday on Monday. The cotton goods trade has similar plans. The largest firms have announced their intention of closing, and it is thought that many of the smaller houses will follow suit. The trades are dull and little is to be gained by keeping open Saturday in view of the half holiday. It is thought that next week may see more activity than has been the rule lately in the textile and dry goods markets, as buyers are now showing some tendency to make trips here for the purpose of filling their immediate wants.

Business on Polo Coats.

Renewed interest appears to have been taken in polo coats by retail garment buyers, judging from the orders reported on them. One large manufacturer stated yesterday that he is cutting up goods of the sort in thousands to meet the orders placed. His opinion of the demand for garments of this type was that they will be used in place of the capes which were worn last year on cool evenings and at the resorts. The character of garments sold places them in the popular-price group, and prices are said to be one of the main attractions.

Find Plenty of Ready-to-Wear.

From the resident buyers there are reports of more buyers coming to this market from out-of-town stores. They are interested in availing themselves of the bargains offered in different lines. According to information from the buying offices, they are finding plenty of good purchases to be had in ready-to-wear but not the same price easiness in other directions. The policy that governs their operations is still to buy only "at a price" and where merchandise is sought, it is always stipulated that the price be as attractive as possible.

Velvet to Be Popular.

Reports from foreign style centres give velvet quite a share of popularity in the fabrics to be featured in Fall wearing apparel. Similar information is to be obtained from domestic sources, and the manufacturers are preparing for a good season on velvets. From a price standpoint, the manufacturers do not see much of a chance for concessions on existing rates. One of the largest silk houses that have revised prices on other products does not intend to make closer prices on its velvets. As they have not actually started selling for Fall, however, the price question is still unsettled.

Where the Blame Really Rests.

Manufacturers who are taking certain retailers to task for running sales that are "busting the market wide open" have only themselves to blame. It was they alone who killed the goose that laid the golden eggs, it was asserted yesterday by an executive of a prominent store, and they killed her by stuffing her too full of merchandise. In other words, it was said that much of the overstocked condition of the retail trade was due to the constant cry of shortages and higher prices on the part of the manufacturers. Particularly was this the case in stores where merchandise men were not empowered to rule the buyers with figurative rods of iron, and where the latter, consequently, ordered goods from several sources in order to be sure of having enough on hand to meet a normal consumer demand. Now that the dance is over, the executive said, the manufacturers will have to pay the piper in full.

Raw Silk Prices Uneven.

The Yokohama raw silk market has suffered a sharp setback in the last week, which has been aggravated by reports of financial disturbances there. The Silk Exchange has been closed until further notice, and no transactions are reported in the open market. Prices are purely nominal, and accurate quotations are next to impossible to give. However, prices have declined. Reports concerning the new crop that have been received here by H. L. Gwalter & Co. say it contains a larger proportion of yellow silk than was the case last year. The Canton market is quiet and slightly lower in sympathy with the weakness at Yokohama. The second Canton crop is expected to yield 7,000 bales. Shanghai continues strong, with prices above the Japanese parities. Milan is quiet and lower, with French buyers transferring their attention from Italian raws to Japanese. The local market continues lifeless and depressed.

The Smaller Stores Are Hurt.

Somewhat in the rôle of the innocent bystander that usually gets injured are the small or neighborhood stores throughout the city which are being hurt by the "economy sales" now being staged by many of the larger ones. These stores, it was said yesterday cannot afford to meet the percentage reductions offered by the larger ones for several reasons. One reason was said to be that, because of their smaller "overhead," the smaller ones were underselling the latter substantially in many cases before the cut were made. Another is that the limited buying power of the smaller stores is not getting for them manufacturers' and wholesalers' reductions on special goods equal to those made for the larger stores. Patrons of the former, it is asserted, not knowing the facts in the case are now giving most of their trade to the large ones that advertise radical cuts in price.

Why Some Shoe Cuts Are Drastic.

One of the most interesting things about the reductions in prices that have taken place in the medium and cheaper grades of men's shoes, and on apparently all grades of women's footwear, is that the most drastic cuts have been made by concerns which make the shoes and which, in the larger cities at least, sell them direct to the consumer in their own stores. The reason for this was said yesterday to be simple. It was pointed out that these manufacturers could eliminate all of the retail profit they make and still come out ahead on the prices at which the shoes are billed to the stores from the factories. In other words, where the shoes sold in this way normally carry two profits for the manufacturer, they are carrying only one now. Until stocks get back to normal levels they will doubtless continue to do so.

Gray Goods Demand Better.

The local gray goods market took on an even more active aspect yesterday than it did on Wednesday afternoon, although most of the activities of buyers were again confined to printcloths for delivery this side of Aug. 1. June sales of 39-inch 80 squares were made at 29 cents, while May-June lots of 68-72s in the same width brought 23 cents. For July shipment 38½-inch 64-60s sold for 22 cents, with 22½ cents paid for the same goods for delivery during June. Twenty cents was paid for 38½-inch 60-48s for June and July, while May-June sales of 27-inch 64-60s were put through at 15¾ cents. In the sheetings May and June lots of 5-yard and 5.50-yard goods were sold, respectively, at 17½ and 16¼ cents.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Pressure is moderately high in the upper lake region, the upper Mississippi and the Missouri Valleys and the Plains States and low in the extreme Northwest, with another disturbance over Southern Saskatchewan.

There were showers in Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Central Illinois and northeast Texas and light and scattered rains in the South Atlantic States and rain in Washington. Elsewhere the weather was fair.

It is cooler from the upper lake region southwestward through Kansas, Oklahoma and interior Texas and warmer elsewhere with temperatures above the seasonal average.

With the exception of local showers Friday in the Lower Ohio Valley and Friday or Friday night in the Lower Mississippi Valley, fair weather will prevail Friday and Saturday east of the Mississippi River.

It will be somewhat cooler Friday in the lower lake region and the Ohio and Lower Mississippi Valleys and on Saturday in the interior of the Middle Atlantic States. It will be warmer Saturday in the upper lake region and the Lower Ohio Valley.

FORECAST.

Long Time Bonds

The amount and variety of long time bonds available at present low prices is limited, owing to the fact that most of the new issues are of short or medium duration. Corporations are unwilling to pay present burdensome rates of interest on new issues except for a relatively short period.

Those desiring long term investments must depend largely upon old seasoned issues, and many experienced investors are now buying this class of security.

We can supply a limited amount of long time bonds at prices yielding around 7%, and we recommend the purchase of such bonds at the present time. We shall be glad to send details and circulars to those interested.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Gold Imports Assist Rise of Stocks—Liberty Bonds Gain Sharply.

A forward movement of stocks occurred yesterday, aided by the receipt of about $22,000,000 gold at San Francisco from the Far East and fresh rumors that substantial consignments would come shortly from London. The Far Eastern treasure received for account of the collateral behind the loan floated last Autumn by the Omsk Government and presumably will be used in meeting the Anglo-French loan maturity next October. As far as information goes nearly half of the gold collateral for the Omsk Government loan remains at Hong Kong and is expected to be shipped to the United States in the near future, and as all of the incoming metal will find lodgment in the Federal Reserve system, Wall Street pictured yesterday a strengthening of the reserve against note and deposit liabilities with a consequent support of the general credit structure.

The rise of stocks was gradual, and after progress had been made in the steel, oil and some of the railroad stocks it was noticeable that a fair amount of pressure developed, either in the nature of profit taking or fresh short sales. The market's strength was reflected particularly among the industrial specialties and one or two high-priced steel and petroleum issues which are particularly sensitive to speculative purchases. Among these latter stocks net gains ran from 2 to 4 points and at the end of trading the standard issues recorded large fractional advances.

The recovery of Liberty bonds proceeded with greater power than during preceding sessions of the week, the First 4s gaining more than 1¼ points, the Second 4s a full point and the Second and Fourth 4¼s almost a point. The Victory notes were hardly more than steady and their slight reaction at the same time that the longer time bonds were advancing appeared to disclose something of an evening-up process in prices of the two classes of securities. While no immediate development appeared to explain the vigorous movement, an impression was obtained in banking circles that a possible program for refunding most of the issues in a single long term loan might be evolved in the near future with a consequent stabilising of the various bonds and notes.

Movements in the several markets seemed to have little connection with anything of current moment in the industrial and transportation fields. Anything which has a practical bearing upon the credit situation, of a constructive nature, is seized upon as bullish for stocks, but misapprehension will be attached to the thought that increases of the gold reserve will signal another growth of inflation. Reserve Bank officials and bankers generally are committed to a deflation schedule whose results should be discernible with an improvement of railroad freight movement. In connection with the day's news of gold it was worth recording a report that some $4,000,000 or more of the metal held at the Reserve Bank for account of the Argentine Government had been transferred to the Bank. The course of Argentine exchange has been in favor of this country since the Argentine loan of New York was paid off, but it is not clear as yet that trade movements warrant expectation of a substantial swing of the rate in its present direction.

The gold receipt on the Pacific Coast naturally stimulated sterling exchange, which gained 4¼ cents to 3.91¾, Profit taking sales were in evidence in the Central European rates, German exchange and that of the new countries falling under Wednesday's levels. At the same time realizing sales worked to bring a reaction in French and Belgian francs and lire.

EXTRA DIVIDEND DECLARED.

Bosch Magneto Corporation to Pay 20 Per Cent. on July 15.

The Directors of the American Bosch Magneto Corporation yesterday declared a stock dividend of 20 per cent. The regular quarterly dividend of $2.50 a share also was declared. The stock dividend is payable July 15 to holders of record of July 3 and the cash dividend is payable July 1 to stock of record of June 15. The present capital consists of 83,000 shares.

The April earnings of the company amounted to $223,000, which would be at the annual rate of about $2,500,000. Should the earnings be maintained at this level the net for dividends would be equivalent to nearly $30 a share on the present outstanding stock.

DISTRIBUTION PLAN SENDS U. S. BONDS UP

Secretary of the Treasury Houston, it was learned yesterday, conferred with the members of the New York Liberty Loan Committee regarding the market position of Liberty Bonds and the desirability of further distributing them among the American people, after he had delivered an address before the Bond Club, on Wednesday. This conference was said to have been the real reason for the Secretary's visit to New York.

It is understood the Secretary urged the bankers of the Liberty Loan Committee to use their utmost efforts to bring about a wider distribution of the war bonds, thereby cutting down the floating supply in the market. To this end they were urged to enlist the aid of corporation managers and other large employers.

It is not intended that anything like the former "Liberty Loan drives" be attempted, but, rather, that a quiet campaign be waged which shall have for its object what bankers call a "secondary distribution"; in other words, that the bankers and others of influence and responsibility go ahead now and try to place the war bonds still held by banks and by large corporations in the hands of small investors.

Bonds Make Big Gains.

An intimation that Secretary Houston had made constructive suggestions regarding the Liberty bond market got around in the morning and before the market opened there was a general tip that war bonds were in for a rise. This tip proved true. The most sensational jump was in the first-second convertible 4¼s per cents., of which there are only $5,492,000 outstanding. These bonds, which closed on Wednesday at about 86, yesterday closed at 95. The advances in the other descriptions is shown in the following table:

	Year's low.	Yes. close.	Yes. net chge.
First 4s	88.60	89.80	1.00
Second 4s	81.40	83.00	1.00
First 4¼s	84.00	87.10	.40
Second 4¼s	81.14	86.40	.96
Third 4¼s	85.80	90.70	.70
Fourth 4¼s	82.60	87.14	.96
Victory 3¾s	94.70	96.12	*.10
Victory 4¾s	94.70	96.10	*.10

*Decline.

The Secretary is understood to have laid great stress on the imperative need for reducing the public debt by taxation. In this respect, he reiterated what he had told the Bond Club concerning the desirability of getting as much of the Victory Loan paid off as possible. This loan matures in 1923, but it is callable in 1923, and the Secretary is convinced that a large portion of the loan should be paid off in the earlier year.

Victory Loan Like Floating Debt.

Mr. Houston has repeatedly said that he regards the Victory Loan, because of its comparative near maturity, as almost as much a part of the Treasury's floating debt as the Treasury certificates of indebtedness. He is anxious that ways be found for meeting it at maturity and not refunding it into long-term bonds, as some financial critics have suggested.

In some circles there has been considerable discussion as to the advisability of refunding the whole war debt into a single long-term issue, at either a higher interest rate, or into bonds which will be tax-exempt. Mr. Houston has objected to this repeatedly. He has taken the stand that so long as there is opposition to paying bonuses to the men who went to France to fight there should be opposition to paying bonuses to the capital which was subscribed for the war.

VOTE ON NEW STOCK ISSUE.

American Brake Shoe Stockholders to Act on $10,000,000 Proposal.

A meeting of the stockholders of the American Brake Shoe and Foundry Company has been called for July 1 to consider plans for a recapitalization of the company. It is proposed to create a new issue of $10,000,000, 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock, redeemable at 110 at the option of the company, in addition to 400,000 shares of common stock of no par value. Holders of the present preferred will receive for each share of stock one share of new preferred and three shares of new common. Holders of the present common will receive new preferred share for share.

The present preferred stock has a lien on all earnings for dividends above 7 per cent. on the common. The issuance of common stock to holders of the old preferred in addition to new preferred gives them a participating right in any extra large earnings through the common shares. The holders of the present 7 per cent. common profit in the plan by getting a preferred 7 per cent. stock with a prior lien on earnings.

It is provided in the plan that not to exceed 10,000 shares of new common shall be set aside for subscription by employes upon terms to be fixed by the Directors.

ARRANGE $50,000,000 BELGIAN LOAN HERE

Commissioners Take Steps to Meet the June 30 Acceptance Maturity.

A formal announcement is expected to be made within a day or two regarding the flotation here of a $50,000,000 loan for Belgium. This loan is to be offered to supply Belgium with funds with which to meet the $50,000,000 acceptance credit which matures on June 30. It has been under discussion in banking circles for several weeks.

The loan, which originally was expected to be not in excess of $25,000,000, will be for $50,000,000, the full amount of the maturity, and will bear 7½ per cent. interest on its face value. It is expected that the public offering will be at a slight concession from par, however, so that the yield will be close to 8 per cent. Unlike other recent European Government offerings, this one is not expected to contain any exchange market feature, but is to embody a provision which calls for the retirement of a certain portion of the loan each year, by drawing, at a figure which probably will be in the neighborhood of 110 per cent.

Until within the last few days banking opinion had held that not more than $25,000,000 of Belgian bonds should be offered in the market at this time. The Belgian Commissioners, M. Franqui and M. Hankar, are understood to have been desirous from the beginning that the whole amount be refunded. There has been some difficulty in coming to an agreement on the rate of interest the loan should bear and the other terms and conditions surrounding it, but these details now have been arranged and yesterday it was said that the matter virtually was settled.

The high rates which the American investment market is demanding have been hard for the foreigners to appreciate, but one banker said yesterday that the rate decided upon would really have to be somewhat in the Belgians' favor, as were the maturity of the $50,000,000 acceptance credit not to be provided for by a new loan the cost to Belgium of remitting funds here through the foreign exchange market would be greater than the expenses incurred through the relatively high rate of interest on the loan.

J. P. Morgan last night was host at a dinner to the Belgian Commissioners at the Metropolitan Club, which several leading local bankers attended.

Commodity Prices and Security Values

Under the conditions facing us securities of conservatively capitalized public utility companies are among the most desirable investments. Gross earnings of such companies are relatively stable, and with no large inventories to mark down every addition to the purchasing power of the dollar will increase the margin of profit through reduction of operating expenses.

$22,000,000 MORE GOLD SENT HERE BY BRITISH

Part of Collateral Put Up by Kolchak Arrives at Pacific Ports to Meet Anglo-French Loan.

J. P. Morgan & Co. announced yesterday that approximately $22,000,000 gold had been received at Pacific Coast ports from Hong Kong and that the metal had been deposited with the San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank for the account of the Morgan firm. It is expected that this will be transferred to the New York Federal Reserve Bank through the Reserve system's gold settlement fund and its influence should be felt in the local situation immediately.

Yesterday's arrival was for the account of the British Government, as part of the payments to be made in meeting the Anglo-French $500,000,000 loan which matures on Oct. 15. The amount thus far received from the British Government is thus brought up to approximately $68,000,000, for $46,000,000 in round numbers, was received between March 28 and April 9.

In banking circles it was reported that the present movement would probably total $20,000,000. Part of this sum is expected to come directly from England, and that at least some arrivals have not been reported as yet was said to be due to the strike of dock workers in England. One report yesterday was to the effect that one ship carrying some $2,000,000 gold had been ready, but unable to sail for this country for the past week.

It was said at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. that this was part of the gold which the All-Russia Government, presided over by Admiral Kolchak, had pledged as collateral for a loan of $60,000,000 arranged last December by a group of New York and London bankers.

CONFER ON JAM OF FREIGHT.

The New York Terminal Committee, organized to relieve the freight congestion in the Port of New York, called into conference yesterday representatives of all the railroads entering the city to discuss plans for expediting the unloading of cars now standing in terminals. The railroad men generally agreed that conditions had improved greatly in the last few days and that the congestion was being gradually reduced.

Arrangements were made to keep the freight terminals open on Monday, despite the holiday, and shippers are requested to take advantage of the opportunity to move as much freight as possible from the cars and terminals. It was said that if the cars and terminals failed to remove freight on Monday there would be another tremendous glut of cars in the terminals on Tuesday.

The committee has received many complaints in respect of the slow movement of freight and has dispatched inspectors to practically all of the railroad terminals. The committee emphasized that every complaint must be specific as to car number and location.

Limit Truck Loads After Monday.

ALBANY, May 27.—Enforcement of the Ferris amendment to the highway law relating to the operation of motor trucks and trailers on State highways will begin next Monday, it was announced today by the State Highway Commissioner, Frederick Stuart Greene. The law provides that no truck shall carry a load greater than 25,000 pounds, the load to be distributed so that there shall not be more than 800 pounds per inch in width of tire on any one wheel.

TWO YOKOHAMA BANKS SUSPEND

Closing of the Seventy-fourth Followed by That of Yokohama Savings.

INVOLVED IN BIG SILK DEALS

Difficulties Attributed to Financing Wildcat Speculation—Silk Exchange Closed Again.

TOKIO, May 25 (Associated Press).—The suspension yesterday of the Seventy-fourth Bank of Yokohama, in which Sobei Mogi was the principal shareholder, was followed today by the suspension of the Yokohama Savings Bank, of which M. Mogi is President. Twelve branches of the Seventy-fourth, including those in Tokio, Osaka and Kioto, have been closed.

The Seventy-fourth Bank was heavily interested in transactions in silk, cotton yarn and cotton cloth. The recent slump in raw silk caused heavy demands upon the bank by silk speculators, who were dependent upon the bank for support and who had been obliged to pay additional margins. The Bank of Japan, which had advanced 20,000,000 yen to the Seventy-fourth Bank, ceased to advances funds to the institution, believing that the time for an adjustment had arrived. The Directors, it is said, expect to settle by offering their personal property and securing the assistance of other institutions.

The Soda Bank, on which a sympathetic run was started after the closing of the Seventy-fourth Bank, received assistance from the Bank of Japan and did not have to suspend payments.

The suspension of the Seventy-fourth Bank is regarded as important because it is connected with operations in silk, Japan's chief export to America. The official statement of the suspension announced that the bank had been closed for only three weeks to permit the examination and adjustment of its affairs. The suspension immediately forced the reclosing of the Silk Exchange, and the newspapers attributed the ensuing slump in the Tokio and Osaka stock markets, where the principal shares fell from 10 to 50 yen, to the suspension of the Mogi institution and reported liquidations in America.

The conservative English language newspaper, The Herald of Asia, in discussing the economic situation, says that apparently unlimited credit has been extended by the banks, resulting in wildcat speculation and the inordinate extension of enterprises—an unwise policy, comments the newspaper, which abnormally inflated the national currency. It points out that the issue of notes by the Bank of Japan for the first four months of 1920 was the highest in its history. The loans at times it says, totaled 700,000,000 yen, while the notes issued exceeded 1,300,000,000 yen, or nearly five times the pre-war volume.

"The slump," continues the newspaper, "is a warning that a limit must be set upon loans and speculation." It takes an optimistic view of the situation, however, and predicts a recovery to stable conditions.

A conference has been held of representatives of the copper miners, exporters and importers, with a view to the relief of the copper market. It was resolved to restrict production, discontinue importations and discourage the exportation of accumulated material; also to provide funds for purchasing stocks offered at a loss.

The enormous war expansion of the Japanese match industry has experienced a serious setback, foreign orders having greatly diminished. The manufacturers have decided to reduce their output one-half.

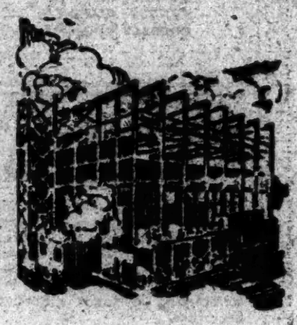
Steel



is a manufactured product that enters into nearly all phases of commerce and industry. Its use is so general that it becomes the first essential product to be considered in manufacturing many articles.

Many industries are entirely dependent upon steel used as raw material, and the unprecedented growth of the automobile industry has insured a large and growing consumer.

The rolling stock of railroads, the rails themselves, the modern cargo carriers that convey commodities of all kinds across the ocean, are all made possible by the development of the manufacture of iron ore into the finished product which we know as steel today.

During the seven years prior to the war, the Net Earnings of the United States Steel Corp. averaged 9.3% per annum upon its Common Stock, indicating the ability for the industry to provide

When King Solomon set the Iron Worker on his throne for playing the most important part in the building of his Temple, he passed a judgment that Time has verified. That the growth of nations and of steel are proportional, is exemplified by the production of this commodity in the United States, the most resourceful and progressive country in the world.

In 1890, there was produced in the United States:

1,885,307 tons of iron and steel rails, 809,981 tons of plates and sheets, 457,099 tons of wire rods, 2,870,488 tons of other finished products, making a total output of 6,022,875 gross tons.

In 1918, this production was increased to: 2,540,892 tons of iron and steel rails, 8,799,135 tons of plates and sheets, 2,562,390 tons of wire rods, 2,849,969 tons of structural steel, 14,403,368 tons of other finished products, making a total output of 31,155,754 gross tons.

ITALIAN DISCOUNT TRUST NEW YORK

A New Service for Personal Accounts

IT HAS ALWAYS been a source of trouble for some men to keep their personal accounts in an orderly manner.

It will be a pleasure to explain how we have applied—in an easy, simple way—the efficient methods of "big business" to the keeping of a personal checking account.

The steady growth of this Company's commercial banking business is due, in some measure, to the manner in which we have handled the personal accounts of business men in our neighborhood.

Besides paying interest on daily balances, and mailing to you a statement and cancelled checks each month, we offer this new service.

Belgium's Amazing Progress

BELGIUM is an inspiring example of the quick recovery of a war-torn country. Commerce, industry, transportation, and finance—the foundations of a nation's wealth—are being rapidly restored to the normal.

Belgium is at work. Belgium is producing. Her industries are, on an average, operating at about 75 per cent. of their pre-war capacity. Coal production is keeping pace with the restoration and expansion of her factories.

Belgium's commercial progress is remarkable. Her exports to Holland, France, Italy and Germany now surpass her imports. With England, she is approaching a balance of trade. By the end of 1920 it is expected that Belgium will have the advantage of a favorable trade balance.

Belgium is one of America's best customers. She is already buying from us as much as before the war.

Belgium's railroads, destroyed by the war, have been practically reconstructed, and freight and passenger traffic are moving freely.

Belgium is nearly on her feet financially. Under the Peace Treaty she has a prior claim of 2,500,000,000 francs on the German indemnity.

This Company's office in Brussels was established to be of the fullest possible service to both American and Belgian interests during the work of rehabilitation and in the greater activities of the future.

COTTON PRICES RISE AFTER A DECLINE

CROP NEWS IS ALL BULLISH

Indications That Poor Government Report Next Wednesday Has Been Discounted.

The cotton market yesterday was strong for the most part, but it was not nearly so strong as one might have expected from the amount of bull news which came to light. At the start there was some uncertainty, and prices eased off 17 to 20 points in the first hour. But after that time there was a rally which finally carried the list up 30 to 40 points net. Then there was another period of uncertainty, and finally the closing was made at levels which reflected net gains on the day of only 16 points at the maximum and 5 points for the minimum.

The way the market acted it might be supposed that a very poor Government crop report next Wednesday has been discounted. Or it might be presumed that some powerful people in the trade are still a bit apprehensive over the credit situation and are not inclined to follow the market up on the bulges. What is certain is that quite a little cotton has been coming out when sharp advances are scored and there is a suspicion that some of the future contracts being sold at such times spring from trade and spot sources which are none too certain of how big stocks are to be financed over the Summer and into the Fall.

Yesterday's news budget included a number of crop estimates. Most of them were low, some going under 63 per cent., and very few above 66 per cent. The average guess on the Exchange was a shade under 66 per cent., and this should have been incentive enough to cause a substantial upward movement. Then, too, there was the bulge in sterling exchange and the reported arrival of $22,000,000 gold for British account at Pacific ports. These were bullish factors of considerable weight.

Against them there was an improved weather map and a rather favorable forecast. And also the Liverpool market was decidedly irregular. But the counts on the bear side were not nearly so pertinent as those on the bull side, and the fact that the market did not respond more readily to the latter was regarded as significant by some close students.

Opportunities in German and Austrian Bonds and Currency

In less than three months the value of the German Mark has risen about 200%. The following economic factors are influencing this rise:

1. United States imports from Germany have doubled in four months.
2. German exports now at the monthly rate of over 4,000,000,000 Marks.
3. Germany contracting with American corporations—recently a deal for $45,000,000 of provisions was closed.
4. Trade Balances being offset by the sale of over $100,000,000 of German bonds in this country.
5. Purchase by American interests of 25,000,000 Mark block of stock of the German General Electric Company.
6. Probable fixing of indemnity at Spa Conference which will enable Germany to draw up a positive program for economical rehabilitation.
7. It seems logical that before any definite arrangements are concluded at the Spa Conference a rise in Marks is necessary to give value to the German indemnity.

Daily the financial structure of Germany is being strengthened. Her industrial plants remain intact.

Daily the profits that may be realised because of prevailing low exchange rates are being lessened.

Today investments may be made with possibilities for profits of well over 1000%—ten times the investment.

Tomorrow this opportunity may have passed—we urge those who desire to participate in the profits being made to communicate with us immediately.

TELLS OF POLAND'S REVIVAL

Even Producing Goods for Export, Says Republic's Envoy.

Prince Casimir Lubomirski, Polish Minister to the United States, was the principal speaker at a luncheon given yesterday by the American-Polish Chamber of Commerce and Industry, at the Bankers Club. Others who spoke were Hugh Gibson, American Minister to Poland, Francois De St. Falle, President of the Chamber, and Samuel M. Vauclain of the Baldwin Locomotive Company, recently back from Central Europe and Poland.

Prince Lubomirski outlined briefly some of the problems facing the new republic. He said that Poland already was producing goods not only for her own consumption but for export as well.

Mr. Gibson answered some of the accusations against Poland by its enemies and described conditions to be faced in the devastated areas.

Mr. Vauclain made a strong appeal for the re-establishment of the War Finance Corporation, so credit might be advanced to Central and Southeastern Europe.

Among the guests were E. H. Gary, Bernard M. Baruch, E. W. Rice, Jr., W. Averill Harriman and H. H. Westinghouse.

$60,000 LIBERTY BONDS GONE

Manufacturers Offer Reward for Six of $10,000 Denomination.

Six Liberty bonds, each of the $10,000 denomination, were reported stolen from the strongbox of the safe in the office of Rosen Brothers, shirtwaist manufacturers at 20 West Thirty-third Street, yesterday. One of the members of the firm asked a clerk in the office, before closing Wednesday night, to bring the bonds to him. Their theft was then discovered.

Mr. Rosen said that while the large denomination were stolen a few $50 and $100 bonds were left in the safe. In an advertisement in this morning's TIMES he announces a liberal reward for their return. The numbers are 43,009, 43,010, 43,011, 103,110, 103,111 and 103,112. Mr. Rosen said he last saw them about a week ago.

Better Real Estate Securities

YOU know something about first mortgage real estate securities? As a class, there is no safer, more attractive investment. But—compare the advantages listed below with other real estate investments with which you are familiar:

1. The first mortgage Real Estate Bonds underwritten by S. W. Straus & Co. are sponsored by a national institution. They are standardized to give to investors in any locality the best loans available in the whole country.
2. Every bond sold by S. W. Straus & Co. is in the convenient coupon form—like a Liberty bond. The bond itself contains the mortgage, certification of title and all necessary legal safeguards.
3. Every bond sold by S. W. Straus & Co. is a mortgage on earnings as well as the property itself. This policy is responsible for our record of 38 years without loss or delay in payment of principal or interest to any bondholder.

These and other advantages put the bonds safeguarded under the Straus Plan in a class by themselves—the standard safe 6% investment of the nation. They net 6%—4% Federal Income Tax paid—denominations $500 and $1,000. It will pay you to investigate them. Write today for

EXPECTS PRICE CUTS TO INCREASE PRICES

WOULD TAX EXPENDITURES

Isaac I. Straus Also Suggests Peace Industries Board to Solve Economic Problems.

The price-slashing wave will cause increased prices by Fall, and lines that have shown the most spectacular tumbles may be higher than at present, Isaac Isidor Straus of R. H. Macy & Co. said last night at the dinner of the Economic Club in the Hotel Astor. Other speakers were Francis H. Sisson, Vice President of the Guaranty Trust Company; Hugh Frayne of the American Federation of Labor, and Dr. Joseph French Johnson, Dean of the School of Commerce and Finance of New York University. William Church Osborn was Chairman.

Mr. Straus declared the price-slashing movement was not to be taken as evidence of a permanent change in the situation. He said the causes for the cuts were the approach of tax day, June 15; a tightening of credits, overstocked conditions due to retarded buying as a result of high prices, and finally because of threats of the Department of Justice under the Lever act.

Mr. Straus asserted that price-cutting had caused a new orgy of spending.

"The horizontal cuts, if they continued, will seriously menace the prosperity of the industry concerned," he continued. "If the reductions are legitimately made, they are not only causing a sacrifice of reasonable profits, but are cutting into capital; if they are falsely made they are misleading the public into unwise extravagance."

Distributers "Bulling" Own Market.

"As manufacturers have all along complained of the inability to deliver requirements, the rehabilitation of merchandise stocks, depleted by forced sales, will create an additional demand, and, therefore, will tend to cause a rise in prices. In other words 'the distributers are bulling the market against themselves.'"

Production, consumption and methods of war finance and taxation, said Mr. Straus, were the important factors in the increase of commodity prices. He urged the decreasing of demand through voluntary self-denial and the restriction of exports by a licensing system.

Unwise expenditures could be halted at once, he said, and a counteracting influence set at work by the imposition of a tax on expenditures. He advocated a rising scale, say 1 per cent. on the first $2,000 above the $3,000 exemption; 2 per cent. on the next succeeding $3,000; 3 per cent. on the next succeeding $5,000, and so on to a maximum of 10 per cent. on expenditures of $50,000 and over. This would be in the nature of an additional income tax. The purpose of the new tax would be to put a premium on economy.

Explains How to Collect Tax.

Mr. Straus would exempt expenditures for Liberty bonds, and explained how the tax would be collected. He also proposed a sales tax to produce from one to five billion dollars annually. This tax would be placed on every article sold at every point of sale.

The speaker proposed the formation of a Peace Industries Board to study production and consumption problems, fiscal needs and expenditures. It would take the enormous mass of statistical information that passes through bureaus at Washington and make it available for a board of tax experts, in this way comparatively exact information as to the revenue yield from any form of tax might be had. He also urged repeal of the excess profits tax.

Mr. Frayne said labor would not accept wage reductions, but if the cost of living were reduced and stabilized "labor will not then have to make so many demands for wage increases to keep up a decent living standard."

Mr. Sisson said the advantages accruing to consumers in consequence of declining prices were easily exaggerated and misunderstood. As the reductions in prices at the present are not due to overproduction, he said, it would seem advisable to avoid a hasty conclusion that the present movement forecasts a universal and drastic drop in commodity prices.

BINGHAM ESTATE REDUCED.

A reduction of $22,550,082 in the appraisal of the estate of Mrs. Mary Lily Flagler Bingham, has been ordered by Judge William Krieger of Louisville, according to information received here yesterday by Grover G. Sales of the law firm of Bruce & Bullitt of Louisville, representing the estate. Appraiser G. W. Hardin has placed the net value of the estate at $103,298,797 and estimated that $4,083,958 was due the Commonwealth of Kentucky as a tax.

The court explained that the reduction was ordered because of the wide difference of opinion expressed as to inheritances by witnesses for the appraiser, and as to the various classes of property in the estate held by the administrator. The reductions bring the value of the estate down to $80,743,115, while the inheritance tax claimed by the Kentucky is reduced by $3,655.83.

The tangible personal property left by Mrs. Bingham, outside of Kentucky, is held to be non-taxable by Judge Krieger. This amounts to only $301,807. Even the Federal inheritance tax of $3,000,000 is Federal non-taxable in Kentucky.

PERJURY INQUIRY OPENED.

Extraordinary Grand Jury Takes Up Charges Against Smith.

The Extraordinary Grand Jury began its investigation yesterday into the charges of Bernard Freedman, now awaiting trial for perjury in the Federal courts, and Jacob Goldman, who said in their testimony before Commissioner of Accounts Hirshfield that Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith tried to induce them to commit perjury against Inspector Henry and former Deputy Commissioner Porter. Freedman, Goldman, Joseph Waterman, a former police detective Third Deputy Police Commissioner Joseph A. Faurot and John Butler, an employe at Police Headquarters, were called as witnesses. The Grand Jury adjourned without action, but will hear further testimony next week.

Supreme Court Justice Bartow S. Weeks yesterday overruled the demurrer by W. Bourke Cockran to the indictment of Inspector Henry for perjury.

Entertainment for Essay Winners.

About 5,000 school children of New York and vicinity are expected to be present at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock when there will be an entertainment for the winners in the essay contest recently conducted under the auspices of the War Department for the benefit of the recruiting service. There will be a program including addresses by army officers, motion pictures and music.

Senate Votes $75,000 for Free Seeds

WASHINGTON, May 27.—A compromise in the dispute over continuing Government free seed distribution was offered the House today by the Senate, which voted, 39 to 23, to provide $75,000 for such distribution by the Department of Agriculture in lieu of a House appropriation of $246,000 for free seed bills by members of Congress.

LAGUARDIA HITS ALDERMEN.

Assails Abilities at Bronx Bridge Project Luncheon.

President F. H. LaGuardia of the Board of Aldermen, at a luncheon given by the Tri-Borough Bridge Committee, which is seeking public support for a bridge joining upper Manhattan, the Bronx and Long Island, declared yesterday he was tired of having "camouflage" appended to public utilities. Former Assemblyman Martin C. Ansorge, Chairman of the committee, who preceded Mr. LaGuardia, had spoken of the proposed bridge as a fitting memorial to the heroes of the war.

"Let this bridge stand on its own merit as a means of communication between the three boroughs for the purpose of transporting passengers and freight, but please don't claim it to be a monument or a memorial," said Mr. LaGuardia. "That sort of thing is being overdone. When I returned to Congress at the end of the war it seemed that almost every member who wanted to put some pet project across thought he could succeed just by planning it on the back of some dead soldier. Leave off the camouflage when you present your plans to the Board of Estimate. Just say that the proposed bridge is a needed public utility."

Digressing for a few moments, Mr. LaGuardia told the guests that they do not take as much pains in the selection of candidates for nomination to office as they should, adding that as many as voted at the polls on election day should cast their ballots in the primaries.

BRITISH ADVERTISING MEN

Two British advertising men of prominence, Charles F. Higham, M. P. who managed the British Government's advertising campaign during the war, and W. S. Crawford, of London, were entertained with a luncheon by the Advertising Club yesterday afternoon. They have come to this country to attend the approaching convention at Indianapolis of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, of which Mr. Higham is Vice President.

Mr. Higham praised American business men for their accomplishments in the advertising field, which, he said, England was trying to equal. Advocating closer commercial relations between Americans and Englishmen, he voiced the hope that the United States would thus be led to enter the League of Nations.

"I believe the time is coming," he continued, "when you men are going to sell ideas, morality and health to the world."

Declaring that both America and England are going out to get the export trade of the world, Mr. Crawford spoke of London as the natural advertising and business centre to which Americans must resort.

The toastmaster at the luncheon was Frank Presbrey, President of the Advertising Club. Among the other guests were Cyrus H. K. Curtis of The Saturday Evening Post, R. E. Rinehart and O. J. Gude.

FIRE LOSSES SHOW DECLINE.

Underwriters Express Hope Peak of Destruction Passed with 1919.

Hope was expressed at the fifty fourth annual meeting of the National Board of Fire Underwriters in the Hotel Astor yesterday, that the peak of fire loss had been passed and that America had begun to profit by the many safety devices now in use. Fire losses in 1919 approximated $323,000,000 as against $350,000,000 in 1918, according to an estimate made by President F. C. Buswell of the National Board. While this showed improvement, he said, the total was higher than that of any year except 1917 and 1916. The latter was the year of the San Francisco fire.

Notwithstanding the tremendous loss, 1919 was a profitable year for fire insurance companies, largely due to the abnormal increase in values. Mr. Buswell expected 1920 to be equally prosperous.

The Committee on Statistics and Origin of Fires reported the United States had suffered a loss of $4,407,941,689 worth of property by fires in the last twenty years. Of this $2,240,106,070 was destroyed in the last decade. The figures made no allowance for unreported fires or losses on uninsured property.

DOUBTS SHORTAGE OF LABOR

City College Has 150 Farm Hands Who Can't Get Jobs.

City College is taking issue with the farm labor shortage reports. A. L. Rose, Director of its student employment office, said yesterday:

"The talk about the shortage of farm labor and the consequent scarcity of food is being discounted at this college. We have 150 students, eighty of whom are experienced farm hands. They have applied for farm work, but to date we have had not one demand for such labor.

"Rural papers have been reported as calling for labor to help move freight and work at freight transfer points. We have a number of men for that work, and so far we have not been able to place a man.

"We are beginning to believe there is more talk than fact in these stories about the shortage of labor."

'BROADWAY PASSAGE' READY

Pedestrian Connection with Pennsylvania Station Opens Tomorrow.

The "Pennsylvania-Broadway Passage," a pedestrian thoroughfare, 740 feet in length, connecting the Pennsylvania Station with the intersection of Broadway, Sixth Avenue and Thirty-third Street, will be opened tomorrow. It runs beneath the south sidewalk of Thirty-third Street, skirting the downstairs floors of the Hotel Pennsylvania and Gimbel Brothers' store, into both of which several entrances with numerous display windows are provided.

The passageway will provide connections between the Pennsylvania Station and the stations of the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad, the Broadway subway and Sixth Avenue elevated lines, as well as the surface lines on Broadway and Sixth Avenue. These will supplement a connection already in use between the Pennsylvania Station and the Seventh Avenue subway.

"GOOD WOLVES" $20 EACH.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, May 27.—The offering of raw skins at the International Fur Exchange today included gray fox, ringtail cats, civet and wolf. Ringtail declined 30 per cent., other items 20, from the February price. Gray foxes sold up to $5 apiece and "good wolves" up to $30. The total of the day's sales amounted to $350,000.

The skins offered today were what the furriers call "lesser furs," though wolf, skillfully treated and dyed for neck pieces and collars, closely resembles fox. The sale is to close tomorrow afternoon. The offering for the day will be of 19,000 Russian ponies, 400,000 Australian opossum, 150,000 Australian ringtail opossum and 21,000 beaver. The offering of Australian opossum is the last that is expected in this country until next year.

The hearing of Controller Charles L. Craig on a charge of contempt was resumed yesterday before Federal Judge Mayer. After several witnesses had testified that they had never refused information in their possession concerning traction lines in the hands of receivers and some documentary evidence had been received the case was adjourned until June 1.

$5,000,000 OF SHOES TO BE SOLD AT COST

Customer Will Do His Own Fitting at Mammoth Sale at Grand Central Palace.

CONDUCTED BY NEMOURS CO.

A sale of five million dollars' worth of shoes at first cost or less will begin in the Grand Central Palace tomorrow morning and will continue until the entire stock, consisting of nearly a million pairs, is disposed of. The sale is the result of an unfortunate venture by the Nemours Trading Corporation of 151 Fifth Avenue, which contracted to take a year's output of several New England shoe factories and later determined to retire from this branch of its business.

Efforts to dispose of the stock to some of the biggest general dealers in the country disclosed the fact that these concerns cared only for seasonable styles like Oxford ties and the like, and the prospect was that if these were sold it would be difficult to dispose of the heavier grades until later and that these would have to be stored, thus entailing additional ex ends. So it was determined to place all of the shoes on sale at once at cost price to the end that they might be speedily transformed into cash.

No rent is added to the prices charged for the shoes, the Grand Central Palace being the property of the corporation, nor is any addition made for the wages of 250 clerks. Details of the grouping of the shoes, handling the customers, and laying out the 45,000 square feet of floor space has been looked after by C. A. Lockhart, an expert in mill end sales, and Charles W. Mills, manager of the Nemours Corporation. Neither of these gentlemen was interested yesterday in the effect the sale would have on the retail shoe trade in the city.

The floor space of the Grand Central Palace is divided into squares and the shoes are distributed among them according to price and style. At the entrance to each one of the booths will be a table on which will be displayed samples of the shoes to be sold with the price plainly marked on each. The prices will range from $1 a pair for baby shoes to $8, the highest price. A customer wanting to pay not more than $8 will go to the booth holding this grade, examine the styles and then tell the clerk the sort he wants and the size. A box containing the shoes will be handed to him and he will try them on himself. When satisfied he pays the cashier located in the booth. No returns or exchanges will be permitted.

Mr. Mills said that the corporation might lose between $600,000 and $700,000 through the sale.

"We found," he said, "after we had resolved to take the output of the factories that practically all of our men were busy buying shoes and nobody was engaged in selling them. But this could have been remedied if we had not decided to go out of this sort of business. Last month our contract with the factories provided us with $790,000 worth of shoes. The sale will start with $5,000,000 worth of shoes on the floor, and more will be brought in as frequently as necessary. We do not intend to add one cent of profit to the cost, but we do expect to lose from 10 to 25 per cent. on the sale. When you consider that only the biggest jobbers buy as much as $100,000 worth of shoes at a time the immensity of this sale can be realized."

FOOD PRICES CUT SHARPLY.

Seventy Shops on Long Island Begin Reductions Today.

A. W. Riley, in charge of the "Flying Squadron" of the Department of Justice, said yesterday that he was devoting all his efforts to bringing down prices of perishable and other groceries. He has arranged a conference for today with wholesale and retail dealers.

After a talk with Mr. Riley, officials of the Federal Food Stores, operating about seventy shops in Brooklyn and elsewhere on Long Island, announced general reduction of prices, to take effect today. The following new prices were fixed: Fresh eggs, 49 cents a dozen; best coffee, 37 cents a pound; best butter, 59 cents a pound; best loose oatmeal, 5 cents a pound; salmon, 14 cents a can; red, ripe tomatoes, 15 cents a can; best quality California prunes, 15 cents a pound; fancy rice, 15 cents a pound; white granulated sugar, 20 cents a pound.

Mr. Riley said the upholding of the Lever act by the Circuit Court of Appeals was most impressive. He agreed with other Government investigators and lawyers that the opinion generally would be followed by United States District Judges throughout the country. He warned the public to be "on guard" against propaganda, evidence of which is appearing daily, as for example, rumors of the proposed laying off of factory hands in certain industries and an increase of 25 per cent. in prices for next Fall.

"If, as has been repeatedly alleged, underproduction is the cause of the present high prices," said Mr. Riley, "why should not these factories continue to function until production reaches normal, instead of threatening to shut down as soon as the people begin to exercise care in their purchases?

"I believe the public is becoming immune to these threats and will continue to taboo the profiteer. At the same time a few more judiciously placed indictments may not be amiss."

LAWRENCE MILLS CUT TIME.

Special to The New York Times.

LAWRENCE, Mass., May 27. — The mills of this city are gradually starting to curtail production on account of cancellation of orders. Many mills have been running only five days a week for two or three weeks and many are now releasing workers, with the result that there are many unemployed here.

The American Woolen Company's four mills, employing about 26,000, have announced a shutdown until Tuesday. Officials refuse to give a reason for the action. The Kunhardt mills, employing about 2,500, will shut down for a few days.

Merchants' Association Re-elects.

The Merchants' Association yesterday re-elected officers for the coming year as follows: President, William Fellowes Morgan, President of the Brooklyn Bridge Freezing and Cold Storage Company; First Vice President, Lewis E. Pierson, Chairman of the Board, Irving National Bank; Second Vice President, James Gilbert White, President of G. G. White and Company, Inc.; Third Vice President, William Hamilin Childs, President of The Barrett Company; Treasurer, John H. Love; Secretary, E. C. Mead.

Riot Over Sugar at 17½ Cents.

ANDERSON, Ind., May 27.—Several thousand persons impeded traffic for blocks here today in an effort to purchase sugar advertised at 17½ cents a pound by a local merchant. The rush started early in the morning and indications were it would last until all the sugar had been sold. Sugar has been selling here at about 30 cents a pound.

MORE DWELLING BUYERS.

Strong Demand Maintained in Manhattan Private Houses.

Alfred M. Rau purchased the five-story dwelling at 16 West Fifty-fifth Street from Ella de P. Schwartz. He recently bought the adjoining house, 18, which he resold to Isaac Schiff. Mr. Rau also bought from Helen H. Le Fevre 52 West Fifty-sixth Street, a four-story house, 20 by 100.

S. Albert Reed resold the four-story house at 127 East Fifty-fourth Street, which he purchased recently.

Gilbert A. Robbins sold for Henry Grote to Mary Snyder 307 West 136th Street, a three-story dwelling, 17 by 1,000.

Henry Wacker has sold for Aaron Streifer the dwelling, 357 West Forty-sixth Street, to Beth Young, the actress, who will make it her New York residence.

Ernest T. Bower sold for the estate of Richard S. Treacy, to a client for investment, the three-story dwelling, 407 West 102d Street, on a plot 20 by 100, held at $30,000.

Ryan & Co. sold for a client of W. W. Westervelt, attorney, to Ellen Irene Daly, the three-story dwelling, on lot 25 by 100, at 557 West 141st Street. Henry M. Fitch was the associate broker.

O'Reilly & Dahn sold for Luigi Richandi to a client, 448 East Eighty-fourth Street, a three-story dwelling on plot 18.9 by 100.

The Houghton Company and Pease & Elliman sold for Taylor Holmes the three-story and dwelling 251 West Seventieth Street. The buyer will occupy.

Cammann, Voorhees & Floyd sold for Francis Bertram Edgar and others to Philip Levitt the four-story dwelling at 318 West Forty-seventh Street. The buyer, after extensive alterations, will occupy for business.

BUSINESS HOLDINGS SOLD.

Frederick Brown Acquires Two Waverley Place Buildings.

William Lauterbach sold to Frederick Brown, operator, the two six-story business buildings at 14 and 16 Waverley Place, on a plot 35.4 by 82.5, between Greene and Mercer Streets. It carries possession Feb. 1, 1921.

The Charles F. Noyes Company sold to a client of Jacob Bloch for Leonard Weill and I. H. Kempner, 14-16 Vandewater Street, a five-story and basement building covering a plot 52 by 126. The property was valued at $125,000 and was purchased by Mr. Weill at the recent Wright auction sales. Mr. Bloch has sold eight buildings in the same neighborhood during the past few months.

Adolph Lewisohn sold through Joseph P. Day and L. J. Phillips & Co., 125 West Fifty-second tract, between Sixth and Seventh Avenues, a three-story garage on lot 25.6 by 100.5, to a client of Mr. Day's, who has also purchased the lease and will utilize it for his personal use.

The six-story loft building, on plot 75 by 100, at 152 and 154 Wooster Street, near West Houston Street, has been purchased by the Burden Realty Company from Clara Bloomingdale and others as trustees.

IN WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

Suburban Homes Find More Buyers for Occupancy.

Angell & Co. sold a residence on Columbia Terrace, Hartsdale, for Mrs. Vernie D. Russell, to C. Lamps of New York City; the home of Arthur C. Pease, on the Greenville Road, to Mrs. Martha A. Zehder, and bungalow of Louis Renz on Brambach Avenue, Scarsdale, to Wildes Veasie.

Through the same brokers the Edgemont Corporation sold the Colonial house on Lynwood Road to Mrs. Frances Hanford of New York City.

The Scarsdale Estate Corporation sold for Mrs. Albertina Cleary her plot on Walworth Avenue, Scarsdale, to H. Ross Clark.

Prince & Ripley, Inc., sold for Mrs. Annie M. Beall her residence at the corner of Howe Place and Cassilis Avenue, Pronxville, to Doctor M. D. Touart of New York City.

Thomas S. Burke sold for Ina Leland Orvis the property 5 Truman Avenue, Yonkers. The purchasers, Wenzel Kulka and Reginald Cropsey will occupy.

Merlin H. Aylesworth sold 120 Corona Avenue, Pelham Heights, to Joseph Kaempfer, owner of the Hip Top Toy Company of New York City. It consists of a brick Colonial house and attractive grounds. The property was held at $35,000. George Howe negotiated the deal.

The same broker sold for Howard D. Wheeler, with the "Asia Magazine," his property at 51 Pine Brook Drive, Larchmont Park, to C. C. Trump of the Fuller-Lehigh Company. The property consists of a rustic bungalow on a half-acre of ground.

PLAZA HOTEL BUYS.

Finally Secures Dugro Property on Fifty-eighth Street.

The Plaza Operating Company, owner of the Hotel Plaza, has finally completed the site for an eighteen-story addition to the hotel by the purchase of the two four-story dwellings at 15 and 17 West Fifty-eighth Street.

The property was purchased from the trustees of the estate of the late Justice Philip Henry Dugro. The deed carried a consideration of $225,000, the property being conveyed subject to a mortgage of $120,000. Justice Dugro, who died recently, had owned the property for more than fifteen years, and, while the hotel interests made several offers for the land, he would never part with it.

The Plaza owners started assembling parcels along Fifty-eighth Street soon after the hotel was completed some years ago, originally with the intention of preventing the erection of a tall structure alongside. Later it was decided to square out these holdings and they bought everything between 5 and 19 West Fifty-eighth Street, with the exception of the Dugro parcels.

The Plaza Operating Company filed plans several months ago for an eighteen-story addition to cover the site at 5 to 19, which included the Dugro plot. The hotel company now has a frontage of 160 feet for its addition and the entire frontage along Fifty-eighth Street will be increased to 256 feet. Warren & Wetmore prepared the plans.

PARK AVENUE HOUSE BOUGHT BY TENANTS

$1,500,000 Corner at 82d Street Will Be Operated Under New Ownership Plan.

IT HAS 35 APARTMENTS

Purchases of big apartment houses under the new tenant ownership plan were features of a moderately active real estate market yesterday.

The twelve-story building at the northeast corner of Park Avenue and Eighty-second Street, valued at $1,500,000, is being taken over by a syndicate of tenants now in the building from Samuel A. Hersog and Edgar A. Levy.

This property, on a plot 140 by 100, contains thirty-five duplex apartments ranging in size from nine to fourteen rooms, and is one of the largest on the avenue.

John S. Sheppard, lawyer, a tenant, is head of the committee which is buying the property. Others interested include Mennie Ramsey Sheppard, Blanche Ramsey Sheppard, Cornelia Baldwin Hoyt, Florence H. Leeds, Robert C. Hill, Ethel Zabriskie and Andrée de Coppet.

Another Co-operative Project.

On the west side, the six-story elevator apartment house known as the Brayman, at 3 and 5 West Ninety-second Street, on a plot 50 by 100, adjoining the corner of Central Park West, was sold by the French Church du St. Esprit to the Minaret Building Company, representing McMorrow Brothers, who are negotiating for the resale of the property to the tenants under a similar co-operative arrangement.

The Brayman contains eighteen apartments and has been valued at $135,000.

The Deleon Is Sold.

The Deleon, a seven-story elevator apartment house at 46 to 52 West 113th Street, adjoining the southeast corner of Lenox Avenue, has changed ownership, according to report. It is on a plot 75 by 100, west of Public School 170, and is said to have been valued at $200,000. The Newman Holding Company, William E. Ross, President, has held title since 1900.

Tenement House Buyers.

Alfred S. Katzenstein sold for Morris Kohn to Graziano and Mary Tarantino 176 East 108th Street, a five-story flat, 17 by 100.11.

J. Finkelstein & Son sold for Addie S. Haight and Mary C. Scofield the six-story tenement at 170 Madison Street, on a lot 25 by 100, held at $35,000.

Valentine A. Schutzel sold for David Auerbach the six-story tenement at 438 Sixth Street; also sold for Mrs. H. Loh the five-story tenement at 112 East Third Street and the similar property at 50 Avenue A.

Plan Harlem Improvement.

Walter E. Brown sold for Captain F. Ashton de Peyster et al., seven lots on the south side of 131st Street, fronting on the East River. The purchaser will improve with a commercial building and dock facilities. This property has been in the de Peyster family for more than fifty years and was held at $45,000.

Old Church Reported Sold.

The estate of William A. Martin is reported to have sold to the Roman Catholic Church of the Ascension the old edifice at 14 West 108th Street, formerly occupied by the First United Presbyterian Church. It stands on a plot, 75 by 100, adjoining the southeast corner of Manhattan Avenue.

$225,000 Western Union Lease.

The Excelsior Estates Company leased to the Western Union Telegraph Company the entire fourth floor of 139-149 Centre Street, southwest corner of Walker Street, containing 11,000 feet of space, for office purposes, at an aggregate rental of $225,000.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

SUPREME COURT, NEW YORK COUNTY.—COMMONWEALTH TRUST COMPANY OF PITTSBURGH, Plaintiff, against ROSS NAVIGATION CORPORATION, Defendant.

Pursuant to a judgment of foreclosure and sale entered herein February 27, 1920, I, the undersigned, the referee duly appointed for such purpose by the said judgment, will sell at Public Auction to the highest bidder, on Thursday, the 10th day of June, 1920, at two o'clock in the afternoon at the Exchange Sales Rooms, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, the personal property directed by the said judgment to be sold, described as follows:

The schooner or "BEVERLY ROSE," a five-masted wooden schooner of about 3,166 tons deadweight capacity, built at Tacoma, Washington, in 1917, and duly registered at Wilmington, Delaware, with the designation of New York, as the home port of the said schooner, together with all the masts, bowsprits, sails, tackle and furniture, and all other necessaries thereunto pertaining and belonging, including all appurtenances and personal property on board and belonging, entered, held or owned by the present owner of the said schooner.

The approximate aggregate amount (including interest) of the liens to be satisfied by the said sale or to be paid by the purchaser pursuant to the said judgment is $316,000.

The said schooner will be sold subject to existing maritime liens. The known claims alleged to constitute such liens amount approximately to $6,700.

More detailed information as to the said liens and the terms and conditions of sale will be given at the sale or may be obtained by reference to the terms of sale on file in the office of the undersigned, 2 Rector Street, New York.

Dated May 18, 1920.

Where Efficiency Leads Big Business Follows

Over 2100 Sales and Leases closed during past 12 months

EFFICIENCY in business is what makes the difference between profit and loss. Efficiency as practiced by the Pease & Elliman organization is what has made it the largest and most responsible real estate concern in the country—it has brought big business to Pease & Elliman, for big business always follows efficiency.

WITH a staff comprising over one hundred specialists trained in buying, selling, renting and building management, Pease & Elliman is admirably equipped to systematically handle any parcel of real estate, from the small single plot to the largest office building or country estate. Our successful accomplishments in these various fields have done much in retaining so many of our large customers for many years—it is the genuine satisfaction that they have had with us that is constantly bringing many more large customers to us.

IF you own real estate or contemplate owning, it is your first duty to consider Pease & Elliman's record for fair, honest and efficient business methods. They have helped others and can help you.

Counsel for Indicted President of Two American Companies to Ask Adjournment.

William M. Wood, indicted Wednesday with the two American Woolen Companies of which he is President as a profiteer, yesterday made public a signed statement through Ralph Wolf, of Hays, Hershfield and Wolf, of his counsel. The statement ran:

"I do not care to reply at any length to the newspaper statements of Mr. Assistant Attorney General Smyth. I am advised that it might be wanting in proper respect to the court for me to comment upon pending legal proceedings. What I have to say in these respects must, of course, be said in court.

"It may be proper for me, however, to say now that Mr. Smyth's statements, while no doubt he believes them, are founded upon a misapprehension of the facts. What the real facts are will appear in due time.

"I stand absolutely by the statement which Mr. Smyth quotes in his interview: 'There is absolutely no just ground for the suggestion that this company has charged excessive prices for its cloth, or has gained an unreasonable or excessive profit.' (Signed) William M. Wood, President American Woolen Company."

Herbert C. Smyth, Special Assistant United States Attorney General, in charge of the prosecution, smiled when shown the statement and said he never quoted the statement referred to by Mr. Wood. Stenographic notes of his talk to newspaper men contained no such paragraph, no could the newspaper men remember it as a part of the interview.

May Not Surrender Today.

When told of Mr. Smyth's reply, Mr. Wolf telephoned to Boston, where it was presumed Mr. Wood was, after which he said the quotation referred to was printed in two newspapers in Boston. It was left in the statement as representing Mr. Wood's stand.

Mr. Wolf said Mr. Wood probably would not surrender before Judge A. N. Hand in the Federal District Court at 11 A. M. today, as originally agreed upon by him and Mr. Smyth. He said Charles E. Hughes, chief of counsel for the defense, was expected to arrive in New York from Indianapolis last night. Mr. Wolf, it was understood, would ask for an adjournment today to give the defense time for preparation.

It was intimated that when Mr. Wood surrenders Mr. Smyth will ask for heavy bail. It was emphasized that a conviction on all fourteen counts of the indictment would carry with it a possible maximum sentence of 28 years and a fine of $70,000. The maximum sentence under the Lever act for a single offense is two years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine.

Following publication of the indictment of Mr. Wood and his companies, Benjamin Schlesinger, President of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, issued a statement in which he said:

"The disclosures made by Government investigators which brought about the indictment of the American Woolen Company, the largest manufacturer of woolen cloth in the United States, will convince the public of the truth of our contentions that the prevailing high prices of women's garments are wholly due to the profiteering greed and avarice of the cloth manufacturers, jobbers, retailers and other middlemen who stand between the raw materials and the consumer."

Hints of New Demands.

After asserting that silks, wash satin, georgette crepe and cotton goods had advanced in price like woolen goods until women's garments are so high priced that a large portion of the population cannot afford to buy new clothes, "which means less employment for our workers," the statement concluded:

"One thing is certain. The 150,000 organized workers in the ladies' garment industry of the country and the hundreds of thousands that depend on them for their existence, must sustain themselves from their work in the industry, and if working seasons in the industry, short as they are, will become still shorter, we will be compelled, in order to eliminate the ravages of unemployment and starvation, to ask for either shorter working hours or for an increase in wages."

Although it had been known generally that Government accountants were examining the books of the American Woolen Company, the indictment surprised the woolen market. The sentiment there was to "sit tight and see what happens." No radical price cuts were looked for, although the effect upon the market was not discounted.

Comment was divided. One group of experts said there was no justification for the high prices. Another group held that part of the large profits charged might have accrued from conditions beyond the control of officers. Belief was expressed that any reductions that might result from the Government's action would not be felt until the Spring season.

COAL POCKET LEASE STIRS CITY OFFICIALS

The granting of a lease for a coal pocket on the marginal way between West Thirtieth and Thirty-first Streets, caused a discussion at yesterday's meeting of the Sinking Fund Commission between the Mayor, Controller Craig and President La Guardia of the Board of Aldermen. The lease was granted to the Weber-McLaughlin Company, coal dealers, for ten years at $7,100 for the first term with the privilege of a ten-year renewal at a 10 per cent. advance. Controller Craig voted against the lease on the ground that all coal pockets should be placed on the upland and not on the marginal way.

"I vote in favor of this application," said the Mayor, "because I believe in encouraging every independent coal concern in the city. The coal trust now enjoys the greatest privileges because of the action of past administrations. It's about time we granted privileges to some of the little independent coal dealers who have the courage to fight the coal trust."

"What do you mean by the coal trust?" asked the Controller. "Let's have the names. We're all interested."

The Mayor ignored the question and President La Guardia said that as a rule he believed the marginal way should not be obstructed.

"But I believe with the Mayor," he said, "that we should stretch a point in favor of honest competition, especially where the little man is independent. I'll tell you the names of the distributors who have monopoly in this city. I refer to Burns Brothers and Farrell. These men seemed to have friends in the city Government."

"They are not my friends," exclaimed the Controller. "Pin them on yourself."

"Why this solicitude all of a sudden?" asked the Controller. "The board has been voting to create that monopoly for these companies right along."

"Not in my time," declared President La Guardia, and the application was passed.
